BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—Arrivals during the week have been somewhat freer but the market continues firm, the demand having shown a corresponding increase with the receipts and the quality of the arrivals proving above the average. Taking the market as a whole, it looks as if it were getting upon a solid, substantial footing with prospects of the firmness being maintained. The demand is steady but gives no sign of being particularly urgent. It is, however, sufficient to counteract the effect of larger receipts. For the best grades of North Rivers $5 37½ is asked, but on other grades the range continues at $4.75@$5.25. Jersey Hards are quoted at $4.50@$4.75 at the close. Pales in moderate demand at $1.50@$2, the higher price for selections.

LATH.—The market continues to favor holders. Arrivals during the week have been comparatively light and sales are reported of several cargoes to arrive. Prices, however, show no quotable change, remaining at $1.80@$1.85, though $1 90 is quoted in some instances where the inquiry appears to be urgent. At the close the tone was strong.

LIME.—The receipts continue moderate but they do not exceed the capacity of the demand. There are in fact no cargoes lying here unsold. The market continues in good shape on the basis of 80c for common and 90c for finishing. The demand is of a quiet, steady character, indicating that the current purchases are largely to meet actual requirements.

LUMBER.—So far as it goes business is doing quite as well as one week ago, but there is no genuine activity in any description of stock, and most operators are frankly confessing that it is about time to abandon calculations upon the usual fall and early winter flurry. As we have from time to time advised, the hustling Western canvassing agents commencing work early and keeping it up until late summer have placed a large quantity of common lumber, some good and some exceedingly doubtful in quality, and dealers and manufacturers, already discovering that winter consumption is likely to prove disappointing, no longer care about negotiating over large orders. There is some force to the call for fine lumber, the moderate quantity available warning buyers who must have it to hurry a little with their orders, but conditions are hardly such as to give the market further stimulus for the present. Altogether it looks very much as though trade was shaping for car lot deals during balance of the season, aside from such cargoes as may come along coastwise

White Pine shows much the same general features Advices from primal points are mostly framed in firm tone, including talk about advances to be made on lumber, actual advances already established in transportation charges and the annual story of a contemplated light cut of logs during the winter, and there is no doubt those features induce most sellers to assume a comparatively steady attitude. Buyers, however, do not allow themselves to become in any way hurried, and, indeed, it is a comparatively difficult matter to secure bids upon large parcels of stock of any quality, as the majority of dealers, box makers, etc., are getting or expecting goods on contract, and custom likely to want the finer sorts of stock now that holders are all asking an advance for it conclude it will be just as well to order along by car load as wants may happen to arise. In way of export chances of course Cuba cannot be depended upon, but there is believed to be fair promise from other West India custom, as well as South America, and to some extent from Africa and Australia.

Yellow Pine is in no worse form, a rather doubtful compliment probably, but about all the market is fairly entitled to. There are some operators who are getting more business, principally special orders, than a short time ago, and occasionally a better price, but demand still fails to show broad, open character for either timber or flooring that would warrant the risk of bringing forward any important amount of random. And all reports to the contrary notwithstanding, the mill men are still sufficiently anxious for trade to keep up the cutting policy on prices. In way of export orders f. o b. at the South the deal is fair, with some prospect of an increase.

Carolina Pine is meeting with fair call, and some hurry orders are now and then received from custom at interior points where it is thought best to make good use of water transportation and moving the amounts likely to be wanted during the winter. At this and other seaports, however, buyers manifest no special degree of haste about placing their orders, especially as they find offerings ample and generally available at former rates.

Hemlock retains good general support for attractive stock. The State production is unlikely to make good deficiencies caused by the light run of logs this season, and the Pennsylvania mills are turning out too small a proportion of dimensions adapted to this market to fully balance demand. Country trade in car lot orders is a trifle better, but satisfied without any great difficulty.

Spruce appears to be considered all right for balance of season so far as attractive standard cuts are concerned If there are Eastern mill men foolish enough to send along further consignments of the short and narrow stuff, which is never taken here except at a decided bargain on cost, they must expect the usual low figures, but upon thoroughly standard grades the chances are apparently quite promising. It may be fair to state that buyers are not furnishing any unusual custom, indeed hardly up to an average demand, but, nevertheless, there are a great many yards in this city and at points adjoining where one or two cargoes at least, and in some cases more, are wanted to perfect the assortment against ordinary winter contingencies. The call for special bills, too, is very good, and extreme bids do not in all cases insure attention, except where buyers are willing to take their chances with the steam mills, which can saw all winter if needs be. There is custom for the small offering of State spruce as fast as it is made available, and the West Virginia product retains steady and satisfactory attention at full rates.

Hardwoods are getting some demand all the while, but it is scarcely of a nature to create any great amount of enthusiasm. Buyers are taking pretty much the same attitude as shown toward the coarse woods, and refraining from entering upon negotiations for extensive parcels unless unusual influences suggest the handling of some attractive offering of standard stuff. It is the finest assortments, too, that get the most direct attention in the distribution of the small orders given out, indicating, as has previously been surmised, that the missionary work of the summer traveling agent has placed about all the ordinary qualities likely to be wanted, and buyers now desire something to top off assortments In domestic woods quartered oak easily keeps in the lead in matter of popularity, but a spirit of economy is inducing consumers to work in the cheaper woods where they can do so and make them pass. Ash, maple, chestnut, cypress and sycamore are wanted for trim, poplar for all around work and cotton wood for boxing. Walnut for some cabinet and trim work is wanted. Cherry is useful where no expense is to be considered, and as a substitute for it birch gets a chance now and then. Mahogany has ordinary proportionate attention, and is cheap, too.

THE weakness in the New York Stock Market is now almost wholly of the kind that is known as sympathetic, when prices decline for well-known reasons, though working under the surface. Local liquidation was carried out probably a month ago, leaving the conditions sound here apparently; but since that time the New York market has been used as a selling place for securities forced on the market because London and Paris over-speculated in Kaffirs; and because the political relations of the European powers seemed for the moment more than usually disagreeable and foolish; and because Boston tried to carry more copper than its strength warranted; and, finally, because Philadelphia has had an undue appreciation of the value of electric light and power stocks. Whenever these causes failed to operate, for the time being New York started an upward movement in prices, and is still impatient of the low quotations now ruling, for railroad stocks especially, regarding which, as a rule, the current information is good. With the exception of the roads in the Southwest, earnings are increasing. It stands to reason, for instance, that the weakness in the stocks of the Northwestern roads can only be due to forced liquidation at a time when the roads themselves are making such excellent operating showings. It is impossible to say when extraneous influences will be spent, but it is sure that so soon as they are our market will advance, and the meantime is the buyers' opportunity to make judicious purchases.

FOREIGN politics and the movements of prices on the exchanges have taken up so much attention that little room has been found in the dispatches for the doings of trade and commerce. As a matter of fact, we seem everywhere to have reached a reactive period in the improvement that followed the extreme depression of 1893-'4. There is not much recession in the prices of materials and supplies, but wants of consumers seem to be satisfied for the time being. The shake-up in Kaffirs will reach farther than is now seen, because while the insiders have stepped in to prevent a general collapse and smash, they are not likely to try to prevent a further lowering of quotations if it can be gradually made. Panic prices are never the lowest of a declining movement, but the after-fall is more slowly brought about. The weak let go first, then the moderately strong, and finally those who are not as long of patience as they are of money, sell and produce the final liquidation. There is still to be ended another chapter in the perennially troublesome Eastern question, now unusually acute because affecting spots from Turkey in Europe to the easternmost point of Southern Asia. It is no doubt the wish of every man in power to settle these differences peaceably, and that will go a long way toward making such a settlement possible, but while they remain unsettled anxiety as to the outcome will continue, and this anxiety cannot fail to have a deterrent effect on trade and commerce. The hardening of the rates for money which is everywhere apparent would be a good thing if it were not more the result of suspicion of the strength of the speculation in securities which has been going on for some time, than of an increased demand from merchants and manufacturers.

PEOPLE are asking what is the lesson to be learnt from the conflagration of the Manhattan Savings Bank Building? It seems to us that the lesson is this—a fireproof building is a very good thing. In view of the result of Tuesday's disaster this may not seem to be the most obvious conclusion to be drawn, but paradoxical as it may seem this is really the judgment to be arrived at. "Fireproof" in connection with building is not an absolute term. At best it is relative. An indestructible building is a theoretical conception. In practice we ought to speak of "slow burning" buildings instead of "fireproof buildings." There are degrees in the combustibility of so-called fireproof structures, and the Manhattan Savings Bank Building was not constructed in a manner that made its consumption by fire the tardiest possible. It was, indeed, a fireproof building, but it was not, by any means, the most recent of its class, and its architect employed many methods which are not only far below the standard of to-day but which would not be permitted by the existing Building Law. Thus, it happens, that the destruction of the edifice exemplifies what a good thing a really modern fireproof building is, for it may be confidently asserted that no great office building of to-day would be consumed so speedily as the Manhattan Savings Bank Building was. But, though the disaster casts no such lurid reflection upon the highest methods of modern construction as the sensational press endeavors to make out, it certainly does indicate inherent weak spots in even our best fire-proof structures. They contain entirely too much inflammable material. The immense amount of trim used is a danger, so are the wooden floors. Even the window framing is an unnecessary weakness. If we are to have, not slow burning buildings, but the slowest burning buildings, we must construct our floors of concrete or asphalt, and our trim must be replaced by stone, plaster or some similar material. Any timber that unavoidably has to be employed should be fireproofed by any one of the many admirable methods now at the builder's command. Had this course been adopted in the Manhattan Savings Bank Building, its destruction might not have been averted, but it would surely have been saved from severe wreck. A little additional security from the materials used in the construction would have given the fire department an immense assistance.

The Manhattan Savings' Bank Building Fire.

THE damage done to the Manhattan Savings' Bank building on Tuesday last has created a very general discussion on the merits of our fire-proof constructions, most of the discussion being of the sensational and ignorant kind. The facts of the catastrophe briefly are that a fire broke out in an old building used for light manufacturing purposes, and altogether very inflammable, on the southeast corner of Bleecker street and Broadway, was communicated across the narrow width of Bleecker street to the Savings Bank building on the opposite corner, and did a large amount of damage to that building. The susceptibility of this building, which was publicly, though improperly, accepted as a fire-proof building, to injury from fire has created a great outcry and thrown doubts in the untechnical mind on the value of fire-proof construction. We think, however, when all the facts of this fire are brought out and carefully sifted that they will strengthen rather than weaken the theories that underly the new construction.

In this case as in most others on which the public opinion is expressed off-hand, there is a jumping at the meaning of terms. Apparently the prevalent idea is that a building by being constructed in a certain way will be given absolute immunity from fire no matter what quantities of goods are stored in it or what may be their degree of combustibility. No architect or builder has any such conception of the term. Fire-proofing can never do more than give the largest protection in any conceivable circumstances at the time of building; it cannot take into account the circumstances that may occur thereafter, except in the general way suggested by experience. For instance, the architect of the Manhattan Savings Building, Stephen D. Hatch, a man prominent in the profession in his day, could not have imagined what has actually occurred, that his building would be partially destroyed by a fire originating across the street. He no doubt had in mind the danger of fire occurring within the building itself or in one of its adjoining neighbors and took what to him appeared to be the best precautions against it. The Fire Department is, from the nature of its office, the severest critic of construction in this city and its position toward fire-proof construction, that is, building with metal and brick and stone, is not one of antagonism. This position, as obtained from the Chief of the Department by us in personal conversation, is that the Department cannot cope with fires originating in buildings above twelve stories; that the greatest danger to the modern buildings is from the outside rather than the inside. Fires originating in buildings partitioned off by fire-proof material are practically inoffensive except to the apartment in which they occur. Consequently one office building offers no menace to another, but that as soon as any one is altered for mercantile purposes it is a danger to the others. But this only refers to the danger that exists at all times in great cities, where a multiplicity of causes may be at work unseen to produce catastrophes and does not for a moment indicate that the minimum of such danger is not further reduced by the fire-proof construction. There are numerous instances of fires in modern buildings being confined to the apartment of their origination, the recent fire in the World building being one and a fire that took place in the McIntyre Building, northeast corner of Broadway and Eighteenth street, about a year ago, being another. The circumstances of these fires makes it highly probable that had they occurred in buildings of old construction the entire buildings would have been destroyed, whereas the injury done was of quite limited extent, all things considered.

Fire-proofing suffers more than anything from misrepresentation, intentional or otherwise. For intentional misrepresentation we have no excuse to offer; it cannot be too strongly reprobated. Of the unintentional misrepresentation the Manhattan Savings Bank Building appears to be an example. When erected it more than complied with the condition of the law at the time, but it was not fire-proof as the term is accepted by constructors of to-day. Yet so much of it as was composed of fire-proof material stood the test of the fire. The flames entered every story through the windows and destroyed the woodwork and general contents, but the ceilings remained intact except that of the seventh story which was borne down by the weight of the eighth story and the roof in their fall through the warping of a girder. From this it is reasonably certain that had the fire started in the Manhattan Savings Bank building it could have been confined to the floor in which it broke out, and the argument is strengthened that had all the metal been covered by fire-proofing the damage would have been less than it was. The reasonable deduction from all the facts and the lesson impressed by them is that the two materials, metal for strength and fire-proof clay compositions to resist the action of heat combined properly, will give all the protection possible and which can be demanded.

ONE phase of the much discussed question of the liability of employers to compensate for injuries received by servants while in their service has come under review of the Supreme Court at Ithaca, and the decision of the presiding judge, Walter L. Smith, will be received with interest by all employers of labor. The finding of the court in this case is practically that an employer is not liable for damages sustained by a servant due to the negligence of another servant. Hitherto the contrary view has prevailed, on the idea that a master is responsible for every act of his servant while in his employ and no exception has, as far as we can recollect, been made in the case of a servant injured by the error or negligence of another servant. In the case in point action for damages was brought by a workman named Ludlow against the Croton Bridge Company. It was claimed that the foreman of the shop in which Ludlow worked was negligent and as a result caused the plaintiff to suffer a broken leg. Judge Smith granted a motion for a non-suit on the ground that whatever the foreman's liability he could find no liability on the part of the company, the evidence all going to show that they had surrounded their employees with every safeguard. The case is to be carried up to the General Term and may be reversed there, but Judge Smith's reputation is such as to entitle his opinion to the greatest confidence. In looking for possible evidences of weakness in this ruling, the first that suggests itself is that an employer, having once set a work in motion, by turning the entire superintendence over to managers and foremen could thereby evade all responsibility for injury done to his servants, a position that the courts, judging from the disposition they have maintained hitherto on the question of employer's liability, would not allow. The most probable result of Judge Smith's ruling will be that there will be hereafter some lessening of the severe accountability to which employers have been held for all injuries suffered on their works.

NINE-TENTHS at least of the general information which people carry about with them is obtained from print, and of this nine-tenths perhaps as much as nine-tenths is derived from newspapers or some similar form of cheap, diffusive literature. The ordinary individual has no means of verifying what he reads, and no matter how sceptical in the main his attitude may be regarding current news he cannot quite escape the magnifying effect of type, the tendency which the printed letter has to exaggerate. In this way it happens that a great many popular ideas derived from "the press" are entirely too large for the facts. For instance, during the last two or three years people have been reading a great deal about Socialism and Anarchy and other embodiments of social discontent. Day after day appear reports of meetings and addresses on these subjects and there is little wonder that many persons receive an impression from this reiteration that the multitude is deeply interested in new doctrines of a revolutionary cast. We hear it said: "Oh, we are all Socialists to-day," and one might think that only a word was necessary to set in motion great armies of enthusiasts for a schematic regeneration of society. This notion is at least very largely the creation of the "d--d iteration" of print. Certainly the notion needs great qualification, and the following account of how deeply interested Chicago people are in sociological questions supplies a measure of this qualification:

"Prof. E. W. Bemis, late of the University of Chicago, was to have delivered a lecture on the subject of 'Sociology' at the People's Institute last night, but he didn't. The Rev. W. G. Clarke, who looks after both religious and secular matters at the institute, said the reason why only three people besides a reporter for the Chicago Tribune were present last night to hear Prof. Bemis was because the people of the neighborhood were too much upset over the question of the purity of the play, 'Trilby,' to take an interest in anything as deep as the 'Social Body' question.

"There was not much added ammunition for President Harper in the fact of the smallness of the attendance last night, for though there were only four people present the audience was four larger in numbers than gathered to hear Prof. I. W. Howerth, a regularly accredited lecturer of the University of Chicago, on the same general subject at the same place three weeks ago and again two weeks ago. Prof. Howerth did not lecture on either occasion. He would have been under the necessity of straining his voice to reach his only auditor—the ticket taker who sat in the hall."

Rights of Abutting Owner Owning Contiguous Street.

The Common Pleas General Term rendered this week an important decision relating to the rights of owners of realty who also own the bed of the street, in the case of Charles F. Mattlage v. the New York Elevated R.R. Co. and the Manhattan Elevated R.R. Co. The appeal was by the plaintiff from a judgment which denied him injunctive relief, yet awarded him nominal damages and costs. The premises in question were 26.6 feet on Greenwich street, southwest corner of Warren. The original action was to enjoin defendants from maintaining and operating their elevated railway in front of and contiguous to plaintiff's premises, the fee of the street being claimed by him. The decision as summarized by the New York Law Journal is as follows:

"Where, under an exercise of the right of eminent domain, the only property taken consists of easements of light, air and access appurtenant to abutting land, resultant benefits are to be considered in arriving at the extent of the owner's loss; where, however, an interest in real property itself is taken for a public use, the measure of just compensation is its value, without deduction for benefits to the remainder.

"In an action against an elevated railroad company for injunctive relief where it appeared that the plaintiff, who owned land abutting the street upon which the road was built, also was the owner in fee of the bed of the street to the centre thereof, contiguous to and in front of said land, subject only to the easement for street or highway uses in the public, Held, That the rights of plaintiff were prima facie of a substantial character, and that it would be presumed that a wrongful appropriation thereof worked substantial injury; and that, in order to defeat plaintiff's claim to an injunction, it was incumbent upon defendant to show that the land taken was of no, or only of nominal value.

"It cannot avail the wrongdoer for the purposes of immunity that the extent of his wrong is not susceptible of precise measurement in money."

Constructural Activity in 1895.

We have received some figures of new buildings and alterations for 1894 to be used in comparison with others we gave last week in an article under the above title. Unfortunately the data at our service is not sufficient to make the showing complete. Such as it is we give it in the following table and remark:

	1895.	1894.	Increase.
Buildings being erected Oct. 1	1,982	1,158	824
Buildings being altered Oct. 1	611	358	253
Total both	2,593	1,516	1,077

Of the work actually done in the year no comparison can be made owing to the official record of last year being imperfect. From Jan. 1st to Oct. 1st of that year 1,882 new buildings were erected and 1,522 alterations made, making together a total of 3,404 for the nine months. This year up to Oct. 23d there were built or altered 5,254 buildings.

What Property Pays.

Among those who have individual opinions on the causes of the results at the polls in this city is Comptroller Ashbel P. Fitch; of course his opinion is colored by the experiences of his own department. His opinion is that the vote was a protest on the part of small property owners against the increasing expenditure which has been the rule of the past year. To show the significance of these increases directly on property Mr. Fitch compiled the following table giving the actual tax requirements in dollars and cents on a property assessed, for example, at $5,000:

	Tax at 1.79 per ct.	Tax at 1.91 per ct.	Inc. per ct.
Valuation $5,000	$89.50	$95.50	6 7-10
	Tax at 2.10 per ct.	Inc. per ct.	Tax at 2.15 per ct	Inc. per ct.
Valuation $5,000	$105.00	17 3-10	$107.50	20

Interest on Unpaid Taxes and Assessments.

Mr. P. S. Treacy suggested to the Real Estate Exchange the wisdom and propriety of having a bill prepared and introduced in the next Legislature reducing the present rate of interest on unpaid taxes and assessments from 7 to 6 %, the legal rate. The directors of the Exchange have approved the suggestion, and referred the matter to the Legislative Committee, with the request that such a bill be prepared.

The New Park Board.

Currency is given to the report that the new Park Board will consist of Col. S. V. R. Cruger, Samuel McMillan, E. W. Bloomingdale and a Democrat not yet named, and that the chairmanship of the board will go either to Col. Cruger or Mr. McMillan.

Change of Grade Damages in the 23d and 24th Wards.

The Court of Appeals has reversed the decision of the General Term in the case of Rachel Purdy against the city. The plaintiff in this case was awarded damages by the Commissioners appointed under Chapter 537 of the Laws of 1893, and reappointed under an amendatory act, Chapter 567 of the Laws of 1894, to assess damages to abutting property owners by the change of grade in the 23d and 24th Wards. The Comptroller refused to pay the award and the Special Term issued a mandamus ordering him to pay it. On appeal the General Term reversed that order and directed that the motion for the issue of a mandamus be denied, apparently on the ground that there was an irregularity in the appointment of the Commissioners. It was contended that Chapter 537 of the Laws of 1893 contravened article 3, section 16, of the Constitution, then in force, which provided that "no private or local bill, which may [be passed by the Legislature, shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be expressed in the title. The title of the act is "An act providing for ascertaining and paying the amount of damages to lands and buildings suffered by reason of changes of grade of streets or avenues, made pursuant to Chapter 721 of the Laws of 1887, providing for the depression of railroad tracks in the 23d and 24th Wards in the City of New York or otherwise."

It was also contended that the Commissioners had improperly included in their awards items of damages which were unauthorized. A writ of certiorari had been issued to review the proceedings had before the Commissioners, and the order issuing such writ was confirmed by the Court of Appeals. On the question now before the Court it was held that the limitation of the nature of the damages to be awarded and the territory to which the act applied was by a fair interpretation a limitation to one subject. Further, the reappointment of the Commission was unnecessary, the original appointment being valid. For these reasons the order of the General Term was reversed and that of the Special Term awarding a mandamus affirmed with costs, but the issue of the mandamus to be delayed until the final determination of the proceedings under the writ of certiorari.

Mr. Henry F. Cook's New Houses on West 72d Street.

It will surprise many to learn that there is only one plot left open on West 72d street, between Columbus avenue and the Riverside Drive, which is suitable as the site for private dwellings. That is the parcel on the northeast corner of the Drive, opposite the five handsome houses, Nos. 310 to 318, recently finished by Mr. Henry F. Cook. This fact should increase the interest in and demand for these houses. Their intrinsic merit, moreover, is such that they ought to find ready buyers. They represent the latest ideas in architectural design, interior plan, fitting and decoration of an architect who has been very successful and has done a great deal in bringing about the improvement of New York city's domestic architecture, and they may be truly described as the best work of his hands. Each house is laid out on an original plan and each differs from the others in its interior planning and finish, as well as in the arrangement of the facade. The details are not only artistic in every particular, but the whole work is of the choicest materials, put together by the most skillful workmen. The location is not only one of the best on the West Side, but owing to the fact previously mentioned, it can undergo no deterioration. These houses have a beautiful view of the Hudson River, which cannot be obstructed, over the park that opens up the great Riverside Drive. The fronts are all 25 feet wide, with depths of from 60 to 66 feet. Taking all these things into consideration it is hard to imagine where a more desirable residence of the best class could be obtained. In fact, when these houses pass into the hands of investors, as they doubtless soon will, Nos. 310 and 318 having already been sold, the list of the more than usually desirable dwellings will be seriously curtailed.

Of Interest to Taxpayers.

The Receiver of Taxes notifies all persons whose taxes remain unpaid "that unless the same shall be paid to him at his office on or before the first day of December next he will charge, receive and collect upon such taxes so remaining unpaid on that day, in addition to the amount of such taxes, one per centum on the amount thereof, and charge, receive and collect upon such taxes so remaining unpaid on the first day of January thereafter interest upon the amount thereof at the rate of seven per centum per annum, to be calculated from October 1, 1895."

Proposed Gratuity Fund for Builders.

Mr. W. E. Elderd, the well-known builder and contractor, in the course of a recent conversation on the advantage of bringing the members of the various trades that enter into building operations into closer affinity, made the practical suggestion—which may be recommended to the attention of the gentlemen who are organizing the new Building Trades' Exchange—that a gratuity fund should be established for the benefit of survivors of deceased members of these trades. Mr. Elderd's idea is that with some modification a gratuity fund should be established like that which has existed for a good many years in the Produce Exchange. The basis of this fund is a contribution of a certain fixed sum of money by each member to be bestowed as the gift of the Exchange on the widow and children of any fellow-member dying. When the fund was first organized this gift was limited to $3,000 for the first year, and rose by $1,000 each year thereafter until it reached $10,000, at which it remains. Its bestowal is regulated by the desire to bestow benefit on the nearest relative of the deceased member; first on the widow, where there are no children, and where there are, on the widow and the children, and where no widow on the children. Failing those the money is paid to the next of kin within the limit of representation prescribed by the law of this State. In the cases of persons over 50 years of age or of bad health becoming members of the Exchange the death benefit is limited to such amount as he shall have paid into the fund during his lifetime. Provision is made for limiting the payments for any one year and for reducing assessments when the money in the fund amounts to $500 per member. It is also specially provided that the benefits of the fund cannot constitute an estate in esse, which can be mortgaged or pledged for any debts. There are other details relating to managements, etc., which can be profitably considered by trade associations.

The New Apartment House on Riverside Drive.

In an interview with Mr. Frank R. Houghton yesterday that gentleman gave one of our representatives an interesting explanation of his sale of a corner lot on Riverside Drive and 86th street to Messrs. Farley, who bought the lot as a site for an apartment house. We regret that the press of matter coming on us on the day prior to publication prevents us publishing his statement in extenso. Mr. Houghton's policy toward West Side property is too well known for any one to believe he would have made this sale except under compulsion of the intentions of adjacent property owners to secure to themselves the pecuniary advantages of selling for apartment houses over selling for residences. Mr. Houghton has been a conspicuous worker, in fact the leader in the movement, to restrict this district to private residences, and was willing to make some financial sacrifice to attain that object, but the circumstances were in this case too much for him. It was only on this fact being impressed on him beyond the shadow of a doubt that he sold as he did.

We have received from Mr. John Vinton Dahlgren, LL. M., Assistant Attorney of the Department of Buildings, a very handy volume giving the laws relating to his department. The work is by far the best compilation that has come into our hands. It is carefully done, nicely printed and well indexed. We cheerfully recommend the book to the attention of our readers.

Correspondence.

SIDEWALK PROTECTIONS IN BUILDING OPERATIONS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I notice in your issue of November 2d, a correspondence in relation to "Sidewalk Protections in Building Operations" from Mr. Stevenson Constable, Superintendent of Buildings.

As I am (through being chairman of a committee from the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange) largely responsible for the ordinance in question, I think it but right to say a few words in relation to this matter.

For years the builders of the city of New York have been between the horns of two dilemmas on this shed question. As you will recollect, it was shown by the Lexow investigation that the lack of an ordinance on this subject was largely responsible for the blackmailing of different builders.

Until this last summer there has never been an ordinance relating to these roof bridges, and builders all over the city, when they found it necessary, or when they were compelled under their contracts to put up a roof over the sidewalk to protect pedestrians, have found that the Department of Public Works could not give them a permit, as it had no authority to do so. And in order to erect a roof structure when the police interfered, as they frequently did, the builders had to get over the dilemma as best they could.

You will see that this is wrong, that instead of the law making it permissible to do this, for the protection of the public, the law should be mandatory, compelling owners, or the principal contractor to erect structures over the sidewalk, so as to protect the public.

It was with this end in view that a committee was appointed by the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange, and requested the Board of Aldermen (through Alderman Olcott), to have such an ordinance passed.

I think that the Superintendent of Buildings is a little in error as to the hardship it would entail on builders to put up such a structure; as, for light buildings or private houses, especially where they set back from the street, it need be but a temporary shed put up with poles, and for every twenty-five feet it need not cost more than ten dollars. Such as this I have frequently put up and it has very seldom cost me that much. For tall and costly buildings, of course, a heavy structure would be required, and it should be built under the direction of the Department of Buildings, which should have some supervisory power in the matter.

The responsible builders of the city of New York want such an ordinance, not only to protect themselves from damages, but to avoid injuring anybody; and as to the irresponsible builders the public should certainly be protected against them, as there would be no likelihood of collecting damages for injuries.

NEW YORK, November 7, 1895. RICHARD DEEVES.

CAN BUILDINGS BE MADE FIRE-PROOF?

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The recent fire which occurred in Broadway and Bleecker street, this city, calls for a prompt and decisive answer to the above question, which now agitates the public at large and the owners of so-called fire-proof structures.

To the average man, a large, high and imposing building may appear fire-proof, and so impress him that he readily imagines this to be the case, for the reason that it strikes him from the outward appearance to be so. Much to his surprise, perhaps, but a few days later he reads in the newspapers: "Another fire-proof building burned down." He probably takes the time to visit the scene of the fire to see what a few days ago had been a fine structure badly damaged by fire, and finally makes up his mind that it was fire-proof in name only, and loses faith in that which had been called "a thoroughly fire-proof building."

The particular fire mentioned above was in a building on the southeast corner of Broadway and Bleecker street occupied by the Empire Bank. This building, erected many years ago, was never supposed to have been even called or looked upon as a fire-proof structure: the inside construction being entirely composed of wooden beams with lath and plaster partitions. The fire, which started in the basement or cellar, soon gained rapid headway, and finally destroyed the entire building as well as others south of it, built on a similar plan. Before many minutes the fierce flames leaped across the narrow street (Bleecker street), and began to lick the sashes of what is known as the Manhattan Savings Bank Building, situated on the northeast corner of Broadway and Bleecker street. Not taking long to enter by this means it attacked the wooden floors of said building, causing a very fierce fire.

The so-called fire-proof construction was erected some six years ago, although at that time newer and better construction was known and used. A method was carried out by the architect of this building which was, and is, greatly criticised to-day, as being far from what may be called safe and reliable. Iron beams and girders were spanned about 5 feet or more from centres; resting upon these beams were T irons, 30 inches apart; between the T irons were laid hollow terra cotta tiles, 4 or 5 inches in thickness, made in one length (30 inches), the girder beams being about 10 inches in depth, thereby creating a hollow space between the tile and the top of beam of about 6 inches in height—affording an excellent flue for a fire. Upon the top of said girders or beams were laid wooden sleepers, and on them a wooden flooring. There was no protection of any kind on the underside of the T irons but plaster, which withstood the fierce heat a short time only, the consequence being that the intense heat on this unprotected iron caused it to warp and twist, thereby letting the floors down. Besides, the falling of the walls of the opposite building upon such light construction as described, caused the result which appears to-day.

One of the strongest and best fire-proofing methods known, and very largely used at present, is an arch, varying from 8 to 12 inches in thickness, composed of a number of sections thoroughly keyed and placed in position between iron beams by the use of mortar, the material being fire-clay, dense or porous terra cotta, having been tested and tried repeatedly as to its strength and fire-proof resisting qualities, and in the manufacture and burning of which it receives from 2,500 to 3,000 degrees of heat for days before it is ready to be used for the construction intended. This form is used for constructing various kinds of arches for floors and ceilings, either flat or segmental. The iron beams receiving the arch are wholly protected from the heat which they may receive in a conflagration being completely encased with the same kind of material.

This particular construction used for some years past has not been found wanting in any respect and I still have to learn of a fire ever having done any serious damage to a building where this method was used, further than burning the woodwork and whatever inflammable material happened to have been in the room or place where the fire started. The partitions and furring made of a like material confining the fire to the vicinity where it first began.

In my experience of a number of years I find that if the arches between floors are not filled to the top of beams, a light concrete mixture should be used, not only to fill up to the top of said beams, but also to put said concrete between the wooden sleepers, thus giving a perfectly solid flooring; allowing no air space whatever wherein the fire can make any progress. The best finished floor, however, would be one made of granolithic or similar material, thus avoiding all wood either in sleepers or flooring.

I contend that a building can be made absolutely fire-proof in this manner, providing, however, that the main or supporting iron construction is thoroughly and carefully protected in each and every particular with fire-proof material as described. This necessarily includes all beams, girders, columns and the under-side of stairs. Without this protection I claim that no building is strictly fire-proof.

A great mistake is often made even in some of our present large buildings, and that is, to leave these members wholly unprotected, very often done for the sake of decoration, particularly the columns. This is radically wrong, as no iron or steel will withstand for any length of time the fierce heat without twisting, bending or cracking, thus allowing the structure which it supports to fall, and give the fire an opportunity to go from floor to floor on this account.

It stands to reason that where naked iron is left to the heat and flames, by forcing water against said exposed iron it will surely end disastrously to the entire construction, and I again repeat, ironwork of any description, unprotected by fire-proof material, is not fire-proof in any sense of the word. Protect this iron or steel and you will surely have as near an absolute fire-proof building as experience and material now manufactured can make it.

Much more could be said on this subject with relation to the kind of materials used for the outside, or walls of buildings, as well as certain methods to be employed as to the nature of material for window sashes, in place of combustible construction now largely used.

Proposed Amendment of the Building Law.

A committee of five, of which Mr. Judson Lawson is the chairman, has been appointed by the Employers' and Builders' League to meet committees invited from the American Institute of Architects, the Architectural League, the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange, the Real Estate Exchange and the West Side Property-owners' Protective Association, on Thursday evening next, November 14th, at the club-house, No. 24 East 125th street, to confer on required changes in the building law. Mr. John P. Leo, president of the Employers' and Builders' League, states that suggestions from architects and builders outside the League will be cordially received.

Trade Notes.

A LESSON FROM THE MANHATTAN SAVINGS BANK BUILDING FIRE.

If the many window casings of the Manhattan Savings Bank Building, corner of Broadway and Bleecker street, which was destroyed by fire on Tuesday night, it is claimed by the West Side Architectural Iron Works, of No. 550 to 560 West 33d street, Mr. F. A. Howell, manager, had been made of Kalameined Sheet Iron-Clad Woodwork it is reasonable to presume that the building would have resisted the flames. Mr. L. W. Armstrong, the builder of the savings bank building, says: "The damage was done from the fire being carried in through its many windows on every story." The use of Kalameined Sheet Iron-Clad Woodwork in the window frames of such structures as the Potter Building, on Park row and Nassau street; the new Criminal Court Building, on Centre street, and the Fire Department Headquarters, on East 67th street, speak volumes in its praise as a protection from all the elements, especially fire, as do also such testimonials as that from Messrs. Cady, Berg & See, the well-known architects, which is printed on page ii of this issue. Some of the advantages of Kalamein Iron-Clad are: (1) It is not expensive, adding but a trifle to the cost of the building. (2) It is a perfect protection against fire. (3) It does not scale or crack in bending. (4) It resists acids and the atmospheric exposure and flames. (5) It is so smooth and perfect that it has the appearance of wood work when finished and painted. (6) It is as indestructible as any material used in building. Architects and builders would do well to investigate the merits of this protective. Campbell's process, for which every facility will be given them upon application to Mr. Howell at the address above given. Telephone call, 352 38th street.

They are also the buyers of No. 534, adjoining, and an L on Spring street, the sale of which was recently reported. The entire plot will be improved in the spring by the erection of a modern building.

P. and Caroline Phelps Stokes have sold to the Woodbridge Company the old brick buildings, with plot 121.7x98.2 and 72.6, comprising the easterly block front on William street, between Platt and John streets. The company, which is capitalized at $1,000,000, filed articles of incorporation a day or two ago and will erect in the spring a twelve-story office building on the site.

The price mentioned is $202,000. When called upon for a confirmation of the story Mr. Levy stated that the report was premature, no contract having yet been signed.

M. E. Hewitt & Co. have sold for Richard Lathers the two three-story brick dwellings, lots 17.1x100.5 each, Nos. 155 and 157 West 45th street.

Hoffman Bros. and J. N. Kalley & Son have sold for Mrs. Judson, wife of Builder Edward Judson, the new seven-story business structure, 25x89x95, No. 69 West Houston street, to Warren E. Dennis.

Brooke & Georger have sold for Archibald D. Russell the four-story stone front dwelling, with lot 25x98.9, No. 34 West 32d street, to William C. Muschenheim for $74,500. The seller purchased the house in August for $62,500. Mr. Muschenheim took title on Thursday to No. 38 West 32d street, 20.8x98.9, for a consideration of $66,000, and has leased through Brooke & Georger, for 21 years with renewal privileges, No. 36 West 32d street, on the basis, it is said, of 5% on a valuation of $55,000. The three houses are situated in the rear of his hotel, the "Arena," on West 31st street, and the lots will probably be ultimately utilized for an addition to that building.

Potter & Noel have sold for Joseph Slevin and Mrs. Janet P. Olcott the plot about 51x91, with old buildings, Nos. 8 to 12 Jay street, southwest corner of Staple street, to Builder Alexander Brown, Jr., and Denison P. Chesebro. A seven-story store and loft building to be erected on the site has been leased for a term of years to the E. L. Goodsell Company, which will sub-let part to the Fruit Exchange and other kindred associations.

The Horgan & Slattery Company has bought of the Sixth Avenue Railroad Company, for improvement, the plot, 100x100.5, on the south side of 58th street, 95 feet east of 6th avenue. The transaction will complete the sale by the railroad company of its holdings on 6th avenue, 58th and 59th streets, originally secured many years ago at a low figure and disposed of within a short period at a large profit.

The description last week of the dwelling, No. 7 East 61st street, referred to as sold to A. E. Davis, should have read No. 7 East 41st street, a four-story stone front house, 22x60x98.9; price $51,250.

Mayer Kahn's purchase of the northeast corner of Broadway and 10th street, mentioned last week, only included, it seems, the fee of a plot, 50x84, running back from the line of the present building and the practically useless vacant space in front of it. The former extends from a point in 10th street, 37.8 east of Broadway, and beyond a few inches has no frontage on it, the remainder of the property, including the part fronting on 10th street, being a Sag Harbor leasehold. The property has probably not been sold by Mr. Kahn as it is being offered around town at an advance on $235,000, the price reported.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

Henry F. Cook has sold the American basement dwelling, No. 318 West 72d street, at the beginning of Riverside Drive, size 25x60x102.2, to John F. Baudouine. This is the second house sold of a row of five recently completed by Mr. Cook and illustrated in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of October 5th.

The McGay estate has sold to a builder for improvement the plot, 100.11x125, on the southwest corner of Amsterdam avenue and 106th street.

Slawson & Hobbs have sold for Frank L. Smith, as representative of Francis M. Jencks, a plot, 175x100.8, on the north side of 91st street, 100 feet west of West End avenue to Builder H. Ives Smith. A row of seven high-class dwellings will be erected on the plot.

Hall J. How & Co. have made the following sales: For the estate of Mary C. King, the plot, 100.8x200, on the southeast corner of 2d avenue and 91st street, to Builder August Jacob for immediate improvement; for the Coleman estate, the westerly block front on Lexington avenue, between 97th and 98th streets, 199.10x100, to William Hall's Sons for $90,000; two lots on the north side of 104th street, 70 feet east of Madison avenue, for about $16,000 to the same purchasers, who have resold them to a builder for improvement; for John Ruddell to Quackenbush Bros. for improvement, a lot on the south side of 98th street, 225 feet east of Park avenue, and for J. Allen Townsend, at about $28,000, four lots on the north side of 142d street, 100 feet east of 8th avenue, to Mrs. Marion E Moore also for improvement.

Mallette & Collyer has sold for Gustavus L. Lawrence the plot 100x100.11 on the north side of 106th street, 200 feet west of Amsterdam avenue, to Gallo Bros. for immediate improvement. The price reported, $52,000, is doubtless inclusive of an extra consideration for a building loan.

Adolph Balschun have sold to Louisa Armand the five-story flat and store, with full lot No. 1331 5th avenue, between 111th and 112th streets, for $28,500, and the similar adjoining flat, No. 1329, to Louis Waechter for $28,700.

Max Simon has sold from the plans for Builder Philip Braender the two five-story flats with stores, Nos. 2102 and 2104 8th avenue, between 113th and 114th streets, upon which work was begun a short time ago, and resold to H. Unger the flat No. 139 West 100th street, recently reported sold by the same broker for Mr. Braender to a speculator.

J. Romaine Brown & Co. (Columbus avenue office) have sold for William Bradley the three-story stone front dwelling, lot 16.8x100.5, No. 322 West 71st street, to a Mrs. McKeon for about $24,000.

Joseph Bierhoff has sold for S. Henry the four-story flat, No. 1743 Park avenue, lot 20x75, between 121st and 122d streets, to K. Guiren for about $16,500.

Ribeth & Trattner have negotiated a trade between Gustav Lange and A. Mulhausen, by the terms of which the former will exchange the two five-story flats, on plot 50x102.2, Nos. 220 and 222 East 85th street, at $65,750, for the three-story and basement stone front house, 20x100, No 140 East 56th street, accepted at $17,000.

T. Farley's Sons have purchased from Frank R. Houghton for about $35,000 the lot 27 x about 94 on the southeast corner of Riverside Drive and 85th street, and will erect thereon the apartment house described last week in our Building News reports.

Builder C. W. Luyster has sold the new four-story dwelling, 25x62x102.2, No. 21 West 76th street, to Robert F. Tysen for $62,500.

Builder Richard Deeves has sold the four-story stone front dwelling, 25x95x102.2, No. 9 West 81st street (Manhattan Square, north).

Isaac M. Metzger has bought of Michael Hyman his three-story stone front residence, lot 20x100.5, No. 34 East 67th street. The seller purchased the house in March, 1888, for $31,500.

Chas. Griffith Moses has sold for Zimri West to Thomas H. Whitney a plot of about five lots on the Boulevard Lafayette, north of 158th street.

Gustavus L. Lawrence has purchased from the Sayles estate the plot 100.11x100, on the northwest corner of Amsterdam avenue and 106th street.

Builders Cumming & Ferguson have bought for improvement a plot about 50x96.11x52x80 on the east side of Amsterdam avenue, about 25 feet south of 108th street. The lots adjoin on the south a five-story flat that the same builders have under way and which was recently sold from the plans.

Max Marx has sold the three-story dwelling with lot, 16.8x100.11, No. 225 West 113th street, to Mrs. Rose Jennewein, for $17,500, a consideration partly represented by the two-story house, on lot 21.6 x100.11, No. 328 East 120th street, to be taken in trade at a valuation of $8,000.

Francis M. Jencks is the buyer of the plot, 102.2x100, on the southeast corner of West End avenue and 83d street, reported sold last week by Christian Kruse.

In our report of last week of a purchase by Builder Charles Kervan of the block front on 153d street, extending from St. Nicholas avenue to St. Nicholas place, the price quoted should have been $35,000, not $40,000.

NORTH SIDE.

J. Clarence Davies has sold for Anna E. Van Ecek, 25x60 on the north side of Boston avenue, 50 feet south of 170th street, to George A. Macdonald for $2,250; for Franklin A. Wilcox, 37.6x135 on 170th street, 50 feet south of Bristow street, to Henry Sproessig, for $3,000; for same owner, two lots on the south side of 170th street, 125 feet south of Bristow street, to Herman Wauer, for $3,500, and for John B. Callard, one lot, 25x100, on the east side of Intervale avenue, 125 feet north of Westchester avenue, to J. H. Whitby, for $1,250.

Joseph Bierhoff has sold for B. McGuire, the northeast corner of 182d street and Fleetwood avenue, to H. Samuels, for about $4,000.

Out of Town

Newark, N. J.—Brown & Schlesinger have sold for the estate of Ferdinand Keer, No. 431 Broad street, to Henry M. Doremus; No. 170 Lafayette street, northeast corner of Jackson street, for F. L. Wolf to Andrew H. Burkhardt, and resold the vacant plot on the southeast corner of 13th street and Morris avenue, owned by M. S. Mook & Co., of New York, to Adolph Rosenwasser.

Real Estate Notes.

The sales reported last week of vacant lots on Morningside avenue have caused a number of inquiries to be made regarding investments thereabouts. The east side of the avenue is, of course, alone available, but that it has not been overlooked by builders is evidenced by the rows of flats completed or unfinished existing north of 116th street, at which point the avenue describes a curve to the east and south. It is said, however, that the pioneer builders between 116th and 122d streets—the avenue does not extend north of the latter—have not been uniformly successful in their speculations. Morningside Park is unique among New York's garden spots for the reason that it slopes sharply or gradually, as it happens, from the high ground that marks its western boundary down to the avenue level, and its accessibility—formerly very inconvenient—has been greatly added to by the running of the Columbus avenue branch of the Broadway cable road. There is still room for improvement, however, in that respect. Lest anybody should imagine that the absence of perfect transit facilities is Morningside avenue's only drawback, it is perhaps well to state that, despite its being shielded by a fortress-like wall surmounting the park from the Hudson River's cold blasts, there is a north wind that has such unusually free play during the winter along its broad expanse of asphalt and the low grounds of the park that the residents are greatly averse to accepting as reliable the record published daily of the city's thermometric changes.

After a lapse of several years following the purchase of the property, there are now indications in the shape of a large supply of brick on the ground that is growing larger daily that W. W. Astor will improve the vacant northeast corner of 5th avenue and 56th street. The sunken lots have been an eyesore on the thoroughfare for a long period. Mr. Astor bought the plot 50.5x150x100.5x irregular during the summer of 1889 for $325,000, and "For sale" signs on a disreputable looking fence had up to about two months ago contributed to its unattractive appearance. Last August plans were filed for four five-story dwellings of irregular size, which, with the possible exception of the corner house, will face on 56th street. Their cost was estimated by the architects at $25,000 each, a figure that will likely be much less than the ultimate outlay. When the improvement shall have been completed, there will still exist an unsightly vacancy between the new houses and Mr. Huntington's recently finished but as yet unoccupied mansion on the 57th street corner.

The Corporation Counsel by moving for the appointment of Commissioners of Appraisal on Thursday next will take the first step necessary in the acquisition by the city of the property on the northeast corner of Madison avenue and 25th street for the use of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. The parcels to be acquired comprise the four-story dwelling on the corner with lot 30x100, the avenue house adjoining with lot 19.4x100 and the stable and plot 50x98.9 in the rear on 25th street. The dimensions of the property are 49.4x150x98.9 x irregular. It was selected for the purpose mentioned by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund a few weeks ago pursuant to an act of the last Legislature. The phraseology of the published notice indicates that an entirely new building is to be erected on the site.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange, on Wednesday, Thomas F. Murtha, Richard Deeves and Samuel McMillan were appointed a committee to confer with representatives of the Employers' and Builders' League at a meeting to be held on Thursday next, to discuss changes thought to be necessary in the present Building Law.

William H. Peckham, of the Frank L. Fisher Co. has been elected an annual member of the Real Estate Exchange.

The Nominating Committee recently appointed by the Directors of the Real Estate Exchange decided yesterday on the ticket to be voted at the coming annual meeting of the stockholders. The members Clermont L. Clarkson, Andrew J. Robinson and Charles F. Hoffman, Jr., will first consult with the proposed new directors and gain the consent of each before making public the names. It is understood that the intention is to inject new blood into the Board by presenting three or four new candidates.

Concerning Real Estate Agents and Brokers.

The firm of Gonon & Behrmann, recently formed, with centrally located offices at No. 145 Broadway, will transact a general real estate business; buying, selling, exchanging and appraising property, negotiating mortgage loans, renting and collecting, and managing estates. Both partners are experienced, reliable and careful workers, and there should be no doubt of their success. Mr. Paul F. Gonon was with the late Homer Morgan for eighteen years, was six years manager for Arthur Mason Jones, and later was for six years senior member of the former firm of Gonon & Macdonald, No. 62 West 33d street. Mr. John H. Behrmann was for ten years with the old firm of John F. Attridge, and lately was with S. V. R. Cruger & Co.

The disastrous fire in the Manhattan Savings Bank Building, No. 644 Broadway, corner of Bleecker street, destroyed the offices of Brokers Messrs. M. & L. Hess, who transact a very large business in the mercantile district. Luckily all their books and papers were saved, although damaged by water, and the firm is temporarily located, ready for business, at No. 643 Broadway, opposite their ruined offices.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, NOVEMBER 9, 1895.

Brooklyn Notes.

GROWTH OF BUILDING OPERATIONS.

The table given below contains the number of applications made to Commissioner Bush's department for permits for each month of this year up to October. The increases in the last month of the number of permits applied for as well as of the amount of prospective work they represent is a most satisfactory feature of these returns. The increase in estimated cost for the ten months over the same length of time in 1894 is also a matter for cheerfulness. On the whole the Brooklyn trade has no reason to complain of the progress of business during the current year:

Months.	Brick.	Frame.	Alterations.	Total estimated cost.
January	95	107	93	969,150
February	28	89	70	716,710

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—Arrivals have again been free, and while there have been no reductions in prices the market has a somewhat easier look. The quality continues good, however. Demand is fair, but is not sufficient to prevent an accumulation of supplies. For the best grades of North Rivers $5.37½ is still asked, but $4.62½@5.25 is the range on other qualities. Pales are dull and weak at $1.50 @2.00, the higher price being for selections.

GLASS.—Manufacturers have advanced prices to discount 75 and 2½ per cent. for lots of 2,000 boxes or over, and discount 75 per cent. for less quantity, in car-load lots, with usual freight allowance. Lots of less than a car load are discount 70 and 10 per cent. f. o. b. factory.

LATH.—The market continues in good general form, the demand being well up to the supply and prices steady though unchanged, from $1.80@1.85, with $1.90 quoted in some exceptional instances.

LIME.—Prices show no change. Arrivals have increased somewhat during the week, but the demand has been sufficient to prevent any decided accumulation, and the market closes steady on the basis of 80c. for common and 90c. for finishing.

LUMBER.—There is no distinctly new feature in the general movement or in the attitude of buyers or sellers. It is strictly exceptional that ample supply and satisfactory assortment cannot be readily obtained promptly or upon short notice. In fact, the only suggestion of anything bordering upon small supply is in the instance of fine lumber for special work. Prospects are not much in contrast with what they were a week ago, since orders as well as offerings are extremely conservative.

White Pine has been in only fair demand, and the most stimulating of the tips sent from the primal points fail to arouse livelier buying interest in this quarter. Home trade buyers take only what they deem necessary to keep a comfortable working stock intact. The export buying is tame also, but decided improvement is expected by some shippers in the near future.

Yellow Pine prices are as unsteady as they have been at any time within the past week, and sharp buyers occasionally get lines of stock at prices indicating a cut from po ular quotations. There is, however, no positive change in quotations. At the South a fair amount of business is doing for export account.

Carolina pine is selling fairly, but the quantity involved is not more than of fair average for the season. The only showing of spirit is in movement to the interior and that is by no means brisk.

Hemlock is steady at the former line of prices. There is little change in the character of business or in the demand, but enough of each exists to keep the market in quite good form.

GOLD exports are not the best argument to bull stocks on, it must be admitted, but it must also be admitted that the market has withstood the influence of the shipping of a very considerable amount for one week very well. It may weaken under a continued drain of gold to the other side, it usually does under such circumstances. There are evidences, too, of a falling off in manufacturing demand for iron and steel and a shrinking in the volume of orders in other lines. Advices from the West show that farmers are receiving very low prices for their produce. Potatoes are a drug in the market, as are also oats almost, and the rates offered for hogs will not encourage their raising. But there is no uncheerfulness on the part of business men and the public. They know that trade will pick up again and that the Administration stands pledged to protect the gold reserve, so that there is no danger of seeing a recurrence of the conditions that prevailed last February. Besides, the liquidation of September and October makes any big break in prices more than ever improbable. For the first time in a long while the coming meeting of Congress is not dreaded. There is somehow abroad an impression that Congress will do something to improve the condition of the currency and a certainty that it will not do anything to injure it. Most legislative bodies have an ear that is open to clamor from the ignorant multitude and an ear that is open to the advice of experience, but which is unfortunately closed most of the time. It is now hoped—there is nothing so daring as hope—that Congress is ready to open its better ear, in which case no end of good could result to our financial position. If Congress will only show that it is open to reason on this question and will provide even temporary remedies for what is worst in the treasury position and in the currency, our friends across the sea will again come into the United States as investors. They may very well do so, because recent events have shown that they could not have a better place to realize in when they want to.

LORD SALISBURY'S speech, which has already had so remarkable an effect on the minds of men throughout not only Europe but the world, is much more important than has yet been supposed, if one particular part may be taken as founded upon the actual facts of the situation as they are likely to be known to a man in his position. We refer to that part which intimated that the powers have become alive to the necessity of settling their differences by other means than a resort to arms, and contemplate a reduction of the standing fighting forces. A state of things which would even lessen the danger of armed conflict in a considerable degree would make a great change in commercial conditions, which would in the first instance not be without its disadvantages, though these could be very well borne in order to secure the more general good that would eventually arise from the assurance of peace based upon more stable conditions than have ever existed before. While we hear a great deal about the immense standing armies drawing so many hundred of thousands, or so many millions of men from peaceful pursuits, nothing is said of the work of maintaining and providing the sustenance and arming of those armies, which is of itself a great industrial undertaking having many branches, and of which the profit as well as the burden falls upon the civilian. A general disarming, whenever it be seriously taken in hand, create temporary confusion in trade, not only because it will make a great deal of manufacturing unnecessary, but because the forces dispensed with will have to find their places among the workers, which they can only do by entering into competition with them. This is an evil of the great armies themselves, rather than of their curtailment, because the policy of adding to the fighting forces of a nation is one that must inevitably become intolerable and force this condition of affairs. Of course, the soldiers of to-day who may become civilians hereafter will still have to eat and drink, wear clothes and have a place to sleep in, but these proper requirements of their persons will have to be provided in different ways than they are now, and that will mean a disturbance of existing conditions of production and labor. The change, however, is a long way ahead, and it will come very gradually when it does come, but just as surely as it comes into proximity will manufacturers, and laboring men especially, dread the inevitable upheaval that will take place in their several spheres.

THERE is a saying that no man who needs a statue deserves to have one. Similarly with a third term of the Presidency: to strive for it actively is to evince a certain personal unfitness sufficient to justify all that has ever been said in favor of that part of our unwritten constitution which declares against a third term. It is difficult to credit the newspaper chatter that President Cleveland seeks re-election, and should he really have any ambition in that direction it is impossible to believe that his party, or even a considerable portion of his party, will support him in his purpose. Political expediency, that dominating consideration in party action, is dead against any repetition of the attempt that Grant's friends made in 1876. Indeed, the talk we hear to-day upon the subject more probably arises from the mere possibilities of the present situation than from anything actually on the cards. Newspapers must have something to talk about, and the third-term tradition is not an opportunity for "copy" that presents itself every day. Once on the back of the theme, it is easy to see how "journalism" will ride it, and it is doubtful whether the most outspoken disclaimer from Mr. Cleveland will spare us for some time to come from an effusion of ink as to lust of power, the danger that threatens our liberties, and the intentions of the fathers of the country. As to the latter, we may be sure that the clear historical fact will be overlooked that the framers of the Constitution after much deliberation and many recorded changes of mind finally pronounced in favor of unlimited eligibility to office. Their conclusion, indeed, was governed by the consideration that tenure of office was likely to promote and secure efficiency, and that to arbitrarily determine the period of incumbency of the Chief Magistrate might operate to deprive the country of services and experience which it could not wisely dispense with. Washington, we know, refused the third term entirely and explicitly upon personal reasons and not upon the ground of public polity In following the precedent of his predecessor, it was Jefferson (whose re-election, by the way, was impossible) who established the principle subsequently developed into the third-term tradition and gave that quite unwarranted twist to Washington's declination that has not been rectified yet with the people. Far from there being in his day a popular opposition to a third term, nine States, including New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, voted for his re-election. Even in Jackson's day a third term was not an impossibility, although the unwritten law on the subject had then acquired a real force. It was Grant's final struggle for renomination that added the popular amendment to the Constitution, which makes the re-election of Mr. Cleveland practically hopeless. What was refused to Grant will not be given to another, save under the most extraordinary circumstances, and no justification of the kind exists to-day.

ONE result of the recent elections in the West is of more than usual interest to the readers of this journal. The people of Chicago decided by a vote of 77,000 to 5,000 that they wanted to try the Torren's system of land transfer in Cook County. This method of transfer provides, it will be remembered, for the establishment of a court, whose business it is to examine into the existing titles to real properties, and once and for all to fix their legal status. Any property owner wishing to obtain the advantage of the system can submit his titles to a search by the court attorneys, and if the title is found to be unimpeachable the State guarantee it absolutely. After the guarantee is once made the property is no longer transferred by deed, but only on the books of the Court of Registry, and as the necessity of a separate search before each transfer no longer exists, the property can be conveyed with as little trouble, time and expense as a hundred shares of stock. It also becomes very much more available as quick security for a loan. Under the law just adopted in Chicago any person may register his property for $2. To get a certificate he must present all the evidence of ownership he holds, which has not been entered of record, but he is not required to present any abstract. A board of examiners examines these proofs, and a written opinion of the majority if the board determines the action of the Registrar. During five years every one has an opportunity of contesting certificates of registration, but after the expiration of that interval the certificate is incontestable. After a title is once registered the owner cannot be deprived of any of his rights by reason of another person's possession and occupancy of the land for any period whatsoever. These certificates are valid proofs of ownership, according to their face representations, in all courts. It will be seen from this sketch of the Chicago law that the method adopted of dealing with a doubtful title are somewhat summary, and it is probable that if the example of Cook County is followed in other and more conservative parts of the country existing interests will be better protected. Be that as it may, this experiment on the part of Chicago will be closely watched elsewhere, and if successful doubtless widely imitated. It is likely, however, to prove immediately more popular in the West than in the East. The system is easily applied in an area, the titles to which are of recent origin, and the boundaries thereof well-defined, but the practical difficulties of adopting it in New York, for instance, are very considerable; and a movement in that direction will not be likely to gather much headway until our experience of the operation of the Torren's system is more extensive than it is at present.

The Building Law.

IT is satisfactory to see that the irritation which disturbed the amicable relations which ought to exist between the public and the Department of Buildings has been allayed in a great degree. If all the tomahawks of irate builders that were being flourished about so menacingly a short time ago are not yet laid aside, there is, undoubtedly, a less urgent demand than there was for the Superintendent's scalp. The war notes are subsiding, and it is pleasant to observe that the turmoil has produced not only a more genial and just appreciation of Mr. Constable's position and intent, but a somewhat clearer conception on the part of architects, builders and others of the importance of the functions which the Building Department is called upon to perform in the scheme of city government.

There is no violation of confidence in affirming that hitherto the Department has been distinctly undervalued. Very few have viewed it with the seriousness it merits. It has been regarded by many somewhat in the light of an obstacle, to be minimized by judicious treatment and circumvented adroitly, as far as conditions permitted; and it is only fair to say that until recently there was not a great deal in the internal condition of the Department to command greater respect and consideration from the public. By this we do not intend to impute any particular personal fault, nor to intimate that the Department has not rendered much good service to the city. Efficiency is a growth like other things, and any one acquainted with the development of the Building Law and the machinery for its administration does not need to be reminded of the many stages of progress that have been passed through since 1860.

We have now reached a point where a further step is inevitable, and the recent controversy has had the good result of making it quite clear in what direction this additional stride must be taken. In the past, the Department has been undermanned, inadequately equipped, insufficiently provided for—we leave aside entirely those obvious but incidental defects that have been the outcome of that deplorable prostitution of governmental activities to party profit which the people of this city have permitted and abetted with the equanimity of the unregenerate Turk. Mr. Constable has already done much to reconstruct the Department. The larger financial resources put recently at his command makes it possible for him to carry out reforms which the best intentioned of his predecessors could not even hope for. We have no doubt that the Department today is in a more efficient condition than it has ever been in, and that further improvements will be made under Mr. Constable's administration.

But before the Department and the public can be brought into thorough accord some new understanding must be arrived at concerning the Building Law. Unquestionably, an attempt will be made in the next Legislature to amend the law. This offers just the opportunity necessary for all concerned to get together for a common understanding. Hitherto the Building Law has been made and modified, amplified and intensified without any concern in the matter being shown by the bulk of our citizens mostly interested in the law. It is safe to say that a majority of the architects, builders, building material men and real estate owners have taken no more interest in such legislation than in the excise laws, or in any other effort of our law-makers. The future has, in large measure, been trusted to luck, and the grumbling and criticism has been reserved until the work of legislation was completed and no course was possible beyond either obedience or some one of those many forms of indirection to which even "good citizens" resort when the statute books and their financial activities are in conflict.

Popular interest in our laws almost invariably begins after the law-makers have finished their work. When the last amendments were made to the Building Law probably not seven in ten of our builders knew anything about them until after they were put in force. The recent controversy has made it plain that there is not yet a firm consensus of opinion as to the exact purport and scope of the Building Law. For a time, at least, it was evident that Superintendent Constable thought it his duty to press more firmly upon the letter of the law than many builders did, and we know that many architects and others are of the opinion that any real rigidity in a Building Law is more or less an absurdity. Their idea is that all a Building Law should do is to establish a certain general factor of safety for all building operations, leaving the public free to work under the rule with the utmost latitude. They object to the law going so much and so specifically as it does into details. Much of the recent irritation arose from this very fact—that everybody is not of one opinion as to the intent of the Building Law. So long as the law was administered loosely and, if one may say so, personally, controversy was in a large measure averted. It was not until Mr. Constable began to enforce the law closely that trouble arose. Steps should be taken at once to get upon more reasonable ground. The several interests concerned in building should combine at once and get down to action, so that there need be no hasty work when the Legislature meets.

THE chronic nervousness of the building trades has been rendered acute by the action of the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union in calling for a general strike, because their demand for an all-round increase of fifty cents a day in their wages has been refused. A movement of this kind will be particularly unfortunate at this time, not because there is so much work in this city that is nearly completed, but because there are signs of a falling off in the new work under contemplation and a disturbance of labor will be sure to make this greater. The men ought to take this fact into serious consideration before they finally quit the work they now have. As it is, the coming winter does not promise to be a very good one for the workmen in the building trade; a strike at this time means a very hard one indeed. If work is stopped now, the first sufferers will be the owners of the new buildings, who until now have been expecting to see tenants in their buildings before the holidays. The contractors, by reason of the strike clause in their contracts will be only moderately hurt. The greatest sufferers in the long run will be the men themselves, because a strike now means the paralysis of building operations in this city until next spring at least. This movement is even less reasonable than the strike of the electrical workers at the opening of the building season, which ended in the defeat of the men, chiefly because it lacked public sympathy. If the electrical workers could not win the public to their cause, men who are as well paid as the housesmiths and bridgemen, will not be able to do so if they wantonly throw up their livelihoods in the present condition of the trade. It is to be hoped that means will be found to avoid this trouble, but that is hardly possible unless the men become more sensible of their own interests than they now seem to be.

WHEN the Dock Department this week appointed the Board of Consulting Engineers, whose names are given in another column, they very properly thereby called the attention of the citizens of New York to the fact that their city is very much behind the times in the facilities it affords to ocean carriers for handling cargoes. The Department itself cannot be accused of any want of foresight in this matter, because it prepared long ago a plan for improving the water fronts, but owing to the way we do things in New York some Western cities, several not among the most important ones, can handle freight from vessels much better and cheaper than we can. New York is not likely to lose its supremacy among the ports of the United States, but it really must hurry up and perfect its apparatus for docking and unloading and loading vessels. By the appointment of three of the most eminent engineers in the country to pass upon plans that may be submitted to relieve the pressure that now exists at this port, the movement to secure the best forms of and most speedy relief is given a very satisfactory beginning. Our dock and wharf facilities deserve all the abuse that can be fittingly applied to a system that is inadequate and out of date, and we have for many years urged that these facilities should be modernized and made equal to requirements. We hope that we now see a really serious intention to handle the problem with the vigor necessary to its solution. We are sure that such a course will receive the public approval, and further we are confident that there is no better investment in which the City of New York can embark than that of making its dock facilities the equal of any in the world, the volume of trade to be handled being duly considered.

New Approach to the Third Avenue Bridge.

Commissioner Haffen, of the 23d and 24th Wards, has prepared plans for a new northerly approach to the new 3d avenue bridge. This approach will connect with the new Southern Boulevard and will save a haul of four blocks.

The New Law and Tenement Building.

Architects, builders and material men who look to the increase of the number of flats, tenements and apartments for the greater part of their livelihood, are in some fear that the amendments which were made in the building law relating to tenements will have the effect of permanently taking away a considerable portion of their work. The call for plans, especially for the cheaper classes of tenements, is no doubt light, but it does not follow that this is due to the changes in the law; the real cause may be that the large number of plans filed early in the year crowded into one season an unusual proportion of the work of the year, and that after these are disposed of all interests concerned will be busy again. It may be taken as undeniable that New York City's growing population has in greater part to be housed in flats and tenements. Where there is crowding, and that is everywhere below the Harlem River and some distance across it, the small house is an impossibility. Land values and rents have appreciated because of this fact, and are now such that the only business treatment of the problem of housing the working population is to put a large number on a comparatively small area by means of the tenements. The necessities of the people themselves require this. They must be near their work, and as New York City's manufacturing interests are growing at an enormous rate they employ more people, and these crowd with greater and greater density into the city. The conditions of building imposed by the law will have to be endured if they are not liked and cannot be cured. Urban life, while sometimes a matter of choice, is often a matter of indifference, and oftener than both put together a matter of necessity. We have seen the poor housing that the working people will put up with in order to remain in the cities.

While these facts will have their influence in the long run, they only afford partial satisfaction to the people who are now, or soon will be, without occupation because of the temporary halt in tenement building. That there is a prospect for such a halt there is no doubt whatever, when the published records of the Department of Buildings are examined. First, for the sake of completeness, let it be noted that in the first half of this year plans were filed for 1,519 flats and tenements, as compared with 393 in the same time in 1894 and 527 in a similar period in 1893. As we stated last week, there remained in the Department only 150 permits on tenement plans filed prior to May 29th last, and presumably to take advantage of the old law. What deduction should be made in the number of such buildings begun on this account cannot be stated, because a permit, while usually for one house, may cover any number. Still, it is reasonable to suppose, and the activity in the uptown sections supports that view, that the tenement building of the year has been much more than normal. What we want to know to form a fair opinion of the prospects for the future is the initiatory work done since the new building law became of effect, and this we have taken the pains to obtain by tabulating the plans filed as published by us in our issues of June 8th to November 2d, inclusive, this year, and setting them in comparison with similar results obtained from our issues of June 9th to November 3d, inclusive, 1894. Each flat, tenement or apartment is counted separately, so that the numbers are not of plans filed simply, but the numbers of separate buildings contemplated by the plans. The numbers mentioned as costing $25,000 or less are not quite accurate because in cases plans are filed for two or more houses with the probable cost bunched, but this defect applies as much, if not more, to the returns for 1894 as to those for 1895. We mention this fact because it has some bearing on one result brought out by the figures given below, i. e., since the new law went into effect the falling off in projected tenements has been largest in the cheaper kinds. With these explanations the figures in the following table will be easily understood:

PLANS FOR TENEMENTS AND APARTMENTS FILED FROM ABOUT JUNE 1 TO OCT. 31.

	1895.		1894.		Decrease.
	No.	Esti'd cost.	No.	Esti'd cost.	No.	Esti'd cost.

* Increase.

The first thing that excites attention in the figures given above is the falling off both in number and estimated cost of the plans filed in the five months of this year, but when earlier figures are examined it will not be found to be so extraordinary. The 1,519 flats and tenements for which plans were filed from January to June last were estimated to cost $33,708,200, and the 393 filed in the corresponding period of 1894, $7,794,550. So that allowing for the fact that the figures in the above table cover one of those months in each year, the falling off for the five months is no more than a reasonable reaction from the excess of the earlier part of the year. The increase in the average cost amounting to more that 20 per cent. in the twenty-two wards, and the obvious inference to be drawn from that fact, will not escape the attention of the shrewd reader. The figures for the first twenty-two wards were separated from those of the 23d and 24th Wards, where only the low-priced flats and tenements are put up, in order to test whether the tendency of the new law is to deter the building of the cheaper tenement than the dearer, and the result, so far as a gauge can be made up to this date, is affirmative of the problem. This is further borne out by the fact that in the lesser number of plans for the five months of 1895 there are four apartments costing over $100,000 each, and only two among the greater number in the same time last year. The percentage of houses costing $25,000 or less in the two years is the third and the best argument favoring this conclusion. Last year it was over three-fourths, and in this year's figures a little more than half. No modification of this result is obtained by examining the figures for the earlier part of the year because, although the average cost in the six months was about $22,000, in the like half of 1893 it was less than $20,000. So far, then, all that we can say is that the new law is restricting the building of the small and cheap tenement, and this is the result that might be logically expected to follow the new conditions that were thrown upon builders of flats and tenements. This restriction can be removed by a modification of the law in some of its harsher features. If the law is not modified, a demand will arise for new cheap apartments, in the course of time, owing to the crowding of the old ones, that will induce building although the process will entail hardships on the tenants.

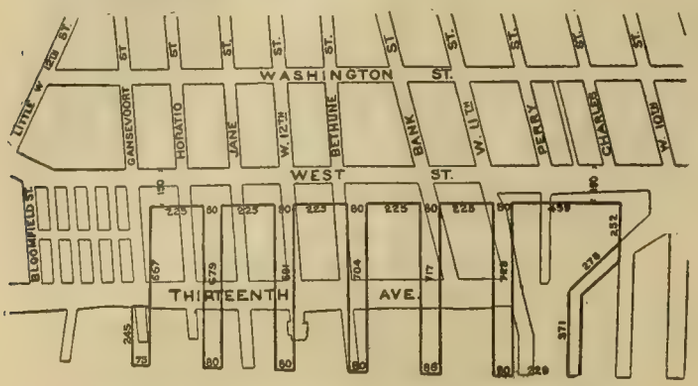
Elevated Railroad Damages.

In the Court of Appeals decision in the case of Bookman v. the New York Elevated R. R. Co. et al., briefly referred to in our issue of the 2d inst., the following rules are laid down:

"In an action against an elevated railroad company by an abutting owner for an injunction and damages, if the proof shows that before the coming of the road into the particular locality it was largely vacant, and that after the road came building and improvements swiftly followed, accompanied by steady and serious increase of value, no damages should be awarded even though property on side streets appreciate more rapidly. If, however, the proof shows that the elevated road has occupied a locality already substantially built up, in which normal city growth is operating and seriously increasing values, but as a consequence of the road the natural advance of property abutting it has halted or palpably lessened, while in adjacent side streets it continues, there may be an inference of fact that the abutter has been injured (Bohm v. Elevated R'y Co., 129 N. Y., 576 followed; Becker v. Elevated R'y Co., 131 N. Y., 529, and Storck v. Elevated R'y Co., 131 N. Y., 514, distinguished)."

The Improvement of the Dock Front.

The Dock Department has instituted condemnation proceedings within the last few weeks to obtain possession of the land required for carrying out the improvement of the dock front from Charles street to Gansevoort street, and we publish below a diagram showing the lines of the proposed new docks over those of the old ones, and the land to be taken. It has long been the opinion of the Department of Docks that there was need for larger docks on the east bank of the Hudson River if New York City is to retain its supremacy as the commercial gateway of the United States. The tendency of the day is towards longer ships; there is no reason to suppose that the "Lucania," with its 625 feet, has attained the maximum length. The "Great Eastern" was 680 feet between perpendiculars and 691 feet long on deck. From 1875 to 1880 owners of steamships gladly leased piers from Canal to West 10th street, on the North River, which were about 575 feet long, 70 feet wide, with slips of about 175 feet in width, and such piers accommodated the business of the ships of that day very well, but to-day these same owners, having increased the size of their ships, are cramped for room, and are seeking larger and more roomy quarters. There are seven vessels running to this port over 550 feet long and over 8,000 tonnage, and their owners would be glad to occupy the five large new piers shown on the plan if they were ready for use, while the piers they now occupy would be occupied by smaller vessels, or the space occupied by three of them would, after removing the existing piers be occupied by two piers of larger size and by larger ships.



It is a fact not undeserving of notice that all the land that will be taken for the improvement shown in the accompanying diagram is filled-in land. A recent report of the Dock Department says: "Many years ago authority was given by the Legislature to fill in the North River, above West 11th street, to such an extent that the river was greatly narrowed at that point. It was supposed that the commerce of the city would never need to enter what was then this far-away section. More recently we have seen the same short-sighted policy applied to sections of the water-front, which now seem to us equally remote. The future will probably show equal need of correction of the mistake. By the filling in at and above West 11th street it has been made impossible to have any piers, suitable for any considerable use, built in this section of the city for a distance of nearly a mile. The plans of the General Government and of our local government, for reasons that are conclusive, prohibit it.

"This section of the city is now urgently needed to provide suitable accommodation for our greatly crowded commerce. It is difficult to exaggerate the importance of restoring this most important district to modern commercial use. It would relieve for many years the congestion in the busiest commercial part of the city, and afford a means of supplying the demands which are continually being made, and which it is criminal to disregard if in any reasonable way they can be supplied. The Department of Docks has for many years been urging this improvement on the proper authority, and finally it has been given the power to restore this most important section to commercial use.

"The plans involve the purchase of this land and dredging out the filling to such an extent as to enable the city to build into the river piers of suitable length. Plans have already been approved by the Sinking Fund Commissioners which, when carried out, will result in adding five new piers in this section. If the plans for the whole section alluded to could be approved and executed, something like seventeen new piers could be added to those at present available for commercial use.

"While this will involve, of course, a very considerable expenditure of money, yet the rent which those who wish to use the property are willing to pay will be such as to furnish a handsome return on the investment.

Proposed Dock Front Improvement, Charles to Gansevoort Streets.

Fine lines show existing features.
Heavy " " new plan, approved by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, March 30th, 1894.

The Dock Board at a meeting on Monday last appointed three quite eminent men a board of consulting engineers to advise on the work necessary to be done to relieve the congested condition of the water-front below Forty-second street on the Hudson, to improve the water-front of the East River, and generally to bring New York's facilities for receiving from and giving freight to ocean-going vessels. The tentative plans of the Dock Board include the construction of a combined pier and fire-proof warehouse, constructed in the most approved manner and equipped with the most improved appliances for the speedy and economical loading and unloading of vessels and the transfer of freight between ships and the warehouses or cars or other vehicles. The gentlemen named as the Board of Consulting Engineers are: Prof. Wm. H. Burr, of Columbia College; George S. Morrison President of the American Society of Civil Engineers; and Brig. Gen. Thomas L. Casey, late Chief of the Engineer Corps, U. S. A., and President of the Board of Engineers in charge of New York Harbor.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I would be obliged to you if you would kindly advise me through the columns of your valuable paper in regard to the following matter: A came to me for the purpose of buying a house, and among others which I took him to view was one which was occupied by a tenant, without sign or notification attached that the house was in the market, and which could only be viewed by getting a special permit from the owner, which was done by me at the request of A. I notified the owner, B, for whom the permit would be required. The price I quoted to A was $29,000, asking him to make an offer, saying at the same time that I thought $28,500 would possibly secure it; but nothing lower. A finally calls and makes an offer of $26,500, which I submit in due course, but which B absolutely declines to entertain. A then says he will not make any other offer, and has decided not to buy. I noticed in the papers a few days ago the record of the transfer of the house to A. I went at once to B and asked concerning the sale. She said that the sale had been made to A through a down-town broker, and that the full commission, $287.50 on $28,750, the price at which the house was sold, had been paid. I asked how the down-town broker got the house, and she said she did not know, but that he did not get it from her. I then went to A, and from him learned the down-town broker to be his personal friend, and he stated his reason for giving the sale to him was that I had not worked hard enough. I told him my belief was that I had merely been used as a tool and that at no time had he seriously contemplated giving me the benefit of my work in securing the property and at a price to suit. I moreover believe the commission to have been divided with his friend. I naturally feel that A defrauded me out of the commission by his course of action, and would like to know if you can suggest any way that I can collect the commission either out of A on the plea of being wilfully defrauded, or if not from A have I any case against B for wrongful payment of the brokerage to the down-town broker, she being cognizant that I had introduced the client. The favor of your reply will greatly oblige.

Answer.—You have no good cause of action against either A or B.—LAW EDITOR.

WIFE'S SIGNATURE TO DEED.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following questions through your columns: (1) Can a man mortgage or sell property without wife's signature? (2) Does the law allow a man who has only taken out his first citizen papers to buy and sell real estate?

Answer.—(1) He may sell personal property without his wife's signature. He may sell or mortgage his real property without his wife's signature, but unless the wife signs the deed or mortgage her right of dower is not cut off. (2) Yes.—LAW EDITOR.

OWNER'S RIGHT TO FLAG SIDEWALKS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please inform me if after the Board of Aldermen of Brooklyn have passed a resolution to flag a certain street in which I have some lots, can I flag them myself without being assessed or interfered with? By answering the above you will greatly oblige.

Answer.—You may do so, but you must have the consent of the Commissioners of City Works, and the work must be done under his supervision.—LAW EDITOR.

EXEMPTION FROM TAXATION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly inform me through your paper whether volunteer firemen of the City of New York are exempt from taxation on any certain amount of real estate in New York State?

Answer.—No.—LAW EDITOR.

THE LAW OF FIXTURES.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following question in your next issue if possible? In selling a dwelling do the shades go with the house? By shades, I mean the blinds on rollers which one pulls up with a string. I have contracted to exchange a flat house for a dwelling house and am willing that my shades in the flats should go with the house, but consider that the shades in his dwelling are fixtures and should be included as well. Thanking you in advance.

Answer.—The shades are not fixtures and are not transferred by a deed of the house.

CITIZENSHIP.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Would you kindly answer the following question in your next issue? Is a person born in the United States considered a citizen of the United States from the time of his birth or not until he is twenty-one years of age?

Answer.—From the time of his birth.—LAW EDITOR.

BROKER'S COMMISSION FOR RENTING.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

What is the customary charge amongst brokers in New York City for renting a house for a period of less than one year or twelve months?

Answer.—In the absence of a special agreement the customary charge is $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. on the gross rental.

CITY PARKS.

We stated in this column, in answer to S. A. L., on October 26th last, that the city had taken no action toward securing a site for a park between 20th and 30th streets and east of 9th avenue, which was not quite correct, inasmuch as the Board of Aldermen had at that date requested the Board of Street Opening and Improvement to set aside the block between 23d and 24th streets and 9th and 10th avenues for park purposes.

Rapid Transit.

A number of owners of property on Broadway, below 14th street, and their representatives, met on Wednesday, in the office of Frederick Potter, in the Potter Building, Park row, to organize for opposition to the building of an underground railroad in the street abutting on their property. The call for the meeting was issued by Alfred R. Conkling, Frederick Potter, trustee for the estate of O. B. Potter; G. G. Williams, president of the Chemical National Bank and executor for the estate of L. C. Hammersley; Jacob H. Lockman, Edward S. Renwick, Col. S. V. R. Cruger, executor for the estate of A. Van Rensselaer, and Geo. V. N. Baldwin. The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, The construction of an underground railroad on Broadway, as proposed by the Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners, will result in enormous loss and damage to abutting property, therefore be it

"Resolved, That while the property-owners present are in favor of a proper system of rapid transit, they do object to and oppose the construction of said railroad as now proposed and laid out by said Board of Rapid Transit Railroad Commissioners;

"Resolved, That Messrs. Alfred R. Conkling, Austin Corbin, Frederick Potter, Edward S. Renwick and Henry H. Rice be appointed a committee, with power to add to their number, on behalf of such property-owners, and in their name to take such steps as they may deem necessary to oppose the construction of said railroad."

The open contest over rapid transit, which was inevitable, as soon as the conditions compelled the Commissioners to go to the courts, may be said to have commenced yesterday when they applied to the General Term for the appointment of a commission to make a report upon the desirability of the proposed routes in lieu of the consents of adjoining property-owners. One of the briefs filed by the opposition claimed that the statutes do not authorize this second application to the court for the appointment of a commission; that the application which was granted in 1891 for a commission, which reported in favor of routes then laid out, exhausted the power of the court in that behalf; and that now, a vote of the people having been taken on the proposition to build the lines at the expense of the city, and the plans having been changed after the affirmative vote in such a way that $6,000,000 has been added to the expense which the voters agreed to shoulder, there is no warrant for the appointment of a commission to sanction the modified routes. Certain constitutional points were reserved for argument upon the coming in of the report of the proposed commission. The application was taken under advisement.

A Big Strike Anticipated.

There is a feeling in the building trades that a strike of the housesmiths and bridgemen is inevitable, and no one ever knows when a strike is begun when the end will be and what other lines may be drawn into the fight through sympathy. The Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union decided on a strike last Sunday at a meeting held at Clarendon Hall, with the indorsement, somewhat reluctantly given, of the Central Labor Union. The cause of this action was the refusal of the employers to grant an increase of 50 cents a day on wages as follows: Setters, $3.50; derrickmen and all around men, $3; helpers on derricks, $2.50; rivetters, $3; heaters, $2.25; foremen finishers, $3.50; finishers, $3; helpers, $2.25; blacksmiths, $3.50; helpers, $2.25, and double pay for Sundays and holidays. There are said to be about 2,500 men in this union. A meeting of employers was held on Thursday at the offices of J. B. & J. M. Cornell to consult on the situation. No announcement of the result arrived at was made, but the impression is pretty general that a struggle can only be avoided, or when begun, only ended by the men relinquishing their claims. The employers have declined to arbitrate.

State Building Trades' Associations.

The Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange, at their regular meeting on Monday last, approved the action of their delegates at the Baltimore Convention of theNational Association of Builders, in supporting the plan for establishing affiliated state associations. The Exchange also decided to send representatives to the meeting to be held at the Building Trades' Club on December 11th to form a permanent association for this State, and a committee to receive the representatives of other cities who will come to New York to attend that meeting.

The Park Board.

The department having control of the parks of New York City which has proven itself so inefficient recently, has been reorganized by the creation of a board, all of whose members have from their own business experience an intimate knowledge of the work they have to do. Their appointment may be expected to be followed by a comprehensive policy for dealing with the parks of this city, so that they will become a park system. The new board consists of Col. S. V. R. Cruger, Samuel McMillan, Smith Ely and William Stiles, in the place of David H. King, Jr., James A. Roosevelt, Augustus D. Juliard and George G. Haven, who resigned a short time ago. Col. Cruger and Mr. McMillan are too well known in real estate circles to need any introduction there. Mr. Stiles is editor of Garden and Forest and an expert in landscape gardening. Mr. Ely has sat in the mayoralty chair of this city and his name has been associated with almost every improvement that has been made or suggested for many years. The new board organized by electing Col. Cruger president and Mr. McMillan vice-president.

The General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

The quinquennial banquet of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the City of New York will take place on Monday evening next at Hotel Brunswick. The function is one that is anticipated with great pleasure by the members of this society and their families also, because on the occasion of the centennial banquet, in 1885, ladies were admitted to the tables and the practice was repeated in 1890 and will be continued again on Monday. This innovation on conventional arrangements for society banquets is a much more courteous recognition of the ladies than packing them away, in Moslem fashion, behind a screen, or even in a gallery. By it they share the pleasures of their husbands, fathers and sons, instead of merely witnessing them, the equity of which is unquestionable. The list of speakers for the celebration of the 110th anniversary of this well-known and useful institution is an attractive one, containing the names of the following gentlemen: Mayor Strong, Comptroller Fitch, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, Hon. Roswell G. Horr, Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, Andrew Carnegie, Edward H. Kendall, Rev. Abraham J. Palmer, D. D., and the Hon. Silas B. Dutcher. The success of this celebration is guaranteed by the fact that Mr. Stephen M. Wright, the secretary of the society, has been at work for some time upon it, together with the president, Mr. W. E. Conover.

An Unfounded Allegation.

Reports having been circulated that No. 12 Stone street, a five-story brick building, is in an unsafe condition, it is only proper to say that the only violation put upon the building by the Department of Buildings is for failure of the owners to post up a notification of the carrying capacity of the floors. The owners have expert engineering advice that the building is sound.

Kingsbridge Road Franchise.

The Kingsbridge road franchise about which there was such a tremendous fight before the Board of Aldermen last summer, was sold on Thursday last to the Third Avenue Railroad Company for $250,000 and 38½ per cent of the gross annual receipts. The occasion of the sale was one of considerable excitement, the bidding being forced up by rivals of the company to which the franchise was finally knocked down, and the terms are so extraordinary that it may be taken for granted that this is not the end of the struggle for possession of the railroad privileges in the upper West Side district.

Chimney Breasts.

Alderman Parker submitted the following draft ordinance at the last meeting of the Board of Aldermen, which was referred to the Committee on Law Department:

Section 1. On and after December 1, 1895, contractors, builders and owners of buildings in the City of New York, may build, construct, erect and maintain, structures known as "chimney breasts" on houses or buildings erected at the corners of streets, avenues or thoroughfares in the City of New York, provided such structure shall in no case extend beyond eight inches from the house-line, and shall be built, constructed and erected under the direction and to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of Buildings in the City of New York.

Real Estate Market.

Brokers' and individual sales this week foot up about $3,500,000, inclusive of two important North Side transactions. Adding $1,500,000 realized by the auctioneers, gives a total investment of $5,000,000, the largest aggregate of any week for many months past. There have as well been other sales, principally of uptown vacant land, of which the particulars gleaned are found to be too indefinite to warrant there announcement. The market has evidently taken a turn for the better, but as there is still noticed a lamentable absence of investors other than professionals the improvement will hardly be continued for a period of any length.

The following are the comparative tables for New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding week of 1894 and 1895.

The auction list this week has been a full one and the summary of sales shows purchases exceeding $1,500,000. By far the greater number of parcels disposed of were offered under decrees of Court and it was a rare thing for an outsider to secure any of the properties so offered. Plaintiffs, defendants and other interested parties were the successful bidders in nearly every instance. The crowds present on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday were much larger than has been usual of late, and though shy about bidding it was evident that many of the auditors were on hand to buy in the event of both property and price meeting their ideas of location and value.

On Tuesday, No. 335 West 59th street, offered at voluntary sale by J. L. Wells, and No. 888 10th avenue, corner of 58th street, presented by order of trustee by William Kennelly, were bought in at $40,000 and $37,600, respectively. The latter auctioneer withdrew in consequence of no bid being made, the dwelling No. 2072 5th avenue.

Wednesday was Bryan L. Kennelly's day, there being but one insignificant legal sale to distract the attention of the numerous would-be buyers in attendance. Among his audience was the millionaire real estate owner, George Henry Warren, and he proved to be the buyer of two adjoining properties on 6th avenue. The parcels withdrawn were: No. 250 West 74th street on a bid of $23,250, and Nos. 77 and 79 East 56th street on an offer of $20,500 for one, with the privilege of taking both.

On Thursday Philip A. Smyth succeeded in securing, at an executor's sale, buyers for a parcel at State and Pearl streets, and No. 241 South street. R. A. Chesebrough, the second millionaire buyer of the week, was the successful bidder on the first-named property. The State street property sold in October, 1881, for $42,000, and the South street property, about twenty years ago, for $28,000. They realized at Thursday's sale $62,250 and $31,000 respectively. Mr. Smyth also offered No. 207 West 10th street, and withdrew it on a bid of $10,000. Yesterday William Kennelly adjourned sine die a foreclosure sale of No. 118 East 60th street.

At the Real Estate Exchange on Thursday, Richard V. Harnett & Co. obtained a total of $251,250 for a number of properties, including one at Long Branch, that were sold to close the estate of Solomon D. Moss, deceased. The attendance at the sale was exceptionally large, but the heirs and part owners of the various offerings were out in such force and so anxious to bid that they secured what was practically the entire property, a few parcels only going to outsiders. No. 182 Henry street was bid in at $24,800, and a plot at 3d avenue and 182d street was withdrawn on account of some uncertainty regarding the boundary lines.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell at auction at the Real Estate Exchange, No. 59 Liberty street, on Tuesday next, the 19th inst., four lots on Park avenue, west side, 25.3 north of 95th street. And on the following day, the 20th inst., No. 113 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn. Full particulars can be obtained at Nos. 71 and 73 Liberty street.

Philip A. Smyth announces the auction sale on Wednesday next, the 20th inst., in the Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, of the four-story high-stoop brownstone front private dwelling, No. 135 East 71st street, and a house and stable, with plot about 75x200 on Central avenue, Tompkinsville, Staten Island. The auctioneers office, where full particulars can be obtained, is at No. 11 Pine street.

Geo. R. Read will on Tuesday next, the 21st inst., sell at auction at the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room, No. 59 Liberty street, the four-story brownstone dwelling 17x55x100.5; No. 121 East 58th street. Maps and further particulars can be had of the auctioneer, at No. 9 Pine street and No. 1 Madison avenue.

Bryan L. Kennelly will offer, at executor's sale, to close the estate of Lillian Bartlett, deceased, No. 7 East 48th street, in the Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, on Wednesday, the 27th inst. This parcel is a four-story basement and cellar brownstone dwelling, built by day's work and fitted and finished in a high-class manner. The title is guaranteed by Title Guarantee and Trust Co. Maps and full particulars can be obtained at No. 66 Liberty street, the office of the auctioneer.

BROOKLYN ANNOUNCEMENT.

James L. Brumley will sell at auction, on Tuesday next, the 19th inst., at the Exchange, No. 159 Montague street, the three-story and basement brownstone dwelling, No. 126 McDonough street.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

Ruland & Whiting have sold for the estate of Herman Schulting, at $82,500, No. 157 William street, northwest corner of Ann street, and for the estate of William H. Gleason, at $77,500, the adjoining parcel, No. 159, both to Solon Palmer. Nos. 157 and 159 taken together form a plot about 38.4x93.4, adjoining No. 161 William street, also owned by Mr. Palmer, and the presumption is that the entire property will be improved by the erection of a modern building.

Geo. R. Read has sold for Thomas H. O'Connor to a customer, the plot, 103.3x100, with buildings on the southwest corner of 7th avenue and 16th street.

Hoffman Bros. have sold for Warren E. Dennis, No. 373 Broadway, about 75 feet south of White street, and for the Faye estate the adjoining parcel, No 375. The properties together have a frontage of 49.10 on Broadway and a depth of 150 feet running through to Franklin alley. The brokers report $375,000 as the price agreed upon.

Charles Martin has sold for David Schmutz the five-story brick tenement, 25x85x100.5, No. 537 West 44th street, to Theodore Schencke.

The Trinity Corporation has sold the southwest corner of Hudson and Vandam streets, a plot 107x200, with old buildings, to Henry Heide for $185,000. The buyer will demolish after May 1st, next, the frame houses Nos. 84 to 90 Vandam street, that now occupy the rear half of the plot, and erect in their stead a brick factory for his own use. Two years hence when the leases of the Hudson street front, 107x100, expire the proposed factory will be extended and cover the entire frontage on both streets. It is stipulated in the contract made with Mr. Heide that the building or buildings to be erected by him shall be not less than seven stories high, and equal in quality and construction to that of the new structure now being built by the corporation on the northwest corner of Varick and Spring streets.

John R. Davidson has sold for Seth M. Milliken the five-story flat with store, 25x70x100, on the southwest corner of Amsterdam avenue and 100th street, to Charles Schilo for $36,000.

Fitzsimons & Smith have sold for Charles L. Ritzmann the five-story flat, 30.9x90x100.5, No. 332 West 51st street.

Adrian H. Muller & Son have sold for the Jennings estate the two-story private stable, with lot 16.8x98.9, No. 117 East 41st street.

Joseph C. Mount has sold for Hugh Hughes the three-story brick dwelling, lot 20.10x98.9, No. 453 West 34th street, to Dr. George S. Youngling for $14,500.

Jacob Hirsh has bought of the heirs of James Gillespie, No. 826 Broadway, northeast corner of 12th street, a lot, 17.9x about 126.11, including No. 61 East 12th street, x48.9x120.9, with five-story buildings, at a price under $240,000.

On October 24th the Times stated that "the property, Nos. 832 and 834 Broadway, recently bought by Jacob Hirsh, has been resold at a profit to a builder. Messrs. M. & L. Hess are understood to have been the brokers." The report was promptly denied by members of the Hirsh-Gutwillig combination, and at intervals of a few days each up to a week ago the unvarying reply to inquiries made by a reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE was "no sale has been made." They may be still ready with denials but the fact became public a few days ago that a sale at about $235,000 had been closed in October to Boehm & Coon through the Messrs. Hess who, obeying instructions, have all along been non-committal.

A line of explanation is due regarding a sale recently consummated of the Delamater property, Nos. 420 to 426 West 20th street. Bought by Oppenheimer & Metzger, it was reported sold three weeks ago by a Columbus avenue firm to James Livingston, while on Friday of last week title passed to Egan & Hallecy. It seems both sales were actually made in the order of their announcement but that Builder Livingston, on requesting to be relieved of his contract in view of his having secured a row of unfinished flats on West 84th street, was immediately accommodated and a resale made to Egan & Hallecy at the price first agreed upon.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

William D. Murphy, of the Murphy estate, has sold to a builder for improvement the westerly block front on Manhattan avenue, between 101st and 102d streets.

Gustavus L. Lawrence added yesterday to his extensive real estate holdings a plot of twenty-four lots, with a frontage on Hamilton terrace, north of 141st street. Another report referring to the same transaction is that the purchase consists of the plot on the west side of Hamilton place, extending from 142d to 143d street, acquired by Richard and Minturn P. Collins in a recent trade with Pelham St. G. Bissell.

Jacob D. Butler has sold a plot, 75x100, on the northwest corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 147th street, to Builder Wm. Broadbelt, representing a syndicate, which will erect six private dwellings, as announced elsewhere.

Hayden & Co., has sold for Max Marx the five-story brick flat, 25x78x99.11, No. 48 West 132d street, to Louis Friess for $27,000, and the two-story brick house, 21.6x50x100.11, No. 328 East 120th street, to Comadine Friess for $9,500. As part consideration for both parcels Mr. Marx will take at a valuation of $32,500, the two three-story brick and limestone front dwellings, 16.8x50x100 each, Nos. 201 and 205 Edgecombe avenue. The same broker has sold for Mr. Marx to James McLaughlin, at $11,000, the house No. 43 Bradhurst avenue, 18.2x45x80.3.

Strong & Ireland have sold for Adam E. Fischer (John G. Prague), the three new apartment houses, with stores, on the southeast corner of Columbus avenue, and 85th street, with plot, 102.2x100, to John B. Ireland. The corner building is seven stories, 40x98, and the others are five stories, 40 and 20x90 respectively. The price agreed upon is $350,000, inclusive of $130,000, the value of two Long Island properties to be taken in exchange. The latter are a large residence, etc., and 300 acres at Brookhaven with a half-mile frontage on Great South Bay, and 50 acres, with residence, etc., at Babylon, possessing the same frontage on the bay. Each property is accepted at a valuation of $65,000. R. E. L. Mordecai was associate broker in the transaction.

James F. Flynn has sold for Gertrude R. Waldo, a Rhinelander heir, the plot with large two-story brick factory and other buildings forming the easterly block-front on Avenue A, between 91st and 92d streets, and including the water front on the East River, to Henry Hachemeister, vice-president and treasurer of the George Ringler Brewing Co., for a sum exceeding $90,000. The property is just south of the Astoria Ferry, and its dimensions are 201.4 x about 230 feet on 91st street and about 150 feet on 92d street.

C. R. Gregor & Son have sold for Charles T. Barney the plot, 100x100.11, on the southwest corner of the Boulevard and 101st street, to Morris Steinhardt.

The house was sold by Mr. Kennelly on Wednesday at the Broadway Salesroom to George L Slawson for a client at $38,600.

H. E. Hartwell has sold to Mrs. A. L. Meeker for $26,500, the new four-story American basement dwelling, No. 311 West 71st street, one of a row of six houses all but finished. It is understood that Jacob Hirsh and Gutwillig Bros., who sold Mr. Hartwell the lots, have agreed to "purchase" two more of the houses as consideration for the building loan, etc.

Adler & Herrman and Max Marx have bought of William H. Gebhard twenty-four three-story stone front dwellings, 15, 16 and 17x45x100.11, on the north side of 103d street, running east from Park avenue to a point 30 feet west of Lexington street, and nine similar houses on the south side of the same street. Four of the latter, 16x45x100.11 each, are on the southeast corner of Park avenue, and five, 15.6 and 16x45x100.11, are located on a plot 64 feet east of Park avenue.

NORTH SIDE.

A sale has been made through S. V. R. Cruger & Co., for a client, of about 216 acres of undeveloped land, part of the J. H. Screven property fronting on Long Island Sound and lying between Westchester Creek and Barrett's Creek, some distance south of Unionport. The price agreed upon is understood to be over $1,500 per acre, and the buyer's intention is to lay out the tract in building lots as soon as he has secured additional property adjoining.

J. Clarence Davies has sold for Lewis G. Morris an undeveloped tract at Morris Heights containing 250 lots or more on Sedgwick, Undercliff and other avenues, between 176th and 177th streets, to Ephraim B. Levy at a price which is said to be not much below $200,000. The property has been in the possession of the Morris family for at least 200 years, and its improvement by the purchaser, who will extend and lay out new streets with a view to its sale in lots and plots suitable for building, will mark the beginning of a new era for real estate in that section of the 24th Ward. The same broker has sold for Alfred Siegman, 50x100, on the east side of Ryer avenue, 407 feet north of Burnside avenue, to Sarah Blauvelt, for $1,200, and for Jane Adams, 25x100, on the south side of 150th street, 220 feet east of Morris avenue, to George Lanane.

LEASES.

Charles M. Heymann & Co. have leased No. 15 West 43d street for C. S. & S. W. Andrews to the New York Preparatory School for ten years at a total rental of $35,000, and for Emma E. Cattus, No. 312 Madison avenue for twenty years at an average rental of $6,000.

Wilcox & Shelton have leased for a term of twenty-one years for the Cromwell estate, to the Twelfth Ward Savings Bank, Nos. 217 to 223 West 125th street, the office building in which the bank has for some time been located. Extensive improvements will be made throughout the structure under the supervision of President Isaac A. Hopper.

Real Estate Notes.

"Offices to Let in This and Other Buildings" is a novelty in the way of renting signs displayed this season on a down-town office structure by a well-known firm.

The character of the long-talked-of improvement of the large plot on the northwest corner of Broadway and 49th street, owned by the Barrington Apartment Association, has been settled by the filing of plans for a two-story store and loft building, to cost $30,000. There will be five stores, each with 25 feet frontage on Broadway. We hear the three northerly stores and loft will be occupied as a carriage repository.

Another transfer of a St. Luke's Hospital plot was recorded this week. The sale was reported some months ago. Though title passed long ago to several of the lots on 55th street, west of 5th avenue, and the westerly section of the old hospital has been demolished, there is as yet no indication of any building improvement. And that reminds us that when the proposed new residences on that street shall have been erected they will have vis-a-vis a row of five private stables built many years ago. Not a pleasant prospect, one would imagine, for the respective house owners. A glance at the new hospital on Morningside Heights a few days ago leads to the belief that it will not be ready for occupancy until well into next spring.

Selling the cheaper class of new flats from the plans long before the buildings are completed has been a popular diversion this year with the speculative builders. No doubt the scheme is found more profitable by many of them than waiting to sell after completion, even at prices that might enable the realization of greater gains. Philip Braender, Cumming & Ferguson, Gunn & Grant, Egan & Hallecy, on the West Side, and August Jacob, Theodore A. Cordler and Louis Wirth on the East Side and others, have been specially favored by buyers who have made advance agreements to purchase. An objection to this method of doing business is urged, however, by one builder of experience, who states that the advance buyer is inclined to be captious at times and will insist upon his ideas being followed in the construction of the flat he has secured, and on the same principle that too many cooks spoil a broth, he claims that too many bosses are likely to work injury in any new building.

Real estate sales by the Trinity Corporation are few and far between, and this week's announcement of its agreement to sell the southwest corner of Hudson and Vandam streets is the first that has been made since it became known some years ago that the Federal authorities had secured the corporation's holdings in the block at Greenwich, Washington and Christopher streets, as the main portion of the site for the new Appraisers' Stores. The last previous sale of Trinity property was one ten or twelve years ago of seven lots on Greenwich street, between Desbrosses and Watts. The latest transaction is of far greater interest to the real estate public than any of its predecessors, as one of the incentives that have led to it is a laudable desire by the sellers to no longer appear to retard the development of Hudson street into a more or less prominent business thoroughfare. It is not unlikely that other sales will be made by the corporation, and if they are the use of the property by the new owners will be restricted in a manner similar to the corner just purchased. Owing to the extension and widening of College place, now West Broadway, Hudson street is now practically a continuous avenue running from one end of the city to the other, and that fact must assuredly have added something to the value of property along its line.

What a mess builders and others have made of the street numbers on some of the blocks between Central Park West and Columbus avenue. Early this week the sale of No. 39 West 89th street was announced, and since then No. 39 West 89th street has been advertised for sale as "the only house left on the block." The latter house is much nearer Central Park West and wrongly numbered, but owing to a singular misapprehension an the part of its builders, flaunts No. 39 defiantly on its front between neighbors that respectively show the more appropriate numbers of 15 and 19 or thereabouts. Directly opposite is No. 40, of which the proper number should be about 10, and running from it is an entire row bearing consecutively the even numbers higher than 40. In the latter case they will have to stand, as no change will be allowed by the Department of Public Works until the vacant plot on the easterly corner is built upon. West 89th is not by any means the only street in which the numbering is radically wrong. There are many others on the West Side and some as well in the section north of Central Park. A jump of ten numbers is not infrequently noticed on adjoining dwellings. Asked to explain the peculiar numbering that at times presents such discrepancies as No. 40 in one street for instance being in a line with No. 10 in the street north or south of it, a builder stated a few days ago that the higher ones were correct owing to the Department of Public Works beginning the official numbering from an imaginary line in the Park, and that the lower numbers were merely individual preferences. An inquiry at the Department demonstrated that the builder's idea was as erroneous as the numbering. There has as yet been no official designation of numbers between the avenues mentioned, except where the building-up of a block front has been completed, nor will there be in the future. The fault has been with the guessing of the pioneer builders on the westerly end of each block, who in some instances must have selected numbers according to their fancy without taking the trouble to intelligently calculate on the houses that would occupy the vacant land to the east. The present condition of "confusion worse confounded" will apparently have to prevail until a building boom strikes Central Park West and is followed by the improvement of the many vacant corner plots.

The twelfth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Knickerbocker Trust Company was held yesterday and the old board of directors re-elected with the additional names of Lispenard Stewart and Amzi L. Barber. The statement of the company's condition submitted to the stockholders shows very satisfactory progress during the year. The capital has been increased from $750,000 to $1,000,000, and the surplus from $346,000 to $494,000, in addition to 6 per cent. dividend paid upon the stock. The deposits of the company have increased from $7,000,000 to $9,500,000, and the number of deposits from 2,148 to 2,680, an increase of 532 depositors during the year.

Concerning Real Estate Agents and Brokers.

The recently reported sale, at $250,000, of the Waltham Building, Nos. 1 to 5 Bond street, to A. Friedlander & Co., was negotiated through the office of S. V. R. Cruger & Co., the representatives of Miss Mary D. Pell, Mrs. Walden Pell, as executrix of Walden Pell, deceased, and Robbins & Appleton, the owners of the property.

Trade Notes.

Messrs. Baldinger & Kupferman, manufacturers and dealers in gas and electric fixtures, have removed from Nos. 87 and 89 Wallabout street to No. 431 Broadway, Brooklyn. They have also a branch office and showrooms at No. 178 Essex street, New York. The firm has supplied some of the leading builders of the two cities.

The Heydebrand Safety Window is to be used in Terence Farley's Sons' new houses on 72d street. They have been placed in the office of the Daily and Weekly Star of Montreal, the Globe Building, Toronto, and in the office building of W. Alexander, Ottawa, Canada. These window are so arranged that either or both sashes can be conveniently revolved completely around, and also up and down in the usual way. Owing to these advantages they can easily be cleaned on both sides from within the room, and they are absolutely air-tight. They can be put into old frames with the utmost readiness. The headquarters of the Heydebrand Safety Window Co., which has placed this very desirable article on the market, are in the Decker Building, No. 33 Union square.

The American Enamelled Brick and Tile Co. of South River, N. J., only commenced operations this year, but has already met with considerable success. Their agents are Meeker & Carter, of No. 14 East 23d street, who are selling large quantities of the products of the company, which are being supplied to many of the large undertakings now under way in this city. They are receiving letters from architects and builders praising the quality of the bricks supplied. No English brick ever imported equals the enamelled brick produced at the factory of this company. Messrs. Meeker & Carter will cheerfully furnish samples of their bricks and tiles and information in regard thereto on application.

Messrs. Busse & Jordis, the well-known iron workers, of Nos. 314 and 316 East 75th street, are receiving a bountiful share of the work in their line. Good work and reasonable prices is the motto the firm selected for their business, and builders and architects appreciate it, judging by the number of references and testimonials which the firm has to show. Among the many contracts for iron work which they secured this fall, are the following: Seven-story apartment building, corner of 69th street and Boulevard; flat on 138th street, between Willis and Brook avenues; flat on 139th street, between Willis and Brook avenues; five dwelling houses on 120th street, west of Lenox avenue: flat on 111th street, west of 8th avenue; alteration of office building, No. 19 West 26th street; contract for iron doors, shutters, etc., for twelve-story mercantile building on Broome street, taking in the block from Broadway to Mercer street; two flats on 99th street, east of Amsterdam avenue, etc. The firm has put in a telephone for the convenience of their customers; the call is 184 79th street.

REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS GUIDE.
ESTABLISHED MARCH 21st 1868.

14 AND 16 VESEY STREET,

TELEPHONE, CORTLANDT 1370

New York, November 16, 1895

To the Building Material Trades:

Dear Sirs:

What do you think of adding a new department to your business? A department, the functions of which will be as follows:

1. Keep you informed daily of all prospective building operations as soon as the owners begin to talk about action or the architects to formulate plans;

2. Keep you informed of the status of all building operations that interest you, from their inception to their final completion;

3. Give you detailed reports of the materials (of the class you sell) that are needed in every building;

4. The names and addresses of owners, architects, chief contractors, etc., of new buildings;

5. Answer all questions you may desire answered on any of the matters mentioned above, etc., etc.

In short, would you like to attach to your business equipment a large, well organized, thoroughly equipped Bureau of Intelligence, which would furnish you daily with sifted, direct, verified, organized reports of what is going on in the market; Who the Buyers are; What they want; when and where you may find them. The facts you want are put under your eyes, visible at a glance, every morning, so that you can--

1. Push ahead to get your share of business;

2. Spare your representatives the expensive game of hunting aimlessly over the field for orders. Give them the pointers; send them direct to the man who wants to buy, armed with information as to the thing wanted. Twice the amount of ground can be covered in this way;

3. Keep yourself (the Head of the Firm) informed of what is going on. Check off what your representatives are doing.

A good thing, a Bureau like this, Eh! But, perhaps you shrink from the expense of salaries to a score of men to travel among architects, owners and others; and no doubt you don't underestimate the task of organizing this Bureau, managing it, supplying it with brains? Well the Record and Guide (established 1868, the leading Real Estate and Building Journal of the United States) will do the work for you for about fourteen cents a day. That the work will be well done, is guaranteed by the high reputation of the Record and Guide. We know what you want. We have the capital and the experience. You can avail yourself of both for fourteen cents a day. Can you afford to be without this service? It won't of course sell your goods, but, if in the space of a year, you get only one pointer that finds you a customer, the service has paid for itself many times over. This is an age of specialties. You can't do this work as well for yourself, even at a cost of as many dollars as we ask cents. We want to talk to you further about this Bureau of ours, and are at your service.

Shall our representative have the pleasure of calling upon you in a day or two? Send us a postal card.

Yours truly,

RECORD AND GUIDE,

(Building News and Information Department.)

P. S. The Record and Guide guarantees the accuracy, the thoroughness and the progressiveness of this service. Neither money nor effort will be spared to make it perfect and advance it beyond any service now known. Don't pay big prices for information. Avail yourself of our advantages.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, NOVEMBER 16, 1895.

Brooklyn Notes.

NEEDED SCHOOL FACILITIES.

A Committee on School-houses has reported to the Board of Education that notwithstanding the unprecedented increase in the number and size of the school-houses this year, the demand for accommodations is more urgent than ever. The total number of sittings added in 1895 will be 13,593. The report further shows that the districts in need of immediate relief are the 28th, 26th, 22d, 27th, 16th, 17th, 8th. 25th, 10th and 24th.

HONOR AMONG BROKERS.

Whether some plan which would enable real estate brokers to work more in trust and unison would not in the end pay better than the present system of strife is a question that has often been discussed. The veteran Brooklyn real estate man, John F. James, said recently: "I have spoken frequently to many of the brokers about the total disregard of rules of professional etiquette which is prevalent here in Brooklyn among them, and I have made many attempts to bring them all together with a view to forming an association for our mutual protection and benefit. A number of years ago we did form a sort of organization with that same end in view, but it did not last very long, owing to the disreputable methods of some of its members who took advantage of the rules for their own profit. We have frequently made attempts, since establishing the Real Estate Exchange, to formulate a set of rules to govern the relation of the brokers to one another in the transaction of their business. The rules provided mainly to prevent a broker from putting up his card or sign where another broker had his, to prevent one broker from selling a piece of property over another broker's head, and rules of similar character, which were not unreasonable. But all attempts at co-operation have so far been futile. But I hope, for the benefit of the brokers individually and for the good name of the profession generally, that some measures will soon be adopted by the leading members of the trade looking toward the raising of the standard of honor among brokers."

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

The Louis Weber Building Company.—To transact a business of general builders and contractors in New York City. Capital, $15,000; and directors: J. C. G. Hupfel, Charles A. Stadler and Henry Waller, of New York city. Among the stockholders are Ashbel P. Fitch, Jacob Ruppert and George Ehret.

George Hagemeyer & Sons' Lumber Co. of New York city. Capital, $10,000; and directors: Mary Hagemeyer and Anna H. Hagemeyer, of New York city, and Pauline F. Hagemeyer, of Brooklyn.

The Cazenovia Marble and Granite Works.—Capital, $5,000; and directors: Wm. H. Woodruff, Arthur B Hart and Andrew Whipple, of Cazenovia.

The Peruvian Ochre Company.—To manufacture paints in New York city. Capital, $30,000; and directors: E. P. Earle, Wm. Knappmann and Charles H. Smith, of New York city.

Bierds Sash, Door and Blind Co. of Brooklyn.—Capital, $19,000; and directors: Wm. H. Bierds, Isaac E. Jersey and Walter F. Clayton, of Brooklyn.

The Connolly Specialty Works.—To deal in plumbers' specialties in Brooklyn. Capital, $10,000; and directors: Calvin Detrick and John A Keohl, of Brooklyn, and Frederick Carragin, of New York city.

The Universal Pressed Steel Company.—To make articles of metal, wood and slate in New York city. Capital, $20,000; and directors: John Graves, Henry V. Vultee and Charlotte A. Vultee, of Brooklyn.

The Empire State Fencing Co. of Syracuse.—To grow and deal in hedge fences. Capital, $20,000; and directors: John H Duncan, of Silver Springs; Robert Stoddard and Frank R Eager, of Syracuse.

The City Fire Proofing Company of New York city.—To manufacture fire proofing materials. Capital, $5,000; and directors: G. W. Rader, Michael Schmidt and Charles A. Perry, of New York city.

BRICKS.—There are no radical changes to advise in situation on market for Common Hards, but on the whole affairs appear to shape up somewhat better than one week ago. The excess of accumulation then on hand has been worked off and while arrivals have since shown up pretty full they were met by a demand sufficiently liberal to prevent a bunching up of unsold cargoes again and a comparatively small quantity carried over from day to day. It is understood that now and then a load is taken to pile away, but as a rule the purchases are passed directly into consumption and that feature is calculated upon so long as the weather continues open. Quality remains up to the excellent average it has shown all the season and there is no reason to expect any deterioration. In matter of price, however, receivers cannot by the hardest kind of work get any further advantage, and while $5.37½ may possibly be retained for an extreme outside quotation the bulk of the business is from $5.25 down, covering some of the very best makes in the market. It is not unnatural that manufacturers should be grumbling over the price, but they are calculated upon to continue shipments so long as weather permits. Pales have been in pretty good supply and while they secured some custom buyers had most of the advantage with $2 quoted and 25@50c. less accepted, according to circumstances.

CEMENT.—There has been a very good general business during this fall. Pretty much all leading makers of domestic have found a place for their output just as soon as it was ready for market, and many of them were constantly sold ahead of production, with every reason to expect that trade will retain its volume until the creek closes. Imported goods have also been passing into hands of dealers and consumers with much freedom especially the brands of established reputation, and as the arrivals were not particularly plentiful the advantage to sellers proved quite satisfactory and supported full former rates.

LATH.—There have been arrivals from both Maine and the Provinces, and they found demand sufficient to keep the market in good form. Buyers cannot be said to show any great avidity, and it is the number of customers rather than the fullness of the amounts they want that keeps advantage upon the side of the sellers. Still, at this season it does not do for dealers to stand off too long, and there is chance for sudden broadening of call to stock up at any moment. As high as $2 has been seen on bills to country custom, but $1.90 is high enough to quote on cargo rate, although $1.85 now seems about an inside figure.

LIME.—Arrivals have been somewhat fuller than last week, but receivers as a rule claim that current demand fairly well offsets the offering and

WITH SUPPLEMENT.

THE return of the Treasury to the practice of issuing gold bars to exporters was doubtless occasioned by the fact that the forcing of coin on shippers entailed a larger amount of work upon the officials and not sufficient annoyance on the others to appreciably check gold exports. It may be taken, too, as an evidence that the Treasury is confident of its ability to replenish at any time the gold reserve and, therefore, feels that it is unnecessary to place any obstacles in the way of gold leaving the Sub-Treasuries. In the face of the large exports this week, the decline in stock market quotations is perfectly natural; anything else would have been suspicious. It is generally supposed that this movement will continue for some time longer and that its influence on prices will be maintained. So far, outside of a few Industrial stocks, the losses have not been great, and the circumstances which should check violent declines now and assist a substantial rise later on are existent just as much as they were a week ago, of which circumstances the October earnings of Northwest, showing an increase of nearly $890,000, are an example.

RETURNS for October of British imports and exports showed moderate expansion, which has been the feature of these statements for several months. They showed also that the United States had been a large buyer of British goods, with no improvement in the American position as a seller of wheat. There was a great falling off in the receipts of this cereal from the Argentines for the month, they being only about one-sixth of what they were in October, 1894, but Russia and India supplied the difference. One point in the policy outlined by the new French ministry is of particular interest in this country. It is that new measures will be asked for to defend the French farmers "against certain international speculations." That being taken to mean that increased duties will be put upon foreign produce, the first effects should be to raise the price of the articles against which the proposed measures are levied. In line with this matter are the demands of the Agrarian party in Germany, which, it is said, will play an important part in the coming parliamentary session. They are: A State monopoly for the imports of grain; duty free transit (bonded) warehouses; a warrant law specially suited to the agrarian views; an increase of the sugar export bounties; a close control of the import and sale of articles of food. Apropos of the panic in Vienna, where the decline in values in the recent shake-up was proportionately greater than at other centers, it is said that Austria has very few disreputable securities, has orderly finances and a well-regulated Budget, and if its agriculture is depressed, as is that of all the world, its industry is sound and ought to be successful. But, this notwithstanding, the Vienna bourse has been more subject to panic in the last two years than any other, presumably because Austrian and Hungarian banks have large amounts of capital tied up in land speculations and in industrial establishments which are not expected to make any return for some time to come. The direful anticipations of war which were so prevalent a short time ago seem to have reduced themselves to a fear that the Sultan of Turkey will continue unwilling or be unable to stop the disturbances in his dominions, and will meet any attempt of outside powers to force him to do so with armed resistance. The probabilities are, however, that the very difficult task of making him see that he cannot carry on his government in a way that shocks and disgusts the whole civilized world will ultimately be successful, or that he will, with the consent of the abler-minded of his own people, be deposed and another ruler put in his place who will permit the organization of a ministry of ability that can act with vigor and will give to his distressed subjects something like an orderly government and security, whatever their religious faith may be. The newspapers which have been so industriously and generously dividing up the Turkish possessions may lay away the new maps they have prepared, because they are not likely to be wanted, just yet at any rate. The Sultan's letter to Lord Salisbury, published this week, is an extraordinary evidence of weakness, but it shows not only where the pressure upon him on the Armenian question comes from, but also that it is felt.

THERE is a very important lesson to be drawn from one year's experience of a reformed administration—a lesson which is for the most part ignored by those who write about the matter in the newspapers. It is this: The activity of the business men, lawyers and public-spirited citizens generally who have headed the movement has been too exclusively political; it is not sufficiently administrative. They are very active roundabout election time, but in the interval between the elections, the time in which the battle is really won or lost, they leave reform to take care of itself. There is a tendency to let the whole burden fall upon the shoulders of the Mayor. Mr. Strong, just after he was elected, complained that he could not find any men among his prominent supporters who were willing to accept important administrative offices, and his appointments afford sufficient corroboration of his complaint. In the cases of the Police and Street Cleaning Departments the importance of the work to be done enabled him to secure the services of strong men; but nearly all the other salaried offices have been filled not by business men, but by politicians—men not different in kind from the politicians whom they superceded. Before any permanent reform can be achieved this must all be changed. Our committees of fifty and our various reform organizations must not consider their duties ended when they succeed at the polls; they must pervade all departments of the municipal government and give them a business in place of their present political atmosphere. There is a superstition abroad that a mayor provided with almost unlimited powers of appointment and dismissal can run the whole vast machine of departmental administration without any particular help from his political supporters. As a result of this superstition the Mayor has been endowed with duties so many and various that it would take the organizing ability and tireless energy of a Bonaparte properly to perform them. He has to make all the appointments; the heads of all the departments look to him for direction and advice; he sits on all the important Boards; he has a vast amount of political and social business to attend to; and finally the new constitution gives him power of veto over all city legislation passed at Albany. He is at once required to do everything and to be responsible for everything; and at the same time he is so handicapped in his appointments by political ties and lack of good material that he can rarely obtain proper subordinates. Is it any wonder that people find fault with him and that the machine is creaking harshly?

IT is all very well to have a responsible executive, but in the present case a responsible executive is merely an excuse for irresponsibility on the part of his supporters. This administrative irresponsibility has from the beginning been the curse of American municipal government. Business men have been so busy making money that they let the municipal administration all into the hands of politicians who had no interest in government except to make money. Others have made a business out of city politics very much more effectively than Mayor Strong can ever do. The time came when it was necessary for the good name of New York to destroy this lucrative trade. The reformers put in a man of their own choice; but it soon became apparent that the victory remained not with the reformers but with the politicians. It has been largely a process of substituting one kind of politician for another. Thorough-going, permanent reform can be based only in the collective responsibility of those men whose business talents are the sure basis of New York's industrial prosperity. The common councils of the English cities are composed almost entirely of the successful merchants chiefly interested in the welfare of the locality. Administration is carried on by committees of this council who occupy the same relation to the skilled employes in the departments as the board of directors of a railway occupy to its engineers and operating officials—that is the committee are the directors; they determine what is to be done, and the skilled employes do it. But our cities have been under the control of politicians for such a long time that our machinery has been adapted to government by politicians. The "honor" offices are few and unimportant; the departments are directed by heads whose duties are partly directive and partly operative—duties which require so much time that no one who wished to perform them competently could also conduct a large private business. Our charter reformers have attempted to remedy the matter by increasing the power of the Mayor over these officials; and their arguments to support the change were plausible. But is it not even more apparent that thus to give the Mayor unlimited authority does not in the least help matters. The Mayor is still dependent on the politicians to do his work for him. In other words, the Mayor is strong only so far as he is strengthened by those he represents. The large power which he wields is made useless by the conditions under which it is given. He cannot relieve the business men of New York of all administrative responsibility. They must help him not only at the polls but in the offices. His recent appointment of Park Commissioners give point to these remarks. Of the three commissioners only the head of the department is salaried; and even his duties are not so onerous that they could not be undertaken by a man otherwise actively engaged. Hence it is that these commissionerships have never been actively sought after by politicians; and hence it is they have always been filled by a better class of appointees than those in the other departments. Hence it is also that Mayor Strong has been able to fill them with men whose standing in the community is not merely political.

For a Revision of the Laws Relating to Buildings.

ON Tuesday evening last, a meeting was held in the Department of Buildings of representatives of a number of building trade societies to take up the matter of revising the laws relating to buildings, including the laws relating to light and ventilation and plumbing and drainage. An invitation had been extended not only to the associations named in the resolution offered at a meeting of the Board of Examiners in July last, but to many other associations invited personally by the Superintendent of Buildings. To these there has been added five other associations, so that the full number of societies expected to take part in the revision will be twenty-one, each being allowed three delegates or sixty-three men, besides several architects specially invited to take part in the work. The Superintendent of Buildings and the eight members of the Board of Examiners have to be included, and thus the number of persons expected to act as a Revision Committee number seventy-five or more. It seems as though this number of members is uselessly large, and likely to prove obstructive to rapid progress in the work, to say the least.

The meeting, by a unanimous vote, elected Superintendent Constable as permanent Chairman, Mr. William J. Fryer as Secretary, and Mr. Samuel McMillan as Treasurer. General Ewing, the attorney to the Building Department, was requested to act as counsel to the committee. Money to meet various expenses, such as printing and clerk hire will be needed, and a motion to make a preliminary assessment of fifty dollars on each society was laid over for action at the next meeting. Through Delegate Moore the large room of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters was tendered for the use of the Revision Committee, and this was accepted. It was decided to hold meetings in the afternoon of Monday and Friday of each week, commencing at the hour of 2 o'clock. The sessions will be open to the public, and any and every person who has any suggestion to make will be given an opportunity to be heard. Judging from past experience the meetings will extend over a period of many weeks. Probably the finished work will not reach the Legislature before next February or March. It remains to be seen how many of the goodly company who start in at the commencement of the revision will continue to the end, for the work demands much sacrifice of individual time and thought and study. The bringing together of twenty-one societies was due to a disagreement as to which should take part in the revision, and so it was finally decided to include nearly every society that could be thought of in connection with the construction of buildings, the supply of materials for buildings and the ownership of land upon which buildings are now or may hereafter be erected. Little chance will be left for any organized interest to say that it did not have an opportunity to take part in the formulating of laws affecting building, and after this revision is over there ought to be a cessation of fault-finding with such laws.

Recently a great deal has been read in the daily press about the need for a thorough revision of the building laws. The reform wave has beaten up against the building law, and from the highest official quarter the need for such revision has been publicly announced. People confound with the building law the tenement and lodging-house law passed by the last Legislature as a reform measure. Worse than this, the regulations of the Building Department are confounded with the building law. The building law authorizes the Superintendent of Buildings to make regulations for the inspection of passenger elevators and for the construction of fire-escapes. The tenement-house law authorizes the Superintendent of Buildings to make regulations for light and ventilation and for plumbing and drainage. It is against these regulations, against a lot of ridiculous requirements in the new tenement-house law, against the delays and annoyances experienced from the way the laws were administered by the Department of Buildings that the bitterest feeling exists. Against the building law proper there has been but very little expression of discontent from architects, builders and real estate owners. Unquestionably, the building law can be bettered, but is not this also true of every lengthy law on the statute books? A dozen changes in the building law—such as increasing the percentage allowed for openings in a wall, changing the single requirement of a fore and aft partition wall in the lowest story of an apartment house to one allowing the use of iron girders and columns, or iron beams of sufficient strength to span the distance between bearing walls; allowing fire-proof apartment houses a greater width between bearing walls than in similar buildings not fire-proof, and so on—would make the law entirely satisfactory to an overwhelming majority of persons interested. These men do not want the law upset. The present building law is the growth of the past thirty-five years. Its advance has been step by step, and these advances have been made by practical and competent men. Conceding that it needs some corrections, our building law stands as the model law of all the great cities of the world. Conservative views should control in the proposed work of revision, or else the last condition of the building interests will be worse than the first.

THE demand for new three and three-and-a-half-story houses as well as for small four-story American basement dwelling has been so well sustained on the West Side for two years or longer that it seems strange more of them have not been built. In many localities, of course, the high price of lots precludes their profitable erection, but there are a number of streets in which unsold four-story houses have been constructed on land of moderate cost when the smaller dwellings would have been the wiser speculation. The average builder is slow, however, in learning of changes of the public temper, and not unusually persists in following old lines regardless of past experience that tells of sales at or below cost. The ability to obtain a proportionately greater mortgage loan on the larger houses may have much to do with the disinclination shown to make a venture in the smaller ones. That the building of the latter pays, and sometimes handsomely, is evident from the quick sales that are from time to time reported, of entire rows, within a short period of their completion, and in some instances before it. A case in point was the purchase not long ago by a capitalist and speculator, with a penchant for newly-finished dwellings, of a three-story row of six at a price satisfactory to the builder. Within a month from the date of taking title he had received fifteen offers from as many would-be buyers, each of which would give a substantial profit. The demand was so great, in fact, as to lead to a stiffening of prices and the turning of the investment into a more profitable one than had been anticipated.

Rapid Transit.

The General Term of the Supreme Court has granted the application of the Rapid Transit Commissioners for the appointment of three commissioners to decide upon the proposed routes in lieu of the consents of adjoining property owners. The commissioners will be named when the order is signed. In rendering its decision the Court said: "We think that all the questions which have been raised on this application should wait for the final disposition and report of the Commission to be appointed. The Court will enter an order appointing Commissioners, in which shall be reserved all the right of the parties who have appeared, to be heard upon the coming in of the report upon the objections which have been presented on this application."

Mr. John T. Crimmins is quoted as saying, in explanation of the intentions of the Metropolitan Traction Company, that the city is to have a uniform system of street-car transportation (with electricity conveyed in underground conduits as a motive power), which will eventually include paralleling Broadway on the West and on the East below Union Square, with complete lines of surface cars to run all the way to Harlem and make better time than is possible in the great central thoroughfare. The idea comprehends in time the alteration of the Broadway plant itself from cable to electric power. The three parallel lines are to be one system so that the cars can be interchanged in the event of a block on any one of them.

Poor's Directory of Railway Officials.

We are in receipt of a copy of the newly-issued edition of Poor's Directory of Railway Officials and find it increased in value by the addition of much matter relating to railroad, traction and industrial corporations which has not appeared in this work before and nowhere with such completeness. Street railroads have special treatment which will be particularly useful to bankers and others who are interested in this class of investment. In the summary the following interesting information will be found: The total length of the street railway lines in the United States equals 13,176.38 miles, an increase of 3,514.32 miles over those in operation in 1891. Of this total, 13,176.38 miles, 409.40 miles are operated with steam dummies, 10,236.13 by electric power, 578.54 by cable and 1,950.31 by animal traction. The rapid substitutions of electric traction for animal power may be judged by the fact that since 1891 the number of horses employed in the street railway service has declined nearly 145,000, or about 71 per cent.

The City's Buildings.

The short address made by Mayor Strong at the Chamber of Commerce banquet was probably the one that most interested the building trade of New York City. He said, in referring to the bad condition of the city's buildings: "I'm going to run you in debt abouta couple of million dollars." He especially condemned the Tombs, the old Court House in City Hall Park and the charitable institutions.

The Commissioner of Public Works.

General C. H. T. Collis, it is announced, will be appointed Commissioner of Public Works in the place of Mr. Brookfield, who will shortly resign.

The New Tenement House.

The time has about come when the tenement houses built to comply with the provisions of the building law as amended by the last session of the Legislature will have to stand the test of the market. The obvious intention of the Tenement House Commission, whose wishes controlled this legislation, was to compel the erection of large tenements, and the architect who has to solve the problem of adapting the law to a twenty-five-foot lot is handicapped to a considerable extent by that fact. For instance, the difficulty of procuring light and ventilation for hallways is obviously less in a fifty or seventy-five-foot house than in a twenty-five-foot one. The area of lot to be covered, together with the minimum limit of cubic space required for any room, and the details of construction as respects air-shafts, make the task of securing the requisite number of rooms on the smaller lot a hard task. In houses built for the market, as in fact all houses are built with that idea in view for some period or other, the builders desire to make them as attractive to the eye as possible; this is especially the case as to entrances and hallways.

A visit to a tenement built under the old law for comparison just before inspecting one erected under the amended law will put the latter in disfavor, to the eye at least. Take the two-family houses of the cheapest construction on 25-foot lots, with apartments renting for from $12 to $16 a month, for instance, the vestibules have no disadvantageous dissimilarities. Each has the usual oak paneling and half-glass inner doors, etc. But so soon as the hall is entered the contrast is very strikingly in favor of the old style. In the latter the wooden wainscoting along the halls and up the stairways, the neat papering above and the light coming from the transoms over the doors and windows of the inner rooms, gives an appearance of respectable finish to the premises. This appearance is approved by tenants, who have filled these houses while leaving others, built on what may be called the "model" plan or stamped as "industrial," and carrying out the ideas of a commercial philanthropy, half empty. In the new houses, or the houses built under the provisions of the new law, this appearance is absent and an extremely formal one takes its place. The walls are plastered from ceiling to floor and the most that can be done with them is to paint the upper half and grain the lower in imitation of a wainscot. Yet these hall-walls are much more expensive than the others, instead of being merely lath and plaster with a wooden wainscot they have a brick filling with wire partitions front and back. Being intended for tenants paying the lowest rents for two-family tenements and built to compete with other tenements of that class, it would not pay to put in ornamental fire-proof wainscots, or even bases; paper down to the floor would not stand the wear and tear to which it would be subjected to, so that a painted hall-wall is the only alternative, apparently.

In the matters of light and ventilation also the old-time two-family tenement has greatly the advantage. Though the old cannot be said to be over-well lit in its middle stories, the new houses will probably have to burn gas on the second and third stories by day as well as night, because they lose the advantage of the light obtained in the former from the transoms and windows of the middle rooms, the light coming from the glass panel of the inner vestibule door, and the skylight over the stair-well does not reach these stories at all in any house of the class described. By reason, too, of the absence of transoms, the inner or private halls of the apartments are in total darkness when all the doors are closed. An important means of ventilating apartments, especially of the kitchens, was through the transoms; the tenant must now ventilate the kitchen through his living and sleeping rooms. It is true that now he can only ventilate through a shaft open to the air into the other apartments instead of through the hallways into the tenements above him. On the whole the advantages in this arrangement may preponderate in favor of the many. In the matter of transoms, some liberality is now being exercised by the Department of Buildings which was not shown in the first houses erected under the law of this year. Under some circumstances transoms are permitted, provided the door-casings and jambs are made fire-proof by an outer covering of tin. This, of course, allows only a doorway of very plain appearance. The double-swing door at the entrances of the several tenements may have the disadvantage of being swung outwardly when some one is passing and knocking the unfortunate some one down a flight of stairs. In order to make the inner room, usually alongside the air-shaft, of the required area and to meet the law as to air-shafts, both the latter and the room are made longer, which means, of course, a shortening of the front and rear rooms and a reduction in the width of the inner room. Each water-closet must have a window opening to the outer air. To do this it has in cases been found necessary to make the door open into the kitchen. The law says further that the floor of each water-closet must be made water-proof with asphalt, cement, tile, metal or some other material. The Department of Buildings has allowed this to apply to what it calls the "water-closet compartment," or under what would ordinarily be called the seat, and a stone slab having a very shallow indentation placed there. If the object is to prevent leakings draining through into the floors, the old plan of a lead floor turned up two inches was very much better, especially as the lead was worked up around the waste-pipe some inches, where now the space between the pipe and the slab has to be filled in with cement.

These are some of the differences produced between the old and new two-family houses by the new law. An architect who has had a very large experience in designing houses of all kinds for more than one family, while showing his recent work under the latest requirements, said that his greatest disappointment was that with an expenditure of $800 to $1,000 more he could not get a house that would show up as well as the older and cheaper one, and he feared that as a consequence building in this line would fall off. How far he is right remains to be seen. If the law continues to stand without modification, builders will be forced to build, especially those who have heavy investments in lots. Some modifications of construction may be obtained in any new building law that may be passed hereafter, that will remove the worst objections to recent requirements. If not, more attention may be directed to improvements on something larger than the ordinary lot. As to whether the new 25-foot two-family tenement will find as good a market as the old one, depends largely on the favor it finds with tenants. If the latter will put up with their inconveniences for the sake of a presumed increased immunity from fire, and any other advantage that can be claimed for the new construction, and will pay the rents a more expensive construction demands, buyers will not look so much to a moderately-increased price so long as the return is adequate. The cost of running the new tenement will be somewhat increased and this will have to be taken into account also. The new house is certainly not what the tenant has hitherto shown his preference for and there has naturally been more buyers for small properties than for large, which latter fact will, as it has always done, have its weight in restricting the dimensions of the houses built for the market. The building of large tenements would put them beyond the means of very many worthy people who now invest their savings in this class of property.

Harlem Creek and Pond.

The Court of Common Pleas, Equity Term, has just decided an interesting case, that of Adolf Green v. John R. Martinez Heruz, as executor, etc., et al. Judgment was given for return of deposit on a contract for sale of the premises No. 212 East 107th street, and expenses incurred in the examination of title, on the ground that the property in question had been sold for taxes and not redeemed prior to time of rejection of title. One of the points raised was that the premises were situated within the bounds of Harlem Creek and Mill Pond, the title to which did not vest in defendant grantors, but is vested either in the people of the State of New York or in the City of New York. This point was not sustained. In speaking upon it for the Court, Mr. Justice Bartlett said: "There would be no question here, if this creek had been merely a tideless stream flowing into the Harlem. The difficulty arises from the fact that it was a stream through which the tide from the Harlem River set back, so as to check the steady northerly flow of the creek which prevailed except when the tide was coming in, and broadened the creek at the place where these premises were situated, from 6 feet in width at low tide to a width of 200 feet at high tide. Did this set back of the tide, producing these effects, make the creek an integral part of the Harlem River? We think not. An inspection of the topographical map goes very far toward satisfying us on this point. It would seem very inaccurate for any one, using language in its ordinary sense, to speak of these premises, as shown on that map, as being situated on the Harlem River or any part of it. Naturally a person, endeavoring to describe their location in general terms, would say they were partly in the bed and partly on the shore between high and low water mark of a creek leading into the Harlem. There was nothing cove-like about this creek, even when the tide in it was high. The shore contours were those of a widened stream. The land in dispute was 898 feet from the main body of the Harlem River at high tide. It is difficult to perceive how the creek at this point could be of any value or importance to the City of New York in a commercial sense. The city was to be the seaport, says the Court of Appeals in Mayor vs. Hart (supra), and for this purpose its water front was to girdle the whole island, while the village (of Harlem) was meant for a rustic hamlet, whose inhabitants should own cattle rather than ships. But it does not seem to us that the portion of this creek upon which these premises were located, constituted any part of the water front thus spoken of in that case. The fact that the creek there has been filled up, and that a part of it is covered by the roadbed of 8th avenue, is pretty conclusive evidence that it was valueless for any use connected with shipping.

The Hudson River Bridge Approach.

The Sinking Fund Commissioners have intimated that they will approve the location of the easterly abutment of the proposed Hudson River Bridge only between the southerly side of West 59th street and the northerly side of West 60th street, a frontage of 320 feet. The law requires the location of the bridge approach to be approved by the New York State Bridge Commission, the Harbor Board and the Sinking Fund Commission. The first has approved the 69th-street site, which is the one wanted by the N. Y. & N. J. Bridge Co. because it would enable them to get lower grades to their proposed terminal at 42d street. The Harbor Board after hearing both sides postponed action until the Sinking Fund Commission should have passed upon the matter of site. The decision arrived at by the Sinking Fund Commission will meet the wishes of the West side property-holders and the New York Central Railroad Co. It now remains to be seen whether the Harbor Board will concur in the decision of the Sinking Fund Commission and whether the State Bridge Commission will change its view to meet it. All three must agree upon a site before the Bridge Co. can make their plans.

Proposed Amendment of the Building Law.

Arrangements were made on Tuesday evening last at a conference held at the rooms of the Employers' and Builders' League, No. 24 East 125th street, to take up the consideration of the present building law for New York City with a view to making suggestions for its amendment. At the invitation of the League committees have been appointed by various bodies interested in structural improvement in this city as follows: Real Estate Exchange, Richard Deeves, Thomas F. Murtha and Samuel McMillan; New York Real Estate Salesroom, Philip A. Smyth and D. Phœnix Ingraham; American Institute of Architects, New York Chapter, Hugh Lamb and A. J. Bloor; Building Trades' Club, William S. Miller and Alfred G. Nason; Real Estate Owners' and Builders' Association, B. Muldoon; North Side Board of Trade, Charles M. Stoughton and Albert E. Davis; North Side Alliance, A. J. Pierson; Architectural League, the secretary, George Keister. Of the gentlemen named Messrs. Keister and McMillan were absent from the meeting of Tuesday, but sent letters of regret. Besides those named there were present John P. Leo, President of the Employers' and Builders' League; Alexander Walker, Warren C. Dickerson and John Pfyfe. The meeting resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, with Richard Deeves as chairman, John P. Leo, vice-chairman, Hugh Lamb, treasurer, and Charles A. Dubois, secretary. A sub-committee consisting of Judson Lawson (chairman), Alexander A. Jordan, builders; Thomas F. Murtha and Henry A. Himmelman, attorneys; Hugh Lamb and Clarence True, architects, was appointed to arrange the preliminary work. It will issue a circular to architects and builders of New York asking for suggestions. When the business of the evening had been completed the Committee of the Whole took an adjournment until Monday evening next, when it is anticipated there will be a full attendance of the representatives of the institutions and societies which have appointed committees. The sub-committee met yesterday and arranged a plan of action, which will be reported to the parent committee on Monday evening.

Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

The dinner to celebrate the 110th year of the foundation of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of New York City, which took place at the Hotel Brunswick on Monday evening, was, it need hardly be said, a great success. About two hundred and forty members and their friends sat down to a costly banquet served on tables tastefully decorated with roses, chrysanthemums, ferns, fruits and palms. Warren A. Conover, the president of the society, presided, and had with him as guests of honor Comptroller Ashbel P. Fitch, Hon. Roswell G. Horr, the Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, Andrew Carnegie, Edward H. Kendall, the Rev. Dr. Abraham J. Palmer and Silas B. Dutcher. Other tables had at their heads each a member of the Committee of Arrangements which was composed of: Stephen M. Wright, the ever popular secretary of this as of other societies; Richard T. Davis, George E. Hoe, William Stoneback, Charles T. Galloway, David W. Ball, Theodore W. Morris, Robert Christie, John M. Mossman, Erskine Vanhouten, Augustus Meyers, Richard A. Storrs and Edwin F. Galloway. A number of eloquent addresses were delivered by Mr. Conover and the well-known men who sat at his table, dealing with the history of the society and the useful, honorable and patriotic course it has pursued undeviatingly during its long life. Letters of regret were received from Governors Morton and McKinley, Ex-Mayor Hewitt, Seth Low, George B. Post, Chauncey M. Depew and Mayor Strong. The presence or ladies at the tables added a charm and grace too commonly absent from festivals of this kind.

Obituary.

Wilson H. Blackwell, who for many years had made a specialty of appraisals in the northern section of the city, and also the purchase and sale of Westchester suburban property, died on Tuesday after an illness that first afflicted him about a year ago on the failure of the real estate firm of which he was a member. The deceased was best known in connection with his transactions in land at Pocantico Hills, Tarrytown, and building lots in that suburb, and a few years ago was the owner of extensive property interests there.

Personal.

The success and stability of all important modern buildings depend so much upon the engineer, and recent events have emphasized the importance of securing in their construction the best engineering advice that capitalists who contemplate building investments are doubtless anxious to obtain information of the men who are qualified to give it. In this connection we draw attention to the card of Mr. John F. O'Rourke, which appears for the first time in this issue. Mr. O'Rourke's address is No. 44 Broadway. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and has had twenty years' experience, during which he has been employed on some of the most important works in the country, notably the Poughkeepsie bridge. He has more recently made a study of skeleton construction, which includes foundations and all agencies for carrying weights and bearing strains, and as a result is enjoying a constantly increasing confidence among builders as an expert in that department.

New Houses Approaching Completion.

Builder John C. Umberfield is at work on nine four-story and basement dwellings with frontages ranging from 21.6 to 25 feet, and together covering a plot 207.6 feet front on the north side of 86th street, 250 feet west of Central Park West. The end houses are of brownstone and have circular bays, the two adjoining each end have straight bays and are of brownstone and brick, while the three in the centre of the group are of brownstone and have circular bays. Some of the stoops are straight and others are of the box design. They will be ready for occupancy about Christmas time.

On the same block, about 135 feet east of Columbus avenue, Builder C. W. Luyster has five high-class houses well advanced, and has commenced excavating for two others on adjoining lots. The five houses are each 25 feet wide, the material in the end houses being red limestone with brick to match, and the three inside houses of white limestone and brick. On Monday Mr. Luyster sold the last of his row on West 76th street.

Builder A. B. Kight will soon complete two four-story American basement houses on Riverside Drive, north of 81st street. The fronts are of brownstone of attractive design. The houses are each 20 feet wide, one is 62 feet deep with a three-story extension, and the other 68 feet deep with four-story extension, lots 100 feet. Mr. Kight a few weeks ago completed and sold two American basement houses on 76th street, near the Drive.

Builders Platt & Marie are finishing for Mrs. Olivia P. Hoe, six American basement houses on the south side of 86th street, 150 feet east of Amsterdam avenue. The fronts are of brick and limestone, three are 23 feet and three 17 feet wide. One of the six is marked sold and two or three rented. The same builders are completing six houses of the same kind on the north side of 79th street, 100 feet east of the Boulevard. Four are 17 and two 16 feet wide. Two of the six have already been sold.

Daniel Hennessy is putting the finishing touches to two large houses on East 82d street, between Madison and 5th avenues, adjoining four houses of the same kind completed some months ago, of which latter one has been sold. The houses are finished in the most complete manner.

APARTMENT HOUSES.

David Steinfeld is completing an attractive group of three apartment houses and stores at the northeast corner of 7th avenue and 123d street on a plot 100.11x125. The fronts are of red Roman brick and brownstone. The corner is seven stories high, 60x101x105, with two stores and one apartment on the ground floor and suites of seven and eight rooms and bath on the other floors. This house has an elevator, electric light, mail chute, besides all other features of a first-class apartment house. Adjoining on the avenue is a five-story two-family house with two stores, 40.11x95, plot 105, and on 123d street a five-story single flat, 20x90, lot 100 feet. All the houses are steam heated and are finished in hard woods, oak and birch being used in the parlors and dining-rooms and ash in the bedrooms. Open plumbing, tiled bath-rooms, porcelain and porcelain-lined tubs are features of the houses. The single flat will be ready about December 1st, the double flat about a fortnight later and the corner house about Christmas. The call for apartments has been such as to indicate that the houses and stores will be quickly tenanted.

The Labor Troubles in the Building Trades.

The Housesmiths' and Bridgemen began their strike, as previously announced, but limited its action to the work of J. B. & J. M. Cornell and Milliken Bros. The strikers claim that this brought out about 1,000 men, but the actual number is much less, probably by twenty or twenty-five per cent. The buildings affected were—J. B. & J. M. Cornell's contracts: Hotel Waldorf annex, Commercial Building, Broadway and Waverley place; Pyle Building, King street, near West; building at Broadway and 28th street on the site of the old Brower House; power-house, East 25th and 26th streets; Roosevelt Hospital annex, West 59th street, near 9th avenue; Hearn Building, West 14th street; Vanderbilt Clinic, 60th street and Amsterdam avenue; Lord's Court Building, William street and Exchange place; buildings at Leonard street and Broadway, No. 179 Wooster street, Broadway and Ann street and Broadway and Prince street. Contracts of Milliken Bros.: Siegel-Cooper Building, 6th avenue, 18th and 19th streets; buildings at Spring and Varick streets, Broadway and 28th street, 12th street and 3d avenue, and some small jobs in Brooklyn.

From day to day statements have been made by the contestants to place their several positions before the public, the value of public sympathy is thus recognized by both and it is very important, therefore, that all the facts should be given as fully and as accurately as possible. As stated before, the ostensible reason for the strike is the refusal of the employers to grant an all-round increase of 50 cents a day to the different classes of men admitted to the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union. The representatives of this union, in response to a circular put out by the Iron League, and given later on, say they are not fighting for the cause that existed previous to 1891, as many employed before that time are dead. Thirty-eight members of the Iron League, it says, expressed themselves in favor of an agreement, but appeared to be waiting to hear what Mr. Cornell would do. Mr. Cornell is charged with being a "great obstructionist." Regarding the statement of the League, that they are willing to treat with the men individually. The union circular says: When a committee of three waited upon the members of the league from the Bolkenhayn flats they were told that if they did not like the salary they received they could look elsewhere for a position. The statement also says that during the business depression the housesmiths submitted to a reduction of 25 per cent. in wages, which was to be restored when trade increased, but when trade began to boom the wages remained the same. The reason given for the selection of the Cornells and the Millikens for attack is that they are paying less than the other iron firms. Arbitration has been offered by the State Board of Arbitration and by Bishop Potter, and has been refused by the employers. It can be stated definitely that there is very little, if any, chance for this dispute to be arbitrated.

On Tuesday last the Iron League issued the following statement:

NEW YORK, Nov. 19, 1895.

To whom it may concern:

The Iron League, by its Executive Committee begs to state that for many years previous to 1891 the iron manufacturers of this city and vicinity had agreements with the Housesmiths' Union and were practically in the hands of said union, and at the mercy of the whims and caprices of their representative—the walking delegate. It was only after long suffering and continued abuse that the iron manufacturers in 1891 organized what is known as the Iron League, one of whose objects is to encourage the good, ambitious and moral workmen, as against the vicious and indolent.

In 1891 a strike was organized and put in operation against the Iron League for a working day of eight hours instead of nine, without any proportionate reduction of wages, and although a committee of the Housesmiths' Union practically accepted the liberal offers made to the employees, the union refused to confirm the action of their own committee and ordered a strike. The Iron League was obliged to act on the defensive and defeated the strike.

Again, in 1893, the Housesmiths' Union organized a strike against one of our members to force him to employ union men only. This strike was also defeated. Our league has always taken the ground that it cannot discriminate against any man whether he be union or non-union.

The present strike of the United Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union is ostensibly for an increase of wages, but in reality is to force our members to employ only members of their union. This we cannot do under any circumstances, as very many of our men refuse to become members of any union, and are very well satisfied as they are. We are also reliably informed that the majority of our men are not in sympathy with the present movement, and are in many cases acting under coercion. We wish it distinctly understood that the Iron League has and will always reserve the right to employ whom it pleases, and will not discriminate against any one.

In the matter of wages, the Iron League voluntarily and without any solicitation on the part of its workingmen on the 1st of May last gave those employed on buildings outside eight hours as a working day instead of nine hours, without any decrease of wages, being practically an advance of eleven per cent; and at the same time stated publicly that no other advance could be made. The members of this league hold themselves ready at all times to discuss any questions of this kind with their employees as individuals.

Regarding the statement made in the public press that the two members struck against are not paying current wages, the Executive Committee will state that they have investigated this charge and find that it is not true; our workmen are paid according to merit and ability, and encouragement will be given at all times to deserving men.

Further, members of the iron trade say that it is not a fact that Cornells and Millikens pay their men less than other employers of similar labor. The ordinary scale of wages is practically the same throughout the city. Every firm makes exceptions from the scale in individual cases by increasing the rate of pay for merit. There has been an attempt, too, to create the impression that the employers are not in harmony, and it has been charged against the Jackson Architectural Iron Works that it is shirking its responsibility and leaving the Cornells and Millikens to make the fight alone. In reference to this matter, Mr. John Cooper said yesterday: "I presume operations were opened up against Cornells because a larger proportion of their men can be reached by the union, and the fact that Mr. J. B. Cornell is president of the Iron League may have had something to do with it. Probably one of the reasons why they do not attack us is that they were so thoroughly thrashed in their last fight, which was first directed against us. They want to create divisions among the employers as well as to encourage their own men, and this may account for the statement regarding us. I can say as a matter of fact that there was never a time in the history of the iron trade when the employers were more in harmony than the present. They are firmly determined that the matter must be fought out to its true issue if it takes a year to do it. The Jackson Works, as members of the League, stand ready at any time to assist the Cornells when the occasion warrants it. Any statement to the contrary is false. We recognize that our interests are entirely one in this matter. The ordinary workman cannot seem to understand that, while large firms will enter into keen competition to obtain contracts, they are entirely harmonious when it comes to the right to conduct their business in their own way."

The Iron League consists of twenty-seven firms. A meeting called on Monday when the strike began was largely attended, and the Executive Committee was given full power in the premises without a dissentient vote, and after the matter had been fully discussed and every one present understood the situation and its responsibilities. Milliken Brothers were made members of the League at this meeting, but it is denied that they entered it because of the strike. It is said their application was filed last spring and passed upon by the Executive Committee before the strike took place. J. B. & J. M. Cornell gave notice yesterday to their men now on strike that unless they returned to work on Monday the firm would be obliged to fill their places. Messrs. Cornell say they have hitherto made no effort to supply the places of their former employees, but anticipate no difficulty in doing so. This notice will doubtless force the fighting. It is when non-union men are employed that the strength and sympathy of other unions are displayed, and threats are made from union headquarters of calling out in this event 20,000 to 25,000 men.

Besides the strike of the iron men there are other troubles in the building trades. The steam-fitters have struck for car fare of ten cents for any distance over a mile between the shops and the jobs. There is a threatened renewal of the dispute between the electrical workers and their bosses; the carpenters' unions are trying to boycott all trim not made in New York City. The plumbers are intermittently raising disputes with their employers. These are independent and not sympathetic movements. Whether they will take the form of combined action to influence the employers in the several lines, or whether they will have the result of compelling the employers to act together the near future will determine. It is certain, however, that there is a very anxious time ahead for the building trades in the opinion of thoughtful and conservative members thereof.

Park Avenue Property-Owners.

The Park Avenue Property-Owners Protective Association met at No. 1802 Park avenue, on Tuesday evening last, and enrolled fourteen new members. Dr. R. J. Stanton, of No. 221 East 116th street, was elected secretary to fill the unexpired term of O. H. Pieck, deceased. A vote was taken to ascertain whether or not the members wanted rapid transit on Park avenue in any form, under ground or over, and it resulted against it on Park avenue above 98th street. They were, however, desirous of rapid transit. Property-owners interested who desire to assist the objects of this association should communicate with Wm. A. Soles, president, of No. 1691 Park avenue, or the secretary, whose address has been previously given.

Our Illustration.

The attention of our readers is directed to the illustration, in this issue, of the handsome main hall of the new Hoffman House, the very artistic decoration of which was executed by the well-known firm of James T. Hall & Co., of Nos. 131 and 133 West 18th street. This piece of work has received much admiration on account of the de li cacy of its detail and its richness of general effect. It is one of the most decidedly artistic successes in the city.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer in your next issue: (1) Whether I can show a new invention to any party without having filed for a patent? (2) Also tell me how this invention can be secured.

Answer.—(1) Yes. (2) Employ a patent lawyer and have him obtain a patent for you.—LAW EDITOR.

BROKERS' COMMISSIONS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please favor me with the answer to the following. I have rented a factory for two years, with privilege of three years more. What commission am I entitled to? By publishing this in your next issue you will greatly oblige.

Answer.—You are not entitled to any extra commission for the three years' option.—LAW EDITOR.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A agrees to exchange a house with B for out of town property; owing to lack of description of property could not draw up contract. A calls the attention of two parties as witnesses that they both agree to make the exchange and to meet the following day to pass title. B is on hand at stated time ready to pass title. A sends a letter saying he refuses to make the exchange. Is the broker entitled to his commission from A?

Answer.—Yes.—LAW EDITOR.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly decide the following in your next issue and if possible give authorities: A broker leases a house for three years with the option of purchase at any time during term, at a given figure, receiving his commission for said lease. At the expiration of term the lessee buys the house. Is the broker entitled to commission on the sale? No mention was made in lease of broker receiving a commission in event of sale.

Answer.—No.—LAW EDITOR.

DIVIDING COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Would you kindly answer the following question in your next issue? We are two partners. One of us got particulars of a house from another broker, but as he came back to office found out that the other partner had particulars of same house already, in fact had it before building was finished. At that time we were not in partnership. I saw broker same day and told him that my partner had particulars already. I did not make any agreement with him except on the day he gave me the house, he says, we'll divide, but notified him as soon as I knew my partner had it. He also said it would be bought for $40,000, but it has been sold through us for $41,000. Is that broker entitled to any commission?

Answer.—No.—LAW EDITOR.

CONDEMNATION NOTICE TO QUIT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Wish to ascertain through the medium of your worthy paper: I have, on January 1, 1895, leased extensive parts of two adjoining buildings for a term of ten years. Three months ago I noticed in your paper an announcement that Judge Beekman had appointed three commissioners to appraise the property on which I hold the above-mentioned lease. Now the question is how long a notice to quit the premises will the city have to give me? Am I entitled to the usual six months' notice? There is a technical clause in the lease; that is, I must pay my rent on the first day of each solar month. I manufacture hardware in said premises and employ twenty-five men, and have a lot of bulky machinery which will require time to move after I have found proper quarters. (2) Must, or am I bound, to pay the covenanted rent to my lessor for the remaining nine years? As I understand there is absolutely no evasion, but the city must compensate me.

Answer.—There is no statutory length of notice. No doubt reasonable notice will be given to you. (2) No.—LAW EDITOR.

SALE FALLS THROUGH.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly answer the following in your next issue: A, a prospective buyer, comes to B, a broker, to buy a piece of property. B shows him a piece which he likes and A makes him an offer. B sees C, the owner, and submits the offer which A made. C refuses same, and B notifies A to that effect. A tells B that he will keep his offer open. C finally accepts A's offer. A then backs out. Can B sue A for his commission?

Answer.—He has no good cause of action against A.—LAW EDITOR.

LANDLORDS AND TENANTS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

If a tenant takes a house under a lease in which it is stated that the landlord can enter upon and take possession and remove the tenants and his effects on non-payment of rent on the dates due, can a tenant avoid continuing an irksome lease and get free by declining to pay rent when due, and so forcing the landlord to ejectment proceedings? In the case in hand the tenant is perfectly able to pay the rent, but wishes to throw up the lease, which naturally the landlord does not desire him to do. It would seem, if this is legally possible, that it gives a tenant an opportunity to back out of his lease at any time, while the landlord has no such opportunity. How can the landlord compel him to pay the rent without ejecting him and losing the rent for the unexpired time of lease?

Answer.—If the tenant is perfectly responsible the landlord's remedy is to sue him for the rent.—LAW EDITOR.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Can a tenant decline to pay rent on account of there being a leak which the landlord has used every effort to correct and which has involved no serious inconvenience or damage? Can he use it as an excuse to withdraw from a five years' lease which, owing to a change of his plans, he wishes to throw up? By refusing to pay rent on this or any other account how can the landlord secure his rent? Has the landlord any way of keeping him bound for the balance of the term and suing him for the rent, or must he resort to the usual ejectment provision of the lease and give up further claim for rent for the balance of the term?

Answer.—The tenant must pay his rent, and if he does not do so the landlord may sue him for it.—LAW EDITOR.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The following covenant is in a lease: "The said tenants further covenant to keep the buildings on said premises, together with the plumbing and heating arrangements, wind-mill, etc., in good order and repair at their own cost and expense, and shall employ artisans approved by the landlord." The lease runs for five years. In the opinion of the lessor the tin work of roofs and valleys and some exterior painting should be done for the proper preservation of the premises. Is it not right that the tenants should do this, and how can the lessor compel them to?

Answer.—He cannot compel them to do this work. He can only sue them on their covenant for damages for their failure to do it.—LAW EDITOR.

EXECUTOR'S ACCOUNTING.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly answer the following question? A dies leaving a will appointing B and C as executors. Several years have passed since A's death. B and C seem to be in no way anxious to settle affairs. How can they be compelled to hurry a settlement, or to give some information as to the progress of a settlement?

Answer.—Present a petition to the Surrogate of your county and have them cited to render their account.—LAW EDITOR.

On account of the proposed Elm street improvement, extensive alterations will be made to the Puck Building—the present Houston street front will be removed about 40 feet from westerly point of said front. On Jersey street, about 2 feet will be taken out to form proposed lines for new Elm street front. The latter will have to be rebuilt throughout—extending 250 feet along the new street, and will be of the same height as present building—namely nine stories in Jersey street and seven stories on Houston street, of same style and construction as present front on Houston street. The principal entrance, with passenger elevator service and stairs, will be located in centre section of Elm street front. The interior main party wall on Houston street section has to be taken out entirely on account of the change, and new floor beams, girders and columns will have to be substituted. The entire light court walls will have to be removed and new fire-proof floor sections on every story constructed. An enormous amount of shoring and bracing will be necessary to secure and support the exposed floor sections throughout the extent of new front and interior sections. The approximate cost of alterations cannot be calculated on account of the unusal problems involved in this work. The owners may finally decide to have it finished throughout by day's work.

Hopper, No. 217 West 125th street, lessee, will add one story to the present one-story building and make interior alterations; cost, about $8,000. This operation will be similar to that which the Twelfth Ward Savings Bank, of which Mr. Hopper is president, will make on the adjoining plot, for which plans were filed yesterday.

R. 3219.—Twenty-eighth street and Lexington avenue, southeast corner; Louis G. Rollwagen, No. 115 Lexington avenue, owner; Charles Rentz, No. 153 4th avenue, architect. Real Estate Notes.

A newspaper bugbear for realty owners received its quietus by being ignored at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Underwriters on Thursday, when the subject of raising insurance rates was not even mentioned.

The scramble of the last few weeks by builders, experienced or otherwise, to acquire lots on and near Amsterdam avenue, south of 108th street, is suggestive of the annual eleventh hour hustling by owners of inferior race horses for what are called "winter oats" at the second-class running tracks.

The Board of Directors of the Real Estate Exchange at a special meeting on Tuesday declared a dividend of 1¼ per cent on the capital stock of $500,000. Treasurer Alfred E. Marling's report showed a balance of $7,569.69, after providing for the interest on the mortgage of $73,000. The payment of the dividend will leave a balance to be carried over of $1,329.69.

"Offices, $5 to $20 per month; steam heat and elevator," is a sign displayed on a centrally located building on the line of one of the "L" roads that was devoted to other than office use before the Parkhurstian era. The rates are low, even if the building is nearer 8th than Houston street, but if rumor is correct it has a rival in one of the downtown sky-scrapers wherein 'tis said offices of small area are being leased at $10 per month to discreet tenants who can be trusted not to announce the fact along the highways and byways most frequented by renting agents.

Reform is a good thing in its way when applied to cities or communities, but it is hardly fair to entail the greater part of its cost on real estate owners. Nevertheless they have eventually to bear large losses when laws are suddenly enforced after having been treated as dormant for long periods. Owners of property in certain sections of the city were compelled to stand the brunt of the crusade of two years ago against vice and licentiousness, but their number was small when compared with those who are now affected by the strict enforcement of the excise law. Incomes from many of the buildings with saloons on ground floors have dwindled in some instances to an amazing extent, and in others have become so uncertain as to greatly diminish property values. The great majority of tenants of that class having been improvident when business was profitable now find themselves unable to both make a living and pay the landlord. The latter is naturally averse to taking chances with a new tenant, especially when his rent had formerly been paid promptly for years by the lessee in default, and as has become very frequently the case, decides to grin and bear the ill-luck, accepting in the meantime such sums as can be spared from the lessened saloon profits.

The plot with two three-story tenements on the northeast corner of Gouverneur and Henry streets, about 39.6x66.5, was sold under foreclosure on Thursday, the 14th inst., for $27.000 to Josiah Adler. On the same day two deeds of the property were recorded, one by Charles L. Guy, referee, to Samuel H. Stone for $27,000, the auction price, and the other by Stone to Josiah Adler, giving the consideration as $40,000 Adler mortgaged the property for $30,000 at 5 per per cent. to the Greenwood Cemetery, the instrument being recorded on the same day as shown by last week's RECORD AND GUIDE. The houses together rent for about $1,500, and they are located in a block which the city authorities have taken the first steps to acquire as a site for school purposes. Two questions present themselves. Why did the cemetery corporation loan the sum stated on the property, and what effect will the consideration of $40,000 have on the ertimate of value to be presented by the city's Commissioners of Estimate? It may be interesting, in connection with the foregoing, as a pointer on values in the neighborhood, to refer to the sale of the block front on Scammel street, extending from Grand street to East Broadway, size 25x93.2, by the Astor estate for $30,000, as shown by this week's filings.

Although transactions in down-town property have lately been few in number it is the exception to find a broker who does not hint at a big deal involving one or more business parcels which he is confident of bringing to a successful issue. It is natural for a broker to have great expectations and, in truth, without that faculty he would be unable to obtain recognition or conduct a business of any consequence. The big deals referred to are, however, in most instances unlikely to show much progression despite the attention they receive, and it is safe to say that nine-tenths of them will be abandoned as hopeless and forgotten by their promoters before next spring. The chief difficulty in the way of important sales is one that is due to the actions of the brokers themselves in showing for months past too great an anxiety to meet the desires of clients having money to invest, and thereby instilling into the minds of owners false ideas of the value of their holdings. Instances have been known of a would-be buyer having through one broker met with a refusal to sell at a stated price calling to his aid a second and even a third broker, and in each case endeavoring to buy at a sum larger than the offer preceding it. Three propositions to buy from as many brokers, and each one at an advance, even when not made in the interest of the same person, as has frequently been done, are enough to set any owner thinking, and the result has been the withdrawal from the market of many properties that ordinarily would have changed hands and at full figures. Complaint is made as well by some firms that information of prospective down-town sales under negotiation has been taken advantage of by rival brokers who succeeding in convincing a customer that a quick and profitable turn could be made, have submitted in his behalf an offer to purchase at a greater price than the one being entertained and thereby caused the owner's estimate of values to become so inflated that he refused to consider any further propositions to purchase.

The average operator is a man of many devices, and his guiding principle in the application of some of them that might not stand the test of justice seems to be that all is fair, not only in love or war, but also in all matters affecting real estate. A story that will serve to illustrate the peculiar methods at times adopted is told of a member of a sort of family syndicate that has figured prominently in the market for some time back. He was a few months ago the owner of a house and full lot on one of the wide streets uptown, and for a time had been the unsuccessful bidder on a similar property adjoining. Probably convinced that he could not make the desired purchase, he sold his property with a loan to a builder, who proceeded to tear down the house preparatory to improving the lot by erecting a mercantile building. Then the adjoining owner, realizing his mistake, came to terms, a sale was made without delay, and a second one to the builder, which would enable him to erect a more imposing structure on the 50-foot plot. All of the second house was occupied except the top floor, and to the operator's surprise the tenants declined his offers of reasonable compensation for removing to other quarters and elected to stand on their rights as tenants until the 1st of May next under verbal agreements of lease with the former owner. The delaying of the building project until that date meant a loss of time and money, and how to prevent it gave the second owner severe mental exercise for a few days. One morning, however, the tenants of the house were astonished to see stop at their door a shabby-looking wagon filled with a remarkable assortment of nondescript furniture and disreputable-looking housekeeping articles. The builder was on hand to receive it, and directed the negro driver and his helper to carry the noisome contents to the vacant top floor. They no sooner had their task well under way than a woman of ebony hue arrived accompanied by several pickaninnies of various sizes, and under the builder's guidance took possession of the rooms. The other occupants of the house were filled with consternation, and that evening held a consultation that ended without a legal remedy being suggested. Visits to lawyers on the following day proved futile as the owner had done nothing that he was not privileged to do. The next week was a merry one in the former mansion, at least for the pickaninnies. They were to be found everywhere. on the front stoop, in the halls, on the stairs of every floor, and in nearly every nook and corner, and the tale of Dinah's luck having been circulated among her acquaintances they felt called upon to visit and congratulate her at the rate of eight or ten a day. Not very long after the arrival of the new tenant the lessees of the lower floors concluded to move, and the wisdom of the operator's tactics was demonstrated when finally the builder and his colored coadjutors found themselves in undisturbed possession. It is perhaps needless to add that the new building is at present in such a promising condition that it will doubtless be finished before May 1, the date first elected by the departed tenants for their moving.

Real Estate Market.

Less than $2,000,000 represents the aggregate investment reported for the week by private contract. The selling seems to invariably fall off after a good week's business, such as was accomplished previous to last Saturday. The most recent transactions involve property of every class but show a continued preference for investments in unimproved land much of which is certain to be built upon before many months have gone by. Broadway property having apparently had its day the speculative centre is now the triangular section north of the Worth Monument at Broadway and 25th street, extending between that thoroughfare and 5th avenue to 34th street. Sales of parcels therein have become very frequent and the prices usually obtained are high ones. The supply of former dwellings within that area that have not already been converted into business buildings is limited, but despite that fact the opinion of a large majority of the best informed brokers is that the natural enhancement of values that might accrue in the next ten years has been discounted by many of the recent over-anxious buyers.

An uneventful week in both auction rooms ended yesterday. The attendance except on Wednesday showed a decided decrease from that of last week and was doubtless caused by the unattractiveness of the properties listed as offerings. The foreclosure announcements embraced an unusually uninteresting assortment, and with the exception of a Hudson street corner sold by Hall J. How & Co. on Thursday, commanded little attention. Sales of a voluntary character held on Wednesday only, at the Broadway Salesroom, furnished the opportunity of the week for speculative purchases. Among the parcels sold was the southwest corner of 72d street and Lexington avenue, by order of the executrix of the estate of the late ex-Sheriff John J. Gorman by Auctioneer W. M. Ryan. It was bought by D. L. Phillips, of L. J. Phillips & Co., for ex-Mayor Nolan of Albany, whose brewing interests will probably lead him to convert the lower part of the house into a saloon. The price obtained, $44,700, was an excellent one.

On Tuesday, Hall J. How & Co. withdrew from foreclosure sale a plot of three lots on the north side of 84th street, 70 feet west of Madison avenue. Wednesday's adjournments were of a parcel on Lorillard street, south of 188th street, by Strong & Ireland, and a plot fronting on the Hudson River and Northern avenue by Philip A. Smyth, each until December 4th. The last-named auctioneer withdrew on the same day, No. 135 East 71st street on a bid of $21,200, and a residence and grounds at Tompkinsville, S. I., on which the final offer was $8,900. W. M. Ryan withdrew Nos. 428 to 434 and No. 438 East 66th street, the latter on a bid of $15,300, five out of a row of seven tenements, two of which were sold.

On Thursday, Bryan L. Kennelly adjourned to December 12th a sale of an interest in No. 270 South street. William Kennelly withdrew Nos 702 to 710 East 159th street, and adjourned to December 5th sales of Nos. 1881 to 1887 1st avenue, corner of 97th street, and a plot on the northwest corner of Bradhurst avenue and 148th street. Yesterday Bryan L. Kennelly sold under foreclosure for the second time Nos. 231 and 233 West 61st street, the buyer at the first sale, held on September 23d, having failed to comply with the terms.

At the Real Estate Exchange on Tuesday Richard V. Harnett & Co. withdrew four lots on the west side of Park avenue, 25.2 north of 95th street, for which $8,400 each was the highest offer, and on Thursday Geo. R. Read withdrew No. 121 East 58th street, in consequence of no reasonable bid being made for the property.

Peter F. Meyer will sell at auction a valuable plot of 24th Ward lots on Tuesday next, the 26th inst. The lots are fourteen in number and make up the west block front of Cambreling avenue, between 187th and Bayard streets. The place of sale is the Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, where also is the auctioneer's office, at which maps and details can be obtained. The region beyond the Harlem is undergoing very rapid development and advantageous purchases of lots made now are sure to pay.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell at auction at the Real Estate Exchange, No. 59 Liberty street, on Tuesday next, the 26th inst., the dwelling and lot No. 79 West 115th street, and the dwelling, No. 150 East 33d street, with building in rear, etc., and large plot. Maps and full particulars can be had at Nos. 71 and 73 Liberty street.

Bryan L. Kennelly has a number of attractive city parcels which he will offer from his stand in the Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, on Wednesday of the coming and of the next following week. On the first of these days, the 27th inst., the offerings will consist of No. 7 East 48th street, a four-story basement and cellar brownstone dwelling in perfect order and completely fitted; No. 30 East 21st street, a four-story brownstone dwelling, within 225 feet of Broadway and in a rising business section; No. 250 West 73d street, a four-story Jersey brick and brownstone residence, with three-story extension, handsomely trimmed and decorated and located within half a block of six lines of street railways, one block of Broadway cars and two blocks of the elevated railroad station at 72d street. These materials are intended for general use everywhere and in all kinds of buildings. The company is a strong one. Among those interesied are J. Roger Maxwell, President of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and of the Atlas Cement Company, and Mr. J. Berre King, allied with whom are several well-known Boston capitalists who own the valuable patents under which the company will operate. The brick to be manufactured by this company will be specially suited for the fronts of buildings and for underground work. They are guaranteed to be perfectly hydraulic. Already they are specified for the Commercial Cable Building of which Harding & Gooch will be the architects, and for the Canal street sewer by William B. Parsons. H. Benson, whose card will be found on another page, is an experienced framer of buildings, having been engaged in that business for twelve years, in the course of which time he has made many friends who bear testimony to the good character of his work. His address is No. 725 Columbus avenue.

Speaking of the decoration of walls, Mrs. Candace Wheeler, in the Outlook, says:

"It would be beyond the intention of this paper to go into the subject of design in wall-coverings, although, undoubtedly, the character of the design has much to do with its effect upon the eye and the mind. What is chiefly to be considered is how to transform a barrier into a pleasant limit instead of a disagreeable one, and there are many ways of doing this. Wall-paper is the common and usual expedient, but there are other wall coverings which fit their several places happily and give variety of surface and novelty of effect. Canvases of hemp or cotton, coarsely woven, and with or without decoration or applied color, are among the successful expedients; as a coarse surface of this kind is rendered agreeable by the minute particles of light and shadow produced by the crossing of the threads. These bits of light and shade give the mixed tint of which I have before spoken, and which is almost better in certain rooms than design. Flat straw weavings, and interlacings of thin strips of wood—both of Chinese manufacture—are beautiful in color and surface. But, leaving out every application of material and depending upon color alone, it is possible so to treat our walls as to make them pleasant and restful to our senses, and a friendly instead of an unfriendly influence. Sleeping-rooms, bath-rooms, and rooms which are or should be subject to frequent applications of water, must, of course, have walls treated only with oil paint; and this is generally an unsympathetic treatment, since a hard and shining surface is apt to result from its use. Having these natural disadvantages, it follows that much more thought and care should be given to the manner of its use than when water color—which is naturally soft in effect—is applied. The tints should be much more carefully selected, and more skill should be demanded in their application. There is no reason, however, why, even in rooms which are subject to constant scrubbing, the oil color should not be used in two tones, with design in stencil, thus producing exactly the effect of a paper printed in monochrome. I have seen a room so skilfully treated in fine stencil work in two pale tones of blue that it was like a piece of beautiful old porcelain, and yet it was quite able to bear a weekly scrubbing, if the necessity for it existed. But, whatever method of wall decoration is chosen, the two principles of pleasantness of color and suggestiveness of design will save one from the mistakes which are apt to follow uneducated or inexperienced decoration. To be constantly reminded of the wall as a wall, as a solid piece of masonry, is what one must avoid; and yet we must also remember that it is quite as possible and almost as instinctive, for us to make the wall beautiful as for the pearl oyster to spread its shell with opalescent nacre."

A POINTER

TO THE BUILDING MATERIAL TRADES

YOU are spending money, directly or indirectly, to obtain news as to who is in the market (Architects, Builders and others) for your goods.

Some firms spend a great many hundred dollars annually for this information, others $300 a year, others $200, others $150.

This expenditure is quite as unnecessary as to pay out one or two thousand a year in salary and expenses to somebody to hunt up "credits" when Bradstreets, with thoroughly organized machinery, will do the same service for you for a fraction of the amount.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE Building News Bureau is:

The Largest Piece of Machinery in Existence

For collecting and disseminating daily, in special verified reports, all news as to who is in the market for every kind of building material.

All other methods are secondary and incomplete.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

¶Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

In relation to this lien, we wish to state that on this Saturday we will bond same, owing to a dispute. MOSHER BROS.

Editor RECORD AND GUIDE:

In reference to above lien I desire to say that Thomas O'Hara had a contract for digging and furnishing sand and failed to perform his contract and abandoned the work, which necessitated me to have the same completed. He received all, and in fact more than was due him, under his contract up to the time of abandonment. I have had the Court fix an order upon which to give an undertaking, executed November 20th, 1895, and served on Mr. O'Hara, which will remove the alleged lien on Tuesday next. HARRY MCNALLY.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, NOVEMBER 23, 1895.

Brooklyn Notes.

THE REALTY MARKET.

Not even in the dullest months of summer was the Brooklyn realty market duller than it is now. The hardest work brokers have now is to find a reason for the condition of stagnation that prevails. Some attribute it to the coming holidays, others to the fact that next year is a Presidential election year, while others again say it is because of the election just held. So that any one who cannot pick a satisfactory reason from this variety must be very hard to please indeed. One thing, however, is apparent, there is no lack of confidence in the gradual and ultimate improvement of trade. There is a feeling that everything will come out right in the end, and that in itself gives an encouraging aspect to the situation.]

Gossip—Brooklyn.

O'Farrell & Witham have sold for Maria A. Berti the three-story brownstone front dwelling, No. 464 5th street, to Emily Anberg; terms private.

Meyer for $84,000.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET

NEW YORK.

BRICKS.—It is somewhat difficult to exactly work out the complete status of the general market this week beyond the evidence that it has been a great deal more active without apparent disadvantage to buyers. According to careful estimate there has probably been twenty-five million bricks of all kinds sold since last Monday morning, and as there was no increase of consuming wants it is reasonable to suppose that a very large proportion of this stock has either been taken to fill out or to be held on barges until jobs were ready for the supply. And it is furthermore a natural assumption that buyers have not been induced to handle this large lot of brick under ruling conditions of trade without securing some favors. As a matter of fact, when it comes right down to actual business, probably $5 is top, with a range along down to $4 50 according to quality, and while former extreme figures are still in some instances quoted they represent little more than an asking basis for some special make. Included in the movement was a large number of Pales, and they, too, have necessarily sold low, although at the close are quoted about as before. It looks as though manufacturers would continue shipping as long as possible, and possibly hurry under influence of cold weather.

LATH.—General conditions of this market continue favorable. There have been very few arrivals during the week, and receivers state with some confidence that the amount to come forward is small, and the demand shows up full enough to take offerings about as fast as ready and obtainable at former rates. Buyers, however, have retained advantage sufficient to refuse paying an advance, and over that feature sellers incline to grumble a trifle.

LIME.—There is practically nothing new in the situation, a slight easing off in price during the week being simply in accord with common experience on this market. The demand has been fair, and taken considerable stock, but hardly afforded an outlet quite equal to the offering, and some sellers, feeling anxious to realize, have shaded both grades 5c. per bbl, while others stand out for about former figures. Of State and Western stock there are fair amounts coming along.

LUMBER.—The announcement of a fixed date for closing the State canals is ordinarily an event of some importance in the lumber market, but this season it seems to receive very little attention. Most people who handle stuff coming through by water have already completed negotiations and there are now few buyers who can be appealed to upon the plea of necessity for hurrying orders, especially as there seems little danger of an advance in freight charges. Considerable stock is now arriving from all quarters and in varied assortment with the major portion going direct into pile, but where there are unsold lots of attractive quality to offer they secure very fair attention. Export clearances reported this month have been of respectable proportions, but many of them in execution of previously booked orders and no really new foreign demand of importance is reported at the moment.

Spruce remains generally firm. It would not prove a satisfactory market to offer much in the way of short and narrow stuff, but everything in the line of standard and attractive specification of late available has found custom, and the evidences are that a larger quantity could have been placed without difficulty. In addition to local dealers there is considerable demand from what may be called outside sources, and receivers are enabled to assume and preserve an independent position without difficulty. Specials are still offering for bids, but it is difficult to place them, even when buyers are willing to pay extreme rates. State spruce is firm and selling well, and there has been so much call of late for West Virginia product that manufacturers have advanced the cost 50c. per M, bringing the figure up to $15.50 for 12 inch, 20 feet and under.

White Pine box, shippers and kindred grades of stock continue slow and unsettled, but the advantage remains mainly with buyers and in some cases there is said to be even greater weakness than early in the season. That tendency seems to be among manufacturers who would like the opportunity for rushing goods forward before close of canals, and to some extent among holders of accumulations at tide water who have been disappointed in their calculations upon custom. Buyers, however, are not responding in satisfactory manner and market is dull. Fine stock, on the contrary, is shown to be growing even less plenty than before and an early advance is looked for. At Albany, according to report of Argus, "there is the usual fall trade for the larger houses in the district, and the market is practically unchanged except pine uppers are more scarce and firmer and shippers are in better demand."

Yellow Pine retains the unfortunate, unsettled tone which has so long been a feature of the market, yet with an apparent tendency toward gradual modification. There are more people who claim steadiness, and business seems to increase here and there with a feeling that improvement will become general soon after opening of the year.

Hemlock continues to be spoken of in very strong terms. The State product has not been turned out in sufficient quantity to satisfy all the calls for it, and so few Pennsylvania manufacturers have been making sizes suited to this market that scarcity still prevails and buyers are ready enough to pay full former rates to secure a supply. Demand from outside of local custom has been better.

Carolina Pine is reported to be selling very freely at local points, but buyers from this locality do not contribute any great amount of custom. Their present needs are small, and they also feel quite confident that the freedom with which manufacturers are meeting the call will be continued during the winter. Cost remains as before.

Hardwoods find enough attention to fairly balance the demand for about all the really attractive offerings of staple goods and former rates are ruling. Actual consumption is slightly increasing and dealers have an idea it may become even greater before the winter is out as there are hints of a contemplated strike by workmen against use of house trim made outside of city limits. The strong position of mahogany, to which attention was first called in the market reports of this journal, continues to grow, and even at recent advances made it is still relatively one of the cheapest woods on the market. Our local export trade is not full, but quite an amount of stock goes from this port on through shipment for account of foreign buyers who seem to think they can do better at interior points than on the seaboard.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

Throughout the country there is a strong and large demand for car factory stock and timber for railway construction purposes. This is a positive feature of current business, and has an important bearing on the supply of various specialties of mill product at the present, and especially in the near future. It involves white and Norway pine, yellow pine, oak and several other hardwoods. It is an initiative movement, and has a pronounced significance as pointing to a rising demand in a large sense, which will eventually have a wider reach than the mere supply of railway material. It is a kind of demand that, in this country, always precedes a general uprising in the lumber trade as a whole. It means that traffic is growing and developing to a degree that the railway companies are encouraged to make improvements and enlarge their carrying capacity. It is an evidence that trade and industry are expanding and increasing operations.

On the great lakes shipments of Western pine are being urged forward so as to wind up the season's movement before marine insurance shall be ended on December 10. Receipts at Lake Erie and Lake Michigan wholesale markets are subsiding, though still considerable. High freight rates and scarcity of tonnage are restricting the late cargo movement, and leaving more lumber at the mills than was anticipated earlier in the season. At Duluth, especially, piling room has been exhausted; and the same is measurably true at Ashland. Lately there has been activity at Menominee and Marinette in forwarding lumber to Lake Erie points, and a number of Eastern dealers have in recent days been at those places for the purpose of buying lumber. Sales on Lake Superior are few. There has been revived inquiry at Bay City and Saginaw, and several important sales have been made. The yard trade is absorbing increased amounts of lumber at those points, and altogether the gloom in that valley has been somewhat relieved by a brighter outlook. Through lower Michigan the call for railway bill stuff is a feature of demand, and many car sills are being sawed out by the mills. This gives a more active character to the Norway business than has been experienced since 1893. All over the Northwest there is an urgent demand for white pine and Norway strips, there having been a smaller supply than usual cut out this season. To offset this there is dullness in the requirement for coarse boards. In Saginaw Valley the demand for box lumber has revived, and frequent sales are made of such stock. This seems to indicate that the extremely dull market for coarse inch lumber is passing, in one spot at least.

A pronounced feature of demand for hardwoods is the active call from the railways and car factories. Mills throughout Indiana are busy on orders from such sources. In all industries requiring large amounts of contract oak much lumber is being consumed. In the furniture and house finishing line there is less activity. Poplar at St. Louis is selling freely; at Philadelphia offerings are in excess of demand. The mill operators are drawing together for the maintenance of prices and the general bettering of their business. Plain red and white oak is comparatively short in supply at northwestern and southwestern points. Quarter-sawed oak is generally sold in advance of sawing. The general condition of the hardwood trade is somewhat affected by the usual subsidence of demand late in the fall, but prices have not generally suffered on that account.

FOREIGN.

The last mail from Bridgetown, Barbadoes, will probably prove of interest to exporters:

Lumber.—Last sale of White Pine ex Gold Hunter was at $20.75 per M., as customary, for merchantable boards and planks, and at $15.03 per M., with all faults, for second quality. Last sale of Spruce was at $13.50 per M., with all faults. Pitch Pine: The cargo ex Roger Moore has been sold at $21 60 per M. for merchantable, with an allowance of $5.00 for Refuse, second quality being at $18.00 per M.

Copperage-stuffs.—Season over. New Shooks are almost exclusively used here now, and the demand for old is, therefore, somewhat limited. The last sales of Sugar Hogshead were at 76 cents per bundle for old and at $1.08 per bundle for new. We understand that several thousand bundles of the latter have recently been sold to arrive for next year's crop operations. Staves: Last sales were at $58.00 to $50.00 per M. for No. 1, R. O. Inspected, and $48.00 to $40.00 for Culls. Wood-

UNDER the influence of light gold exports the stock market has strengthened. If there was any way of determining whether this is an indication of an early cessation of gold shipments altogether, or merely a lull in the movement, the course of the prices of securities could be foreshadowed with some certainty. There are some signs of increase in the volume of our exports, but until these are more definite, or until foreign buying of our securities is carried on with the old-time confidence, the course of exchange must be uncertain. This is a great pity because testimony accumulates day by day that our internal commerce is improving. A feature that is becoming more and more prominent is the successful development of the Colorado and other gold fields. The increase in the production of gold means consequent speculative activity. Part of this speculative activity is not pleasant to anticipate. It looks very much as if we are to have an attack of mining fever. Powerful forces are at work to bring this about. While the exchanges of Chicago and New York have frowned on the idea, there has been an active inquiry for mines that could be dressed up and made presentable enough to catch the ignorant. This means nothing less than an intended mean and dishonest attack upon the savings of hired girls and clerks. Since the Leadville sensation mining operations have been confined, in the main, to people who understood the business, or knew enough about business generally to act with prudence. Good mines could not be bought and bad ones could not be sold. What promoters are trying to do now is to make it possible to get hold of good ones and on the strength of them sell bad ones. As the unproductive mines are plentiful and the productive mines rare, the final result of a mining boom cannot be anything but a disappointment to the public however profitable it may be to promoters. But we fear the public has already caught the disease and will have to take the medicine.

THE liquidation in Kaffirs has apparently been as discriminating as wholesome. The decline to the middle of this month was about 18 per cent in dividend-payers, 37 per cent in non-dividend mining stocks and 36 per cent in development and land companies. The total loss in values in two months was, in round figures, $355,000,000. The par value of the total Rand capitalization is $250,000,000; the market value at the top of the boom was $1,065,000,000, and at last mail advices $710,000,000. There has been some rally due to the oversold condition of the market, but there is no doubt still need for fining down. The enormous shrinkage in values brought about in the recent scare makes it highly probable that that part of the liquidating process most to be dreaded, because of its indirect influences on other securities, has been carried out. Many of these stocks are still selling for unjustifiably high prices, but they will be brought down to figures more in consonance with values by easier ways than panics. The output of the mines in October was not as good as in any of the five previous months, though much larger than in any month prior thereto. The value of the gold produced from January 1st to October 31st was over $38,000,000, and the total for the year may yet amount to $45,000,000. The production of the world will exceed $200,000,000. All things considered, our friends abroad have come out of their recent experiences very well. Lord Salisbury's encouraging speech removed what would have been a very potent bear agent in a panic, the war-scare, and largely limited punishment to those people who had unwisely loaded themselves with mining shares. Another fact that limited the extent of the decline and assisted the rally was the condition of trade, which was undoubtedly good. There has been a steady revival in business throughout Europe for some time which has now reached an assuring basis; the government receipts prove that. There are exceptions at points and threatened dangers here and there from over-confidence, notably in Austria and Hungary, but the outlook as a whole is satisfactory.

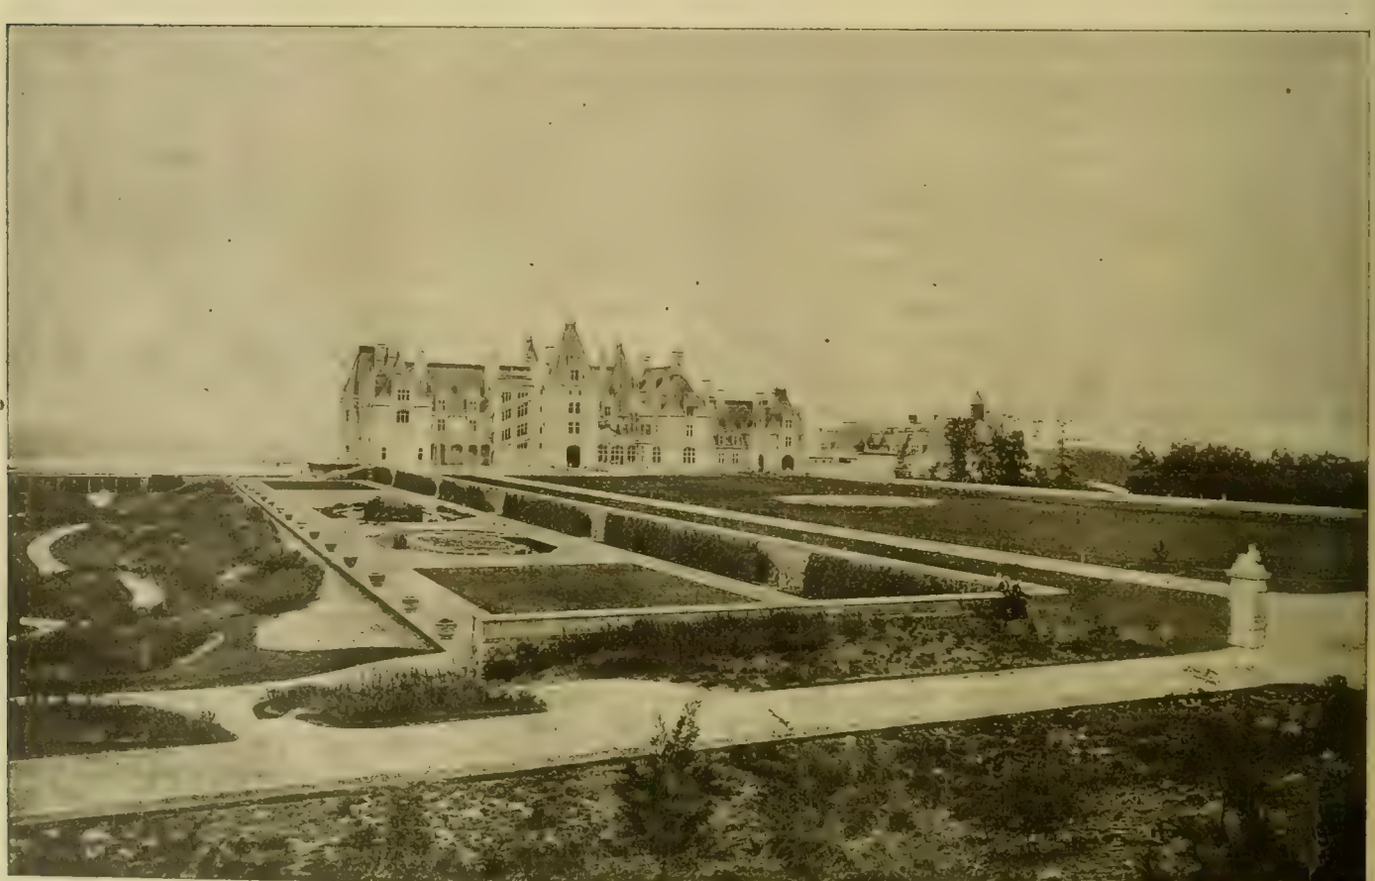
Our Millionaire Aristocracy.

OBVIOUSLY, the current number of the Architectural Record must have a very irritating effect upon anarchists, socialists and the milder class of similar revolutionists—in fact upon all those whose profession it is to be "down" on wealth. This periodical, we believe, is quite innocent of any intention to cater to the rabid instincts of humanity, unless we are to include art among the violent and unbalanced activities of the race; but, certainly, in printing so many illustrations in one number, of the sumptuous interiors of millionaire residences (at Newport and elsewhere) it furnishes a mass of incendiary material, which, falling into the right places, must feed the numerous little fires that the morally and mentally irresponsible keep burning in the cellars of the social fabric, hoping some day to produce a larger and more dangerous conflagration. Hitherto the pot-house incendiary, and his own even more dangerous coadjutor in the pulpit (whose noxious sentimentalism is every whit as inflammable as dynamite) have had to paint the gilded habitat of the multi-millionaire in imaginative outline; but here comes a reputable magazine that, with the fidelity of the photograph, exposes every detail of the beast's lair, catches him, so to speak, at home—in the great frescoed halls he has built for himself, his picture galleries, dining rooms, libraries and other apartments. The exhibition, indeed, is an exceptional one, and reveals sumptuosity and expensiveness, surprising even to those who are not entirely ignorant of the domestic splendor of the financially emancipated. Friends of Herr Most and the Rev. Dr. Madison Peters ought to buy up the entire edition and distribute it as a covert revolutionary document. We warrant a single copy will furnish texts enough for emotional sermons and dynamite for five years' Sundays and as many working days as your active anarchist would care to crowd into a decade.

But, also for the sane and serious who regard wealth as a legitimate social condition, these illustrations have a value for reflection's sake. They provoke thought. They indicate very pointedly a state of affairs which the national consciousness perceives only vaguely, confused as it is by the turmoil of daily changes in which the mind of the clearest observer is itself involved. It is difficult to "mark time," in the military sense, in this country. Everything and everybody moves so rapidly. Events, with us, are scarcely recognizable until we are past them. Nowhere else does to-morrow trip so closely upon the heels of to-day. We are plunged into the midst of new conditions before we have had time to perceive the premonitions of their approach. Unlike older nations, we have so few stationary points. It may be said that one must leave this country in order to be able to see it. It is frequently remarked that no New Yorker to-day is anything like as capable of estimating the enormous changes which the last ten years have produced in the internal and external condition of the metropolis as is the citizen who returns after a considerable absence. The fixed native, in fact, is missing one-half of all that is going on.

So these millionaire "palaces," for any smaller definition is absurd, have a sociological lesson for us. It is instructive to compare them with the wealthiest homes of, say, twenty-five years ago; and then, again, for the sake of a longer reach, with the "manors" of our pre-rebellion or our post-colonial gentry, or even with those earlier habitations of this country's younger days

> "Whose primitive tradition reaches
> As far as Adam's first green breeches."



No other comparison quite so strikingly exemplifies the enormous enlargement of individual fortunes in the United States that the last quarter of a century has brought about. The wealthy man of a generation back moved in circumstances actually humble and homelike compared with the condition of the plethoric Crœsuses of the present. The large fortunes of our fathers' days were, so to speak, of attainable dimensions; they were in a sense democratic, as being at least apparently within the possibilities of everybody. Contrariwise, the fortunes that the great Newport "cottages" represent are aristocratic, so colossal and far removed from the ordinary reach that they have the aspect of a class possession. Nobody can inspect these palatial interiors and avoid the thought that surely here we have indubitable evidence of the existence in this country of a true aristocracy of the dollar. The style, appointment and arrangement of these buildings indicate social conditions foreign, so far, to this country. They indicate exclusiveness, and artificiality new to us. They connote flunkeydom, for such places are the natural homes of Jeames and his brethren; and we know that where Jeames is there surely will his higher relative the snob be also. The American theory of society has not so far contemplated these conditions, yet here they are. This new order will entrench itself, hedge itself around in many directions. Certainly it will not remain stationary. Despite our theories we seem to be fast running the course which other peoples have traveled. Class conditions, class instincts are fast establishing themselves among us.

The sharp distinctions which prevail elsewhere are sure to prevail here. The American idea of a homogeneous society, wherein all are more or less on an equality and constitute one single class, is opposed to the law of development. The advance of all organisms is necessarily marked by the establishment of new distinctions and differences in the organism. A uniform condition of society is a primitive condition, and as American society grows and develops we must necessarily depart more and more from the simple state contemplated by the founders of the Republic. An aristocracy with the prerogatives of political power we are not likely to see. An aristocracy with the prerogatives of wealth we are fast creating, and these Newport cottages are evidences of the fact.

ALTHOUGH events are not tending that way, it is very much to be hoped that the Powers of Europe will find a sufficient excuse in the present disorders to make an end of the Ottoman Empire and to divide its possessions comfortably among themselves. Eventually such a consummation is inevitable, and indeed, it would probably have taken place some time since were it not that the various European Governments cannot agree upon the terms of distribution. The time will come however, when such a division can be no longer postponed, and when it does come, the gain in human happiness and the increase of human opportunity will be incalculable. The Turkish Government is a grotesque example of organized anarchy, and exercises blighting effect on the activities of 30,000,000 of people and on the development of vast areas of territory. What the Austrians have achieved since they occupied Bosnia, what the Bulgarians have done for themselves since they gained their independence—something of the same kind would result from the occupation of the various provinces of the Turkish Empire by one or another of the European powers. To take but a single instance: the Valley of the Tigris and the Euphrates produced at one time according to Herodotus more abundantly than any other district then under cultivation; but owing to the neglect of the enormous river embankments and dikes which protected Lower Mesopotamia from flood and drought, this fertile land has been reduced to a deserted and pestilential swamp. An improvement which was possible to the Chaldeans 2500 B. C. ought not be impossible to modern engineers. So it is throughout all the Turkish possessions. The natives would be benefited not less than the population of India have been benefitted by the English conquest thereof, and America as well as Europe would share the gain of the general increase in the productive capacity of the earth. Africa is at present affording a remarkable example of what can be done in the way of developing distant lands under adverse conditions by energetic and competent white men, and this colonial expansion of European nations, certainly one of the most significant political processes of our time, is as wholesome as it is inevitable. The world belongs to those who can make the most of it, and in extending their power in every possible direction the European countries are not only illustrating a natural law of expansion, but they are providing an ever larger and, consequently, an ever securer material basis for their civilization, so that when that civilization falls it will fall not from external onslaughts but from internal decay. At all events, as long as any part of the world remains to be conquered the adventurous, restless spirit of our race and time will remain unsatisfied. Now that Africa is pretty well divided up, the Turkish possessions are more available for occupation and colonization than any other part of the earth. Of course, the European governments are fully alive to this fact, and if the partition is postponed it will be because the difficulties of immediate division are insurmountable.

A RECENT decision of the Supreme Court of Missouri strikingly illustrates the fact that municipal corporate jobbery cannot exist where there is any independence or public spirit in the community. The law provides every remedy if the citizens will only have the courage to appeal to it with sufficient persistence. In the case in point an ordinance was passed for the paving of a street in St. Louis with a specified asphalt, known to be a monopoly of one company. Some of the property-owners on the street in question refused to pay their assessments for the work, contending that the ordinance was a violation of the city charter, which provides that all contracts must be let to the lowest responsible bidder. The Supreme Court sustained this contention, declaring that to go through the form of taking bids when only one could be made was a farce and that the law did not allow itself to be thus trifled with, or allow its ministers to substitute pretence for performance. The result of this decision is not wholly satisfactory because the cost of the paving in question must be paid out of the general taxation of the city; it would have been fuller justice if the expense could be thrown upon the individuals who were responsible for the passage of the illegal ordinance. However, the direct result will be that the public work of St. Louis will be now thrown open to freer competition, and the city will doubtless receive substantial pecuniary benefit as a consequence. The broader fruits of this litigation should be in making people everywhere understand that there is a way of compelling municipal business to be carried on with the same prudence, fairness and openness that characterize the transactions of individuals. Public bodies, even when they have a leaning toward dishonesty and are run for the benefit of their individual members, soon come to know when the community they despoil will not put up with a farcical appearance of compliance with the law. Of course, the process of inculcating this lesson needs some combination of effort and involves some trouble and expense, but these pay in the end. Nothing would make public office more uncongenial to the corrupt than to find their jobs systematically upset. They would soon see that there was no money in "politics" for them, and as money is their only object in taking office would finally find themselves compelled to abandon the service of city, state or country, as the case might be, in a disgust that would be the best compliment the community could receive and the best evidence of its own reformation.

An Incipient Mining Boom.

THE appreciation of gold, which many reputable financiers assure us has not taken place, is at the bottom of the world-wide activity in gold mining. In an era of falling prices, when no investor or manufacturer feels sure of his market from day to day, the man who can produce gold is the one person free from the necessity of scanning the market reports. Not only is this true but all the appliances he must use in the work are becoming relatively cheaper, and new methods of operation are constantly lessening the cost of production under given geological conditions. Under such circumstances nothing but the absolute exhaustion of the gold deposits in the earth's crust could prevent an expansion of the mining industry. At present it looks as though invention and new discoveries would overhaul the tendency to diminishing returns, and the supply of gold might after a time and for a time be made adequate to the new demand which the civilized nations of the world have insisted upon creating for it. Whenever it transpires that the distribution of gold has been such that its supply exactly equals the new demand for it at the old rates it is a pure coincidence, the world has been lucky, that is all. But however non-rational it may be to depend for our sole money metal upon the chances of geological formation the gold supply as a basis of circulation has this supreme advantage, it is automatic, it is beyond the reach of the politicians.

The forces that make for the expansion of the gold mining industry can be seen very clearly at work in Colorado. In 1893 the State was prostrate, its silver mining stopped, its banks largely closed, and all its industries at a standstill. In the process of recovery it turned naturally and inevitably to gold mining, as that was the only industry which, if developed, would be sure to pay. Capital from the outside being unattainable, development had to come by the use of home capital, which was accordingly drawn out of other industries as far as possible and turned to prospecting for gold and the development of already known mines. The supply of capital being relatively small as compared with the amount of idle labor, new devices were elaborated whereby a little capital could employ much labor. The so-called "lease system" was elaborated, whereby a man who had a good "prospect" could turn it over to a man who had a little capital under conditions fair to both; or a man who had already found "shipping ore" could put the mine in the hands of capitalists for development and turn his own attention to further prospecting. The labor unions, which have a strong grip on the mining section, consented to allow members to work in prospect holes for less than the standard wage. Often when the day laborers had confidence in a "prospect" and the owner came to the end, or nearly to the end of his money, they would consent to work for board and lodging only with a further contract claim to double pay whenever they should strike pay ore of a specified richness. Sometimes in incorporated companies a part of the wages were paid in stock. This made the enterprise virtually a profit-sharing concern in which men who would otherwise have been idle found a chance to invest their labor at what might prove very profitable rates, and men who were not forehanded enough to prospect on their own account got a share in another man's chance.

By such methods as these new districts were opened up, and Leadville obtained a new lease of life by showing that it was as well placed to be a great gold camp as it had been to be a great silver camp. Wonderfully rich mines were found in the Cripple Creek district in spite of the predictions of the geologists, and whenever pay ore was struck the profits of the mine were largely reinvested in new prospecting and the development of new mines. There were no large dividends to pay to non-residents, nor was there capital borrowed from foreigners which could be called away suddenly in times of commercial depression. This self-centered development of gold mining in Colorado went on until now it seems likely that Colorado will nearly equal California in the production of gold during 1895. The people of the State have come to be much excited on the subject themselves, and there are signs that their excitement has begun to spread to eastern and foreign points. The Cripple Creek district especially has attracted attention, and statements regarding its great productiveness have been copied from the Denver papers by standard financial journals in the East.

The local centre of speculation for the district named is Colorado Springs rather than Denver. The former town, a place of about forty thousand inhabitants, has three mining exchanges with a membership of one hundred each, and daily transfers sometimes aggregating a million shares. As many shares are sometimes transferred in a day in Denver, and Cripple Creek has its own local exchange. Many of these stocks are worth only a few cents a share, but some of them are worth double their par value.

If Colorado wishes to commend her mining stocks to Eastern investors, or even the best class of speculators, she will have to give almost as much attention to the organization of her companies and the character of her corporation law as to demonstrating the value of the mines themselves. A good mine in the hands of a scalawag company is a more dangerous piece of property than even a poor mine in the hands of an honest company. When corporation law, with all its uncertainties, is superimposed upon mining law with all its dubieties the distant investor finds it hard to be sure of fair treatment unless he knows, and knows well, the men who manage the companies in which he invests. It is said that there are now as many lawyers as assayers at Cripple Creek, and the stranger may well fear to become involved in the tangle which they may weave. There are distinct advantages in the development of mines by means of home capital, both to the people at home and to the people abroad. Colorado knows this, and yet is not unwilling to attract the attention of distant investors. As a rule mining is a risky business, and investments are more likely to be conservative and productive if made by those acquainted with all the local conditions, legal, corporate, personal and geological.

NEW YORK pays more for riding in the public conveyances than any other city in the world. Americans never make a comparison with anything less than the rest of the world; in most cases exaggerating their own virtues or possessions, but in this case the comparison stands good. A New Yorker knows no economy in getting from one part of the city to another. An European, even when well-to-do, will walk a mile or two, and a New Yorker will ride if he has to go only the length of half-a-dozen blocks. This peculiarity of our citizens has made the carriage of passengers such a very profitable industry that there are very few of our street-car lines that have not paid handsomely from their inception, while the service has never been what the public has had a right to expect. The last ten years has seen a great improvement in this respect, but it is not anything like what it ought to be. It is only of late, and that in a very inadequate sense, that the community has received any direct return for the immensely valuable privileges it has bestowed upon the passenger transportation companies. Recent events have shown what the city has missed both in the requirements of service and in actual cash. Competing companies have bid high prices for franchises, and old companies have been absorbed into new ones, with large guarantees upon liberally watered stock. The Assembly Special Committee on Railroads is now gathering very valuable information on the subject of city transportation, which it is to be hoped will not eventually lie waste and dead in the State reports. What the conclusions of this Committee will be we do not pretend to say, but sufficient evidence has already been made public to show that the development of the surface railroads ought not to be left to corporations which will only take the fat and leave the lean. It is especially important that action should be taken on this matter at once, because there is a strong probability that what we familiarly know as municipal rapid transit will be tied up in the courts for a long time to come, and the needs of the city for increased transportation facilities are growing every day. What at the moment seems to be urgently necessary is that instead of street car routes being laid out at the will of different conporations, a comprehensive plan should be prepared by the city itself, following the principle laid down in the Rapid Transit Act, but more universally applied, and if we cannot trust the city to build its own railroads, as we assuredly cannot, that they be let in whole or in part at public contract under conditions that will provide the greatest adequacy of service and the largest revenue to the city. This would afford at least an effective treatment of that part of rapid transit which relates to short distances, and would relieve somewhat our weariness while waiting for similar treatment of rapid transit for long distances.

THE cities of New England are just waking up to the fact that recently they have let slip by a very rare opportunity for increasing their revenue. They have quite failed to turn to account the advantages offered by the recent building of trolley lines in, about and between the large main manufacturing cities. In Connecticut, for instance, they are making a belated attempt to subject their trolley roads to local taxation. Under the existing system the trolleys are taxed just as the old horse roads and the steam roads were taxed; they pay 1 per cent on their funded debt, their floating debt and their capital stock. The tax goes to the State and the only property of steam and trolley corporations reached by local taxation is that held by these companies for other than railroad uses. Now that the trolley has come in and the street railroads have been greatly extended and their plants and power-houses much increased in value, the Connecticut cities have become suddenly aware that they have been giving their streets away recklessly, and that immense properties, often situated entirely within their limits, are escaping local taxation. In Massachusetts, also, a good deal of discussion of the matter was heard during the recent campaign, discussion which may result in something at the coming session of the Legislature. But the discouraging aspect of the matter is that although for years past the necessity of protecting municipal interest in all bargains with companies in receipt of special municipal privileges, little real headway has been made in clearing up the minds of municipal administrators on the matter or in formulating a definite line of policy. Franchises are still granted to companies, not only without adequate compensation, but often for perpetual occupation, thus robbing the city of the chance of making any better bargain in the future. A more utter disregard of public interest, a more flagrant waste of public property, can scarcely be imagined. Such a course of action never enters the minds of the administrators of a foreign city. They by no means believe that under all circumstances a city should assume these functions, although there is a decided tendency in that direction. They judge each case upon its business merits; but, even if they decide to grant these privileges to a company, they do so only under certain well-recognized conditions. They thoroughly understand that competition for this kind of service is at once futile and baleful. The privileges are almost always granted to one company for a limited term of years, often with the provision that at the end of that time the city can take over plant and privilege free of cost. Well may a recent student of the matter say that in studying these contracts made with private corporations by foreign municipalities "one is always impressed with a sense of the first-class legal, financial and technical ability which the city is able to command, while American contracts always impress one with the unlimited astuteness and ability representing private corporations."

ONE of the best instances of the manner in which a city ought to manage a bargain of this kind is the way in which Paris has arranged for a system of electric lighting. For a number of reasons it was not deemed desirable immediately to establish a municipal plant. The extent to which electricity would supersede gas was not known; and as the whole business was only in an experimental stage it was believed wiser to let private capital pay for the experiment rather than the public Treasury. Before any action was taken the whole ground was carefully considered. To begin with the municipality, according to the description of Albert Shaw, the well-known authority on foreign cities, spent 2,000,000 or more francs on the installation of a central electrical plant of its own in the basement of the great central market of Paris. This plant is conveniently situated for the illumination of a number of large public buildings, but it was never intended for the general work of lighting the city. Its chief purposes were to regulate the charges made by any private company, to develop a body of men who understood the practical details of an electrical establishment, and so to enable the municipality to command the situation. For the purposes of general illumination the city has been divided into seven sections. Each of these sections was granted exclusively for a short term of years to a responsible electrical company, thus doing away with any competition except that of the city itself, which was not debarred from laying cables in any of the sections. The companies were required to proceed at once to make their installations, and that within two years their districts should be completely served with main cables. Street lighting had to be furnished upon terms as favorable as possible, at cost or even less, and a guarantee fund of several hundred thousand francs was exacted to insure the fulfilment of all the conditions imposed. In the beginning no payment was required for the charters, but later when it was found that the companies needed some postponement of the time limits within which their districts shall be completely cabled, the city in its turn exacted a yearly street rental of 200 francs for each kilometre of cable, besides imposing a lucrative tax of five per cent. on the gross receipts of the companies. This, of course, is only an experimental system. When the concessions expire the municipality of Paris will be in a position to decide how much the franchises are worth, and whether it is expedient to enlarge the city plant so as to completely supercede the private companies. In other words, ample provision is made for the future. Private capital if invested is sufficiently recompensed, but the privileges themselves, which in the future are likely to largely increase in value, remain perpetual within the grasp of the public authorities. We do not give this instance as one which ought in all its details to be copied by one of our own cities, but it is certainly an example of the spirt of wise foresight and careful conservation of municipal interests which is remarkably absent in our municipal rulers—be they politicians or business men. That American companies would be willing to undertake the business of municipal lighting on these terms is sufficiently indicated by the fact that among the seven companies which obtained sections in Paris, one was the Edison Company and the other was the representatives of the Westinghouse system.

The Builders of "Biltmore."

We produce elsewhere in this number, due to the courtesy of the Architectural Record and Messrs. D. C. Weeks & Son, two illustrations of Biltmore House, the great country residence or château which Mr. George Vanderbilt has erected near Asheville, N. C. We are indebted to the former for the plate of the finished exterior, and to the latter for the photograph from which we have produced the illustration showing the beginning of what is one of the greatest building operations of its class of modern times. Messrs. D. C. Weeks & Son were the builders of "Biltmore," and the magnitude of the work confided to them is indicated by the fact that they were engaged upon it continuously for five years, and had as many as three hundred and fifty men employed at one time. During this period Mr. Francis M. Weeks devoted himself solely to supervising the work of construction. The operation was carried through without hitch, delay or accident of any kind, to the unqualified satisfaction of the owner and the architect—the late Richard M. Hunt. Success of this sort indicates better than anything that can be said the usual ability and resources of the firm.

Land Transfer Reform.

While the press of New York has been congratulating Chicago on its approval of the Torrens Act it seems to be altogether unmindful of the work that is being done in this State to procure the legalization of some simple process for passing title to real estate. The land question is without doubt one of the most important of all questions affecting the social system. It is in the main embarrassed by a clumsy and tedious system of transferring title which is an obstacle to the transference of ownership, especially in the cases of small parcels. Now the Torrens Act, as proposed in Illinois, proposes to do away with the greater part of this difficulty by guaranteeing title to a registered holder at the end of five years from the date of registration. Whether this will be successful in creating a system of ready transfer has yet to be seen. The plan is one that has its fascinations, particularly in its seeming simplicity; but so far it has only been really tried in a new country, where the tenure of land is probably of shorter duration than in any other civilized community. In the older countries of Europe, and particularly in England, it has been carefully examined but no way found for its application to the systems there. One of the objections to this system is that, while by its adoption the government guarantees the title, it does not guarantee the boundaries. There are other infelicities in the system which will make themselves apparent as time goes on, and which will have to be remedied before it can be pronounced satisfactory.

In New York we move slowly. The interests that benefit from the absurd and complicated machinery we possess for passing title have hitherto been powerful enough to head off any proposition looking to the adoption of a radical remedy. Several commissions have been appointed and have made recommendations which, however, were not adopted in the majority of cases, probably because their adoption did not promise the great desideratum—the assimilation of the principles of ownership and transfer of personal property to those of real property. But several important minor improvements have meantime been gained, notably the short form adopted from England and the block-index for this city. It is the opinion of well-known realty lawyers that there is no insuperable difficulty to securing a system under which title to realty can pass with the same simplicity and dispatch as the title to such interests as are represented by a stock certificate now can do, that is by indorsement. All that is necessary is that the recommendations to secure this should be backed by a popular demand loud enough to counteract the influence of interests opposed to any change in the present system. However, the attempt is to be repeated as soon as the Legislature meets to obtain the appointment of a Commission to examine our land laws and report suggestions for their improvement. The aim of the Commission would be to find the simple plan so much desired. In view of the necessity for such a plan and of the fact that there are gentlemen in this city qualified by their legal knowledge and acquirements and by their standing in the community who will con amore undertake this difficult and laborious task there ought to be no difficulty in securing the appointment of the Commission at least. Nor should it be impossible to secure legislative approval to the suggestions they will ultimately make if they are considered the best to obtain the end in view.

We have often called attention to this matter of reform in the passing of title to real estate, and it is one that has commended itself to the best minds in the legal profession, but it is one that is so surrounded by mazes of technicalities that the public generally, even the property-owning public, have hitherto carefully avoided it. But that this question is forcing itself upon the public attention is proved by the Chicago vote, which on both sides numbered about 85,000 and was 16 to 1 in the affirmative. This shows that while the public usually eschews thought on abstruse and technical questions, they can be brought to consider them when they are made to see that they materially affect their pockets. The task of making them see is a difficult one, something like the efforts which are popularly supposed to be necessary to make a Scotchman see a joke, but not an impossibility. The advantages likely to follow a reform of land transfer were ably brought out in the Constitutional Convention by Mr. Andrew H. Green and others last year and reported at the time in these pages and their remarks may, now that the agitation is to be renewed, be reperused with profit.

The pecuniary side of the question ought alone to awaken an interest strong enough to force reform. The $2,000,000,000 worth of New York City realty is in the hands of, it is calculated, no less than 200,000 individuals. Every week millions of dollars worth pass from one hand to another, and other millions of dollars worth are mortgaged; in both operations of buying and mortgaging examinations have to be made which involve much expense and loss of time. It has been estimated that the expense to property-owners for examinations of title in New York City and Brooklyn alone is not less than $500,000 per annum. This unnecessarily large cost of transfer is a permanent charge upon property, passing from owner to owner and which, if abolished or reduced, would proportionately accrue to the property itself. Taken in the aggregate this means an enormous increase in property values in any community wherever applied. Moreover a further accretion in values would come from the increase in the buying and selling of realty sure to follow the adoption of a simple form of transfer, and the raising of loans on land and houses would be an easy matter and the advances more generous if ownership was represented by a document or certificate which was in itself a proof of title and of boundaries and could pass by indorsement.

Whatever differences of opinion may exist as to the practicability of an effort to simplify land transfers, there can be no denial that, admitting the possibility of the thing, its adoption would make realty more marketable and therefore increase the bulk of operations; that it would increase the available resources of the community enormously, or that it would remove an obstacle to the acquirement of real property by people of moderate means and so offer a bulwark against the spread of unwise and dangerous Socialistic ideas. These are objects worth trying for, and as no better way of setting the experiment afoot than the appointment of a land laws commission has yet been suggested, and as it is, probably, the best that could be suggested, the advocacy of such an appointment should have the active support of all real estate interests.

The Results of the Agricultural Year.

While the bad features of the agricultural situation have been given considerable prominence, the good ones have not received the attention they deserve. When people get the blues they generally seek for and swallow everything that will aggravate that complaint, practicing a sort of mental innoculation which eventually results in the disease disappearing through its own violence. Thus we hear much about the shortage in the cotton crop, the low price of oats, the falling off in the exports of wheat and like distressing circumstances. When these have done all the mischief they can and a calm review of the agricultural year is made it will be found, however, that the final results of farming operations in 1895 have not been as bad as appears at first sight, and that their value to the country at large, represented by dollars and cents, is much greater than last year.

For instance, the wheat crop was smaller than in 1894, 420,000,000 bushels as against 460,000,000 bushels, but this time last year December wheat was 58 cents while it is 66 cents this year, and the total crop is, therefore, worth $104,000,000 more than that of 1894. The price of December corn is 36 cents as compared with 57 cents in November of last year, but the yield this year is 2,200,000,000 bushels and last year was only 1,200,000,000 bushels, and the value of the larger crop, even at the greatly lowered price, is $108,000,000 more than the smaller one at the higher figure. Then again, the cotton crop is estimated at 7,000,000 bales which compares very poorly with the 9,000,000 bales produced last year, but here again the price of the article has risen more than enough to offset the loss in production. The quotation stands at $40 a bale as against $25, which in the total gives an increase in favor of this year of $55,000,000. We had a bountiful crop of oats this year—825,000,000 bushels—and only 662,000,000 bushels in 1894, but in this case unfortunately the fall in the price has been in greater proportion than the increase in the crop, and the total value, based on quotations current now and this time last year, is about $29,000,000 less. The results in these four great items of agricultural produce is a gross increased value for the year of $267,000,000, minus $29,000,000, leaving a net increase of $238,000,000.

This statement is not made in ignorance of the objections that can be raised to the conclusion arrived at. The figures presented are in a sense arbitrary. Past experience has shown clearly that it is quite impossible to accurately estimate the results of the harvest, but the errors made are almost invariably against the returns, making them much less than they ought to be. A valuation of the crops based on New York quotations can only be made for comparison and illustration. These quotations are increased by the cost of hauling and agents' commissions, etc. The produce consumed on the ground, of course, never has such values and the amounts that are distributed between the field and the sea coast have to pay smaller carrying charges, but the increase or decrease in price of any one year is not materially altered by these charges. If it were possible to take all these things into account much more accurate results could be obtained, but they could not possibly change the conclusion that the results of the agricultural operations of the country are this year much greater by many millions of dollars than were those of last year. The bases of the calculations in the two years would necessarily be the same. In the year where increased yield has not caused a proportionate decline in price and decreased yield has been accompanied by a larger proportionate increase in price, as is the case in a majority of instances this year, the aggregate result must be better than in a year when such favorable conditions did not prevail.

Besides these facts there are others which support the conclusion that the buying capacity of the farmer is superior to-day to what it was last year. There are many things raised by the farmer besides grain and cotton which ought to be taken into account, but cannot because of the absence of the necessary data. The tobacco crop is said to have been a good one and fruit has been abundant, with the foreign demand increased considerably without a diminution of the home consumption. The hay crop was short owing to the dry weather, but that misfortune has its compensation in higher prices. For the same cause the dairy farmer suffered loss. But all things taken together, the conclusion already arrived at is not in the least disturbed. It being proved then that the country is richer by several hundreds of millions of dollars, that fact cannot fail in the long run to have a beneficial effect on the business of the country. The Northwestern railroads are already proving this, and as soon as corn begins to move the Southwestern ones will do so also. The effects of good crops on the railroads are the most patent ones, but they indicate also that other industries are thriving, because it is a thing inconceivable and, in fact impossible that railroad revenues can increase while business generally is falling off.

Labor Troubles in the Building Trades.

The status of the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's strike has only undergone change in so far as the employers, against whom the strike is directed, J. B. & J. M. Cornell and Milliken Bros., have been able to obtain hands to take the place of the strikers. It is said that the first-named firm had sixty men on the job, corner of Prince street and Broadway, and was able to resume riveting, and that Milliken Bros. had fifty men on the Siegel-Cooper building. The numbers mentioned must be taken with a "more or less" proviso, but there is no doubt that the employers are making headway. Reports were in circulation yesterday afternoon that the dispute was to be submitted to arbitration, what that amounted to will be found below. It is hard to see how the employers could arbitrate after the stand they have taken, except they consented to it under extreme pressure, rather to prevent prejudice growing up against them in the minds of the public than in any expectation that the intervention of third parties could achieve any good result. At the same time they would probably not be averse to let the strikers down gently if it could be managed without surrender of important principles as was done in the case of the electrical workers last spring. J. B. & J. M. Cornell have sub-let some of their work and as soon as operations are commenced under the sub-contracts the strike must spread or die.

The Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union claim to have carried things their own way, but a critical look over the whole field hardly supports their statements. They have kept a good many men away from the jobs who would otherwise be at work, and they naturally made the most of the injuries suffered by some green hands on Wednesday on the Siegel-Cooper building, but it is quite apparent that they have no sympathy from the public. A few of the cheaper daily papers give them big head lines, but there is no cry in this movement that touches the public heart. It is not a case of men working long hours for poor pay, or with stationary pay and the cost of living rising, but men throwing up a short-day employment with fairly good pay and the necessaries of life cheaper than they ever were before in post-bellum times. The army of clerks and bookkeepers who work longer hours for less money than these men received must wonder what condition of mind they could have been in when they threw up their jobs with winter approaching. The prolongation of this movement depends upon the support it receives from other trade unions which has so far been limited to a formal non-committal resolution by the Central Labor Union passed somewhat reluctantly when the strike was first proposed.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Iron League was held yesterday. The session was a protracted one. There was a full attendance of the committee, and they had in consultation several well-known leaders in other departments of the building trades. Miss Florence Fairview had an interview with the committee, in which she made an appeal, on behalf of the men, for arbitrating the dispute. No information could be obtained of the proceedings of the committee beyond its answer to Miss Fairview, which was put in the following formf or publication through the press:

NOVEMBER 29, 1895.

MISS FLORENCE FAIRVEIW—After hearing your statement this afternoon, the Executive Committee of the Iron League desires to say the following:

"If the strike is declared off the Executive Committee of the Iron League will afterwards meet a committee composed of their employees on Wednesday next, December 4th."

By order of the Executive Committee of the Iron League.

B. E. J. EILS, Secretary.

Real Estate Notes.

William Hardenberg Budd has been proposed for annual member-ship of the Real Estate Exchange by A. P. W. Kinnan.

Secretary Frank Yoran, of the Real Estate Exchange, has issued the usual notice to the stockholders of a dividend of 1¼ per cent having been declared, which is payable on and after the date of the annual meeting, December 9th. The books for the transfer of stock were closed yesterday.

A vacant store in a new corner building on Columbus avenue in a district where real estate agents abound bears on its front a sign stating that it is "To Let," and notifying applicants to inquire some-where in Murray street. The journey is a long one to ask a possible tenant to make, but as the world is made up of all kinds of people, it may be that the store will lease without the assistance of any of the near-by agents.

What a humbug an auctioneer can be when the occasion demands it. On one of the busiest of days in the Broadway Salesroom, a week or two ago, an audience of six, four of whom had settled comfortably on stools, confronted an auctioneer who had announced a public sale of a fairly valuable property. Not disconcerted in the least by the absence of a more promising attendance he declaimed in loud tones and at great length on the many advantages possessed by the parcel he would offer, and failing to add to his immediate hearers proceeded with the "sale." Once started, bids came rapidly to the auctioneer from mythical sources until finally, after dwelling on the last bid, the property was knocked down at a round figure, and a name given as the buyer by one of the audience of six, who was afterwards ac-knowledged to be the owner. Not a single bid had been made throughout unless the successive announcements of imaginary offers could be called such, and the auctioneer knowing what the upset price was had simply given the owner "a jolly," or in other words "a run for his money."

Land speculators and building loan specialists are rounding out the year in good shape, and though a large part of their profits will depend upon the payment of purchase money mortgages given by builders the latter can, with few exceptions, be depended on to pay them and not hazard investment or reputation by risking fore-closures. The speculative builders, as a rule, are hard workers, and those who have not become too heavily involved with operators should be able to show a balance on the right side of the ledger at the close of 1895. Their backers, and they exist in nine cases out of every ten, will surely be able to count an unusually large profit for the twelve months, and it would be surprising were the facts other-wise when it is remembered that they are not only the first to be se-cured in building enterprises but that frequently the price at which they part with lots yields an enormous profit on an investment of a few weeks or months previous to a re-sale. It matters not to them if a builder at times fails to carry his burden of accumulating debts and leaves his unsecured creditors in the lurch. The mortgage given to the seller of the lots is invariably good, and every brick and stone laid contributes to its security. The operator never fails as a result of too liberal dealing, but the builder is not always so fortunate. That more of them do not fail is remarkable when the extravagant prices sometimes exacted for lots with building loans are taken into con-sideration. Two recent offers to sell plots that were bought by their present owners a short time ago, are probably not exceptions to the rule generally followed when possible by professional land specu-lators. One is of a parcel on Morningside avenue, purchased for $90,000, which builders are now being asked to consider at the "bargain price" of $120,000. The other is a block front on 7th avenue, for which $135,000 was paid, that is in the market at $185,000. The lower figures in both instances are not unlikely good value for the respective properties, but judging by the past each plot will sooner or later secure a buyer in an over-confident builder who will have to rely as much on his luck as his ability to pull him through, and having completed his improvements will merit admira-tion in having got out with a whole skin and unimpaired credit.

Real Estate Market.

That it is the unexpected that always happens is shown by our appended reports of sales this week by private contract, amounting in the aggregate to about $3,000,000. The figures must prove very satisfactory to owners with property for sale when they consider that so extensive a buying movement has developed during a week robbed of its most important day by the Thanksgiving celebration, which contributed as well to the existence of a condition bordering on inactivity on Wednesday and also yesterday in a lesser degree. Investors seem to have regained confidence and if one-half the rumors of pending transactions are to become accomplished facts the fall market has a better outlook than it has heretofore appeared to have.

As is customary in a week broken by a holiday the auction market has developed nothing of special interest. The bulk of the sales took place under legal decrees and the consequent monotony was only slightly relieved by an occasional offering of a voluntary char-acter.

On Tuesday, at a foreclosure sale conducted by William M. Ryan the unusual result was reached of a property, Nos. 514 and 516 East 12th street, being knocked down to an outsider at a price larger than the combined sum represented by the first mortgage, the fore-closed second mortgage and the costs incidental to the action and sale. On the same day John T. Boyd withdrew from sale under fore-closure a plot of ten lots on 139th and 140th streets, west of 11th avenue, and Peter F Meyer & Co.'s voluntary offering of the four-teen lots comprising a block front on Cambreling avenue between 187th and Bayard streets, received such small attention from a fairly large but apathetic audience as to necessitate their being bought in at $575 to $1,250 per lot.

On Wednesday, Bryan L. Kennelly's announcements drew a number of possible buyers to the Broadway Salesroom. Many of them were disappointed by the auctioneer's notice of the withdrawal of No. 30 East 21st street, owing to the property having been sold by him at private contract on the previous day. The outcome of Mr. Kennelly's other offerings was the withdrawal on a bid of $34,500 of No. 250 West 73d street, and the sale by order of executors of No. 7 East 48th street for $61,500. The house was sold in May by the executors of the will of the ingloriously famous Rev. Dr. Burchard, to a buyer since deceased, for $66,000. All things considered, the auction price must be regarded as a fair one.

At the Real Estate Exchange on Tuesday Richard V. Harnett adjourned for one week an executor's sale of No. 79 West 115th street owing to an error of description having been made by the executor in the printed announcements.

The following are the comparative tables for New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding week of 1894 and 1895.

John N. Golding will offer at auction on Wednesday next, the 4th inst., in the Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, two very good investment parcels that are sure to attract bidders. These are the five-story building and lot, 25x100, No. 58 Walker street, and the plot 25x184 feet running through the block, with a four-story dwelling and a two-story stable thereon, known as No. 25 West 17th street and No. 20 West 18th street. Maps and particulars can be obtained from the auctioneer at No. 9 Pine street.

Philip A. Smyth will, on Wednesday next, 4th prox., offer a number of valuable city parcels in the Real Estate Salesroom, No. 111 Broadway, of which announcement is made in our advertising pages and of which full particulars can be obtained at the office of the auctioneer, No. 11 Pine street. They consist of the Astor leasehold, No. 419 East 15th street, to be sold at executor's sale; the dwelling, No 316 West 31st street, and the six tenements, Nos. 226 to 236 West 32d street, with coal shed and stable in rear, these two last-mentionen parcels are to be sold to close an estate; and a plot of two and two-thirds acres of land with residence, outbuildings, etc., on Northern avenue, Fort Washington.

Richard V. Harnett & Co. will sell at auction on Wednesday, the 4th prox., in the Real Estate Exchange, No. 59 Liberty street, the five-story and basement brick and stone two-family flat, No. 225 East 127th street. Maps and full particulars can be obtained at the auctioneers' offices, Nos. 71 and 73 Liberty street.

Readers will no doubt attentively peruse the advertisement of Chas. W. Richards, receiver, which will be found on another page, announcing the sale by auction of a valuable water front property in Long Island City. The description of this offering and the terms of sale will be found set out in the advertisement. With the growth of commerce at the port of New York water fronts are becoming scarce and more valuable. Recent events have made this very clear. Among other illustrations may be mentioned the influence of the Harlem Canal on East River traffic, the purchase of the Brooklyn water front by large grain interests, New York's policy towards its water fronts and docks, the recent sale of a 100-foot water front property on Newtown Creek for $200,000, and the improvements that have been made by the Astor estate on its front on the Harlem River. These facts will doubtless influence the sale, to which attention is hereby drawn and which will take place at the Court House, Long Island City, on December 9th next, at 10 A. M.

BROOKLYN ANNOUNCEMENT.

On December 16th next Auctioneer James L. Brumley will conduct at the Real Estate Exchange on Montague street one of the largest sales in partition held in Brooklyn for some time. The property comprises the holdings of the late Anthony McNeely, and consists of about 150 parcels in almost all sections of the city.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

The Metropolitan Telephone Co. has bought the old five-story building with lot, 25x76.2, No. 17 Dey street, for about $110,000. The company purchased some years ago Nos. 13 and 15 adjoining, at $75,000 and $100,000 respectively and has now a plot about 75x76, which it is stated will be utilized as the site for a ten-story building to be connected with the corporation's present building in Cortlandt street. Work is to begin about April 1st.

Horace S. Ely & Co. have sold conjointly with William Rosenzweig the old five-story stone front store with lot, 25.3x100x23.9x100, No. 530 Broadway, northeast corner of Spring street, for the Robert Carter estate to Joseph L. Buttenwieser, for about $165,000.

Jas. R. Waterlow has sold for Delaplaine Brown, at $52,500, to a client, for investment, the four-story stone front tenement with store, 23.6x64x80, No. 917 6th avenue, southwest corner of 52d street. The parcel was sold at auction by Richard V. Harnett & Co. at the Real Estate Exchange, on May 8th, for $55,000.

M. & L. Hess have sold for Jacob Hirsh to Albert Wagner, architect and builder, the old buildings with adjoining lots, No. 37 East 12th street, about 28x93x29.2x84.7, and Nos. 48 and 50 East 13th street, about 40.9x110.7 and 122.4. The buyer will improve the plot by erecting an eight or nine-story modern business structure running through. The property, it will be remembered, was recently sold by the same brokers for John W. Condit.

J. Romaine Brown & Co. have sold for Edward A. McAlpin, the four-story dwelling, lot 28x98.9, No. 9 West 29th street, to Andrew J. Connick, the Fifth avenue tailor, for $90,000, and it will probably be altered for business use. The house which was last sold in May, 1864, for $43,000, adjoins the Bar Association's property 74.6x98.9, which was purchased not long ago by Edward H. Van Ingen for $225,000.

Frederick Southack & Co. have sold for Henry Dazian the five-story store with lot, 22x116, No. 95 5th avenue, southeast corner of 17th street, to Henry Corn at a figure said to be $175,000. The seller acquired title in 1891 from Wolf Dazian for an expressed consideration of $145,000. The building adjoins Nos. 91 and 93, on which Mr. Corn is completing an eight-story modern structure, and it is not unlikely that it will in time be demolished to make way for an addition to its big neighbor.

The same brokers have sold for Prescott Hall Butler Nos. 74 to 78 4th avenue, northeast corner of 10th street, a plot about 55x85x32x90 (Sailors' Snug Harbor leasehold), with old five-story brick hote buildings and stores, to Gutwillig Bros. at a price not disclosed, and for other of the A. T. Stewart heirs the fee of the adjoining property, Nos. 80 and 82 4th avenue, 50x92.6, with similar buildings, to the same buyers, who claim that the contract price is $125,000. That figure, however, would give the absurd rating of $2,500 per foot frontage. Nearby avenue property sold not long since for considerably less, or, to be more exact, Frederick Potter bought, in May, No. 102 4th avenue, a lot 19.9x80.4x19.9x80.8, with four-story brick tenement, for $26,250. The new purchase of Gutwillig Bros. adjoins in the rear the Vienna Bakery property on the Broadway corner, recently bought by Mayer Kahn, the northerly boundary of both being continuous.

Geo. R. Read has sold for Martin & Bro. to a client for investment Nos. 297 and 299 5th avenue, southeast corner of 31st street two four-story stone front business buildings with plot 49.7x100, and the adjoining lot 25x98.9, with old brick stable, No. 4 East 31st street. The price is said to be about $400,000. The property was secured under contract by the sellers through C. V. Sidell, the attorney for the owner, Mrs. Charlotte M. Goodridge, in April, and its sale to them was reported in THE RECORD AND GUIDE on the 20th of that month. In the next issue we acknowledged the receipt of a positive denial from Martin & Bro. that they had made the purchase, but we added to their statement that they had placed the property in the hands of several brokers to sell over again at the asking price of $450,000. This week's sale shows the correctness of our first report.

L. J. Phillips & Co. have sold for Charles E. Appleby a lot, 25x100.5, on the south side of 59th street, 164.10 east of Broadway, to George Ehret for about $47,000, which is less than double the amount paid by the seller in January, 1874. Mr. Ehret is now, including the above purchase, the owner of a plot, 107.10x189.10, on the southeast corner of Broadway and 59th street, and another adjoining in the rear, having a frontage of 120 feet in 58th street.

Moses Rosenzweig has sold for Builders Kidansky & Fine the two new five-story tenements, 25x90x100 each, Nos. 308 and 310 Delancey street, to M. Obstbaum, at a figure below $65,000.

Hoffman Bros. have bought of the estate of J. W. Dimick the five-story brick store, lot 25x25, No. 17 Hubert street, which adjoins No. 15, part of an L-shaped parcel, including Nos. 407 to 411 Greenwich street, recently acquired by them.

Bryan L. Kennelly has sold the four-story stone front dwelling, lot 25x110x irregular x92, No. 30 East 21st street, for John Williams to Allen B. Potter, for $43,500. The house had been advertised to be sold at voluntary auction on Wednesday last, by Mr. Kennelly.

L. Froehlich has sold for Mrs. Carolina Goppoldt to a Mr. Pizer, the three-story house, with lot 18x98.9x18.2x95,11, No. 231 East 49th street. It sold for $13,250 in August, 1889.

The probable origin of a rumor circulated a day or two ago of a purchase by John Jacob Astor was the transfer on Wednesday of the southeast corner of 6th avenue and 26th street, 26.7x75, to William R. Montgomery, who acted as an intermediary for Mr. Astor. The latter bought through Mr. Montgomery a few months ago the adjoining street houses, Nos. 52 to 56 West 26th street, and may possibly have since made some additional purchases in that neighborhood.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

Hall J. How & Co. have sold for J. M. Cornell the vacant block front, 201.10x100, on the east side of Lexington avenue, between 99th and 100th streets, to William Hall's Sons.

Jung & Mohr have bought of the Murphy estate for immediate improvement the plot 100.11x145, on the southeast corner of Manhattan avenue and 102d street, and have practically completed arrangements for the purchase of the same sized adjoining plot on the 101st street corner. Selig Housah is the contract buyer at about $96,000 of the opposite avenue front of eight lots recently sold by the same estate. It is understood that the southerly half of the plot, 100.11x100, has since been sold, to Builder William Walsh for improvement. The Murphy estate's holdings were acquired in 1845 when the old Clendenning farm at Bloomingdale was subdivided into building lots. They sold at that time for a trifle more than their value as farming land.

Jacob D. Butler has purchased four lots at Edgecombe avenue and 142d street, presumably the southeast corner, and resold same to Mrs. Anna T. Dale for improvement.

Henry F. Cook has sold the five-story American basement brick and stone dwelling, 25x60x102.2, No. 316 West 72d street, to Mrs. Archer V. Pascoast. This is the third house sold out of a row of five finished this fall.

Fitzsimons & Smith have sold for W. D. Harris the five-story double flat with store, 26x90x104, No. 372 Columbus avenue, between 77th and 78th streets, to J. McCafferty.

M. Bargebuhr & Son have sold for Builders Louis Wirth & Co. another of their group of new five-story flats on 5th avenue, 132d and 133d streets. It is on the east side of the avenue, 50 feet south of 133d street, 25x77x90, and has been bought by a Mr. Stremel for about $26,000. This makes the fourth house sold of the group by the above brokers.

Ribeth & Trattner have sold for August K. Rasche the five-story brick tenement, lot 25.6x102.2, No. 419 East 82d street, to a Mr Lankenau at a higher figure, it is said, than $20,875, the price paid by the seller in July, 1888, and for William C. Oesting the five-story brick double tenement with stores, No. 1726 2d avenue, between 89th and 90th streets, to John Scheuerer.

Max Simon has sold for William C. Oesting the five-story flat, 21.6x81x100.11, No. 142 West 101st street; for Wm. J. Rodenbach the five-story flat, 27.1x82x100.11, No. 141 West 100th street, and for Mrs. Mary McWalters the two new five-story flats, 25x89x100.11 each, Nos. 43 and 45 West 98th street.

John W. Stevens has sold for William F. Koerner the two five-story double flats, 26x90x100.8 each, Nos. 109 and 111 West 94th street, to Joseph H. and William J. Turl, of John Turl's Sons.

Builder John E Darragh has sold the two three-story dwellings Nos. 548 and 550 West 148th street, to Henry T. Dressner. They are part of a new row of six houses, one of which, No. 552, will be occupied by Mr. Darragh.

C. Haaren has sold for Builder John Hickey the five-story stone front flat, with lot 25x100, on the northwest corner of 7th avenue and 132d street, to E. A. Haaren at $60,000, a trading price, as the seller will take in exchange a Long Island City property at a valuation of $15,000.

R. E. L. Mordecai has sold for John S. Robinson a plot, 100x102.2, on the north side of 79th street, 100 feet west of Amsterdam avenue, to the Jacob & Skinner Realty Co. for improvement, and for the latter two three-and-a-half-story American basement houses on the west side of St. Nicholas place, between 152d and 153d streets, the first two north of the former street. They are part of a row of eight illustrated in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of October 5th.

Sidney A. Kent, of Chicago, is reported to have sold a plot, 102x83.6, x irregular, on the northeast corner of Riverside Drive and 97th street.

Diedrich Blendermann has sold the four-story brick tenement, 25x75x100.11, No. 167 East 103d street, to C. Langan for about $17,000.

The four-story stone front dwelling, with lot, 20x100.5, No. 26 West 69th street, has been purchased for occupancy by L. Napoleon Levy from Robert F. Tysen, who not long since bought No. 21 West 76th street.

Ungrich Bros. are reported to have sold the five-story brick flat with stores, lot 25.6x100, No. 453 Amsterdam avenue, to a Mr. Anderson.

Melville D. Landon, more familiarly known to the reading public as "Eli Perkins," has sold the four-story stone front dwelling, lot 20x102.2, No. 44 East 76th street, to a Mr. Ashe for about $32,500.

Eugene C. Potter has closed a trade with Julius Jungmann, by the terms of which he will sell the six four-story brick single flats, with lots about 17.6x99.11 each, Nos. 524 to 534 West 133d street, and take in exchange out-of-town property. Broker, L. Froehlich.

The same broker has sold for Carl and Theodor Rosenfeld the two four-story stone front dwellings, 20x55x100.5 each, Nos. 35 and 39 East 64th street, for about $30,000 apiece. The respective buyers are a Mrs. Oakley and a Miss Dickerson.

Thomas & Eckerson have sold conjointly with Cornelius Daly the two new five-story flats on lots 34.4 and 20x100.8 respectively, Nos. 128 and 130 West 91st street, for Builder William Drought, to Mrs. Valentine Schaefer at $107,000, the latter to give in trade, at a valuation of $38,000, the five-story stone front flat, lot 25x100.5, No. 424 West 57th street. Due allowance should be made for the increase of value that is a feature of all transactions into which trades enter. Mrs. Schaefer bought the 57th street flat with a similar adjoining building in June, 1888, paying $48,300 for the two parcels.

Bryan L. Kennelly and A. L. David have sold for Henry J. Sills the four-story brick dwelling with stores, on lot 17.2x80, No. 1022 Lexington avenue, southwest corner 73d street, to James F. McElvare for something under $30,000.

Alexander McDowell has bought of the Hutton estate a plot, 75.7x100, on the west side of 8th avenue, 26.2 feet south of 117th street.

Daniel B. Freedman has sold the plot of twenty-one lots on Sherman avenue, Emerson and Isham streets, the purchase of which by him was reported last week.

William S. Patten has sold the two five-story stone front flats each having a frontage of 35 feet on lots running back to the former Apthorps lane, Nos. 176 and 178 West 94th street.

Chas. Griffith Moses has sold for Jacob Hess to Otto Meurer one-half the block front on Columbus avenue and 205th street, 99.11x100.

N. Brigham Hall has sold for Charles Simpson a plot on the south side of 65th street, 200 west of West End avenue, 84x100x57x104, for $15,000, and resold same to Mary A. Fynes, who will give in exchange a five-story double flat, 32x88x100.8, No. 52 West 93d street, at $52,000. Mr. Hall has resold the 93d street property for cash to an investor.

A contract recorded last week reveals the true inwardness of a sale reported not long since of four flats on the west side of Amsterdam avenue, between 87th and 88th streets, including the corner building on the avenue and latter street by Peter Wagner and Robert Wallace to Aaron Buchsbaum. The contract price of $200,000 is partly representative of a trade, as the sellers have agreed to take in exchange at a valuation of $77,500 the plot, 86.3x151.10x99.11x163.11x16.8, on the southwest corner of St. Nicholas avenue and 154th street.

The name of the buyer, M. Wineburgh, was inadvertently omitted in our report last week of the sale of No. 25 West 76th street.

NORTH SIDE.

W. F. & C. H. Smith have sold for William Werner the three-story flat, No. 1025 East 133d street, to Frederick Melchior for about $6,000.

Hiram Merritt has sold No. 745 East 175th street, 17.6x103, to V. Lahr.

LEASES.

James A. Garland has leased of W. W. Astor the new four-story 50-foot dwelling to be erected on the northeast corner of 5th avenue and 56th street, and also, it is said, the smaller house to be built on the adjoining street lot, both for a long term of years.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

Fitzsimons & Smith have sold for the Acker, Merrall, Condit Co. the Bloomfield place at Yonkers, a three-story brick dwelling with plot 132x261, on Locust avenue, near Garden street.

For a Revision of the Laws Relating to Buildings.

The Committee on Revision of the Building Laws, consisting of representatives from about all the local architectural, building and real estate associations, after holding three or four meetings, have made no progress beyond arriving at a determination, by a majority vote, to attempt a remodeling of the law by what will be in effect a series of laws within a law, one for dwellings, another for apartment houses and hotels, another for stores, another for office buildings and so on. A dozen or more classifications have been agreed to and later on a sub-committee for each will be appointed. Any proposed change to any section of the present law, when offered, will be referred to the proper classification committee. The opponents to the classification scheme have stated that, while it is possible to prepare a law that will take up each class of buildings separately, yet it would be a work of many months and would require the services and supervision of a boss law-maker to see that the dozen classification committees so presented their work that there would be unity in the parts when brought together. The present law groups together the various subjects as far as it well can be done, commencing with excavations, then going on with foundations, thicknesses of walls, interior arrangements, etc., in the order in which a building is constructed. It yet remains to be pointed out where the present law fails to provide for the construction of any kind of a building, or where the following of the requirements of the present law has resulted or can result in unsafe construction. Most of the great buildings that New York now boasts of were constructed under the present law, enacted in 1892, and its immediate predecessor of 1887. A little later experience needs now to be added in the law, but all this can be easily and effectively done by making a few changes here and there in the several sections. A spirit of unrest seems to be at work in the community, and the building interests apparently have got their share of a desire to overturn the law under which their business operations are conducted. It already commences to look as though no results will be arrived at that will give general satisfaction, and perhaps the happy solution of the problem will be to get the coming Legislature to pass a bill providing for the appointment of a paid commission of experts to report to the following Legislature a properly prepared building law.

Rapid Transit.

Messrs. Frederic R. Coudert, George Sherman and William H. Gelshenen, have been created by the General Term of the Supreme Court, a commission to pass upon the routes of the Rapid Transit Commission. As intimated previously, the court in making the order of appointments, reserved all questions as to constitutionality until the report of the examining commission shall be submitted for approval.

The Rapid Transit Commissioners, at a meeting held on Tuesday last, received the resolution passed by the Board of Aldermen on October 29th urging that additional privileges be granted to the Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company in order to increase the transit facilities of the city and adopted the following resolution: "Although this Board is heartily in favor of such action as will insure better transit facilities to the people of this city, no application has been made to this Board by the Manhattan Elevated Railroad Company for the grant of such additional privileges and franchises, and that in the absence of such an application this Board is without authority to take any action in the premises."

Concerning Real Estate Brokers.

Jacob A. King, the young and active real estate and insurance agent of No. 699 Broadway, has moved into larger and more commodious offices in the same building. Mr. King commenced business for himself March 1, 1894, and his removal is caused by a formidable increase in patronage; he lacks no facility for serving his customers both old and new. If appearances count for anything, Mr. King wil shortly be ranked as one of the leading brokers in the real estate business.

Trade Notes.

BELL BROTHERS' REMOVAL.

Bell Brothers, timber dealers, have changed their address from corner of 11th avenue and 21st street to 53d street and East River, where they have a larger plant and can do business much more efficiently than in their old quarters. This move is occasioned by the increased patronage that has come to this firm through always doing their business on the excellent principle of giving the best goods at the lowest market rates and making prompt deliveries. Those who wish to call up Bell Brothers on the wire can do so by asking for 174 38th street.

AR EXPLANATION.

The firm of Schratwieser & Moss, consisting of Jacob Schratwieser and Mary E. Moss, manufacturers of the York Metal Lath, are in the hands of a receiver for dissolution. This does not affect the business of Jacob Schratwieser, who does a large business in putting in fireproof partitions, elevator, dumb-waiter, light and vent shafts. He also is now handling the Bostwick steel lath to the trade. He is the lessee of the premises and continues at Nos. 110–114 Navy street, Brooklyn.

Special Notice.

We notice that a certificate of incorporation for a new "title" company has been granted, and will be filed this week. The company will be called the Brooklyn Bond and Mortgage Title Company. It was thought that something was in the wind when Mr. Fahie Berkeley left Brooklyn for Albany last Thursday to have a conference with the Secretary of State. Mr. Berkeley's office is at No. 186 Remsen street. He has been in business there for the last five years loaning money on real estate for his different clients. When interviewed by THE RECORD AND GUIDE, he said that it was true that he had been the means of incorporating the new title company, and thought it was a long-wanted concern in this city. One of the principal purposes of the new company is to lend small sums of money on mortgage, not to exceed $400. Mr. Berkeley said he believed that most people lose their homes and property by being compelled to borrow more money than they really needed and in not being allowed to pay back in small amounts, as they may have the cash. The capital stock of this company is $10,000 in $50 shares, of which 140 shares are already subscribed for. In addition to lending money, the company will transact a regular real estate, insurance, auction and brokerage business. It also intends to search titles at a moderate cost. Mr. Berkeley, who is a member of the Carlton Club, the Brooklyn Yacht Club and the Dutch Arms Club, will undoubtedly be the president and manager of the new company. He deserves great credit for his efforts in creating this addition to the present facilities for carrying on and promoting real estate transactions, and everybody heartily wishes him success. Among the principal stockholders are Col. Benedict, Wm. Andrews, S. N. Huntington, R. H. Lampscha and Fahie Berkeley.—advt.

Personal.

The old and favorably known house of Rolston & Bass, bankers and brokers, of this city, will remove on or about December 1st to handsome and commodious offices in Nos. 16 and 18 Broad street, where their many friends and customers will in future find them. Several members of this firm are members of the New York Stock Exchange, and parties desiring to have their orders carefully and promptly executed can favor them with their business with confidence. The house also makes a specialty of miscellaneous securities, as to the prices and standing of which none are better posted.

The co-partnerships heretofore existing between Messrs. Brazier & Bedell, architects, of No. 156 5th avenue, and of Kramer & Simonson, of No. 1 Madison avenue, have been dissolved. A new firm of Brazier & Simonson will continue their practice at No. 156 5th avenue.

A POINTER

TO THE BUILDING MATERIAL TRADES

YOU are spending money, directly or indirectly, to obtain news as to who is in the market (Architects, Builders and others) for your goods.

Some firms spend a great many hundred dollars annually for this information, others $300 a year, others $200, others $150.

This expenditure is quite as unnecessary as to pay out one or two thousand a year in salary and expenses to somebody to hunt up "credits" when Bradstreets, with thoroughly organized machinery, will do the same service for you for a fraction of the amount.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE Building News Bureau is:

The Largest Piece of Machinery in Existence

For collecting and disseminating daily, in special verified reports, all news as to who is in the market for every kind of building material.

All other methods are secondary and incomplete.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE will give you a service for $50 a year excelling anything you can get or do for yourself at from four to twenty times the cost. This is GUARANTEED. Any greater outlay than $50 is a gratuitous gift on your part—a bonus which you donate for nothing.

Don't Take Anything for Granted

Not even our assertions. Facts can be tested. Buy your service as you buy your goods—upon inspection, and under guarantee. We claim that THE RECORD AND GUIDE Building News Service

IS THE BEST.

IS THE CHEAPEST.

IS THE MOST ACCURATE.

Is supported by the long experience of THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

ABUNDANT CAPITAL.

The largest and completest piece of machinery for collecting Building News in the world.

Call to see us and learn the facts for yourself. We guarantee you satisfaction. We will delegate reporters to look after your work until your requirements are fully met. Don't listen to puff, but investigate. If we cannot demonstrate that we can give you more for we do not want your business. Be up to date. A majority of the large building material firms are now using THE RECORD AND GUIDE Building News Service.

RECORD AND GUIDE

BUILDING NEWS DEPARTMENT,

14 and 16 Vesey St., New York City.

REAL ESTATE RECORD AND BUILDERS GUIDE.
ESTABLISHED MARCH 21st 1868.

14 AND 16 VESEY STREET,

TELEPHONE, CORTLANDT 1370

New York, November 30, 189[illegible]

To the Building Material Trades:

Dear Sirs:

What do you think of adding a new department to your business? A department, the functions of which will be as follows:

1. Keep you informed daily of all prospective building operations as soon as the owners begin to talk about action or the architects to formulate plans;

2. Keep you informed of the status of all building operations that interest you, from their inception to their final completion;

3. Give you detailed reports of the materials (of the class you sell) that are needed in every building;

4. The names and addresses of owners, architects, chief contractors, etc., of new buildings;

5. Answer all questions you may desire answered on any of the matters mentioned above, etc., etc.

In short, would you like to attach to your business equipment a large, well organized, thoroughly equipped Bureau of Intelligence, which would furnish you daily with sifted, direct, verified, organized reports of what is going on in the market; Who the Buyers are; What they want; when and where you may find them. The facts you want are put under your eyes, visible at a glance, every morning, so that you can--

1. Push ahead to get your share of business;

2. Spare your representatives the expensive game of hunting aimlessly over the field for orders. Give them the pointers; send them direct to the man who wants to buy, armed with information as to the thing wanted. Twice the amount of ground can be covered in this way;

3. Keep yourself (the Head of the Firm) informed of what is going on. Check off what your representatives are doing.

A good thing, a Bureau like this, Eh! But, perhaps you shrink from the expense of salaries to a score of men to travel among architects, owners and others; and no doubt you don't underestimate the task of organizing this Bureau, managing it, supplying it with brains? Well the Record and Guide (established 1868, the leading Real Estate and Building Journal of the United States) will do the work for you for about fourteen cents a day. That the work will be well done, is guaranteed by the high reputation of the Record and Guide. We know what you want. We have the capital and the experience. You can avail yourself of both for fourteen cents a day. Can you afford to be without this service? It won't of course sell your goods, but, if in the space of a year, you get only one pointer that finds you a customer, the service has paid for itself many times over. This is an age of specialties. You can't do this work as well for yourself, even at a cost of as many dollars as we ask cents. We want to talk to you further about this Bureau of ours, and are at your service.

Shall our representative have the pleasure of calling upon you in a day or two? Send us a postal card.

Yours truly,

RECORD AND GUIDE,

(Building News and Information Department.)

P. S. The Record and Guide guarantees the accuracy, the thoroughness and the progressiveness of this service. Neither money nor effort will be spared to make it perfect and advance it beyond any service now known. Don't pay big prices for information. Avail yourself of our advantages.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows. The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, NOVEMBER 30, 1895.

Brooklyn Notes.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

Actual sales have been few and far between, and even these are of such a character as to deserve but little notice. Rumors of big deals are not wanting, as they never are; but one or two come from such reliable sources, that it is almost impossible not to look for something to come from them. It is unnecessary to say that should they materialize they would be immensely appreciated, and go a great way toward keeping things alive.

PARK IMPROVEMENTS.

A much needed improvement to the immediate surroundings of Prospect Park is being made by leveling off what was until a short time ago a very unsightly strip of land, and which went a great ways toward marring the beauty of the landscape which has made the Plaza justly famous. The contrast between this ugly strip and the beautiful park entrance could not but be remarked upon. The Park Department has taken the matter seriously in hand, and as a result the unsightly mounds of earth and refuse are fast disappearing, being used to fill in the depressions of the ground in some places, and before long what has been a pasture for goats will be formed into a pretty little park. The work, when completed, will cost about $50,000. The addition of this park at the gate of the great park may seem a little incongruous; but, as the park is the one thing about which Brooklynites are more proud than any of their other possessions, and as the entrance to Prospect Park was suffering from its contiguity with the waste patch, they probably will not grudge this addition to the city's park system.

ANOTHER ARREARS MUDDLE.

A very interesting correspondence is being carried on between the offices of the State Comptroller, the County Treasurer and the Registrar of Arrears. The latter in looking up the law preparatory to advertising for sale property in arrears in the newly annexed wards, found a very complicated state of affairs; and on looking further into the matter found that the County Treasurer and State Comptroller were about to sell the same property. Hence the correspondence. The bill annexing these wards authorized the old tax officers to levy the taxes for 1894 and the Registrar of Arrears to collect the arrears. This bill, however, made no provision for the collection of arrears due previous to 1894. Therefore they came under the old statute which empowered the State Comptroller to collect them. To complicate matters still more, it is incumbent on the County Treasurer to sell all property for arrears that is owned by non-residents. And as, through some cause or other, the treasurer does not know which is and which is not non-resident real estate, he is preparing to sell it all. To complete the confusion, another provision of law provides that any sale held for arrears wipes out all previous arrears on the property. The property owners' interest in the situation lies in the facts that they will have to pay three bills for advertising, and will be kept on the jump to keep track of their property. Registrar of Arrears Hinrichs is at work preparing a bill with the object of preventing the recurrence of such another muddle, which, under the existing statutes, is likely to occur very frequently and which greatly embarrasses the various officials under whose jurisdiction the sale of property for arrears comes.

BUILDING RECORD FOR NOVEMBER.

The report of plans filed in the Department of Buildings for November, made up to the 27th only, shows a considerable falling off from the corresponding and full month of 1894. This year, however, still makes a great improvement over 1894, notwithstanding the loss in the month just closed. The figures for November and the eleven months are:
